VOLLMER IN FIGHT OVER WARDEN JOB

Richardson Says Berkeley Police Chief Will Succeed Johnson; Prison Board Reports No Action Is Taken

Criminologist on Honeymoon, Has No News of Political Tempest; Friends Predict He Would Not Accept

Chief of Police August Vollmer of Berkeley has been offered the position of warden of San Quentin prison, according to Governor Friend W. Richardsoon.

Chief of Police Vollmer has not been offered the position by the prison board, according to members of the board itself!

This was the situation which existed today following an announcement to the press made by the governor at Modesto, where he stopped in the course of an official trip.

GOVERNOR SAYS "YES" THREE TIMES.

Three times the governor, or his secretary, was asked if the governor had said it, and three times the answer was that he had But just as often, the members of the prison board denied all knowledge of any such action.

Furthermore, although the appointment of Vollmer would automatically oust James A. Johnston, the present warden, Johnston declared that he had neither offered to resign nor been requested to do so.

Moreover, friends of Vollmer, who was out of town on his honeymoon today, said they were certain that if he were offered the job, he would refuse it.

RICHARDSON QUOTES STATE PRISON BOARD.

The prison board, Governor Richardson announced at Modesto today, had formally tendered to Chief Vollmer the position of prison warden at San Quentin. The offer was made in such fashion that all that now remained necessary was Vollmer's acceptance, and he would immediately be appointed, the governor said.

So far, said Governor Richardson, the Berkeley chief had given no indication as to whether he would accept or reject the offer.

The prison board, Governor Richardson said, had not intended to announce the making of the offer at this time, but he saw no reason, he said, why it should be kept secret any longer.

THREE OF FOUR ON BOARD DENY IT.

But three of the four members now on the prison board, when told of the governor's announcement, declared that no such action had been taken by the board.

George A. Van Smith, president of the board, expressed surprise.

"I know nothing of the reported offer of the position of San Quentin warden by the prison board to Chief Vollmer," he said. "He could not be appointed without the consent of the board, and the board has not given its consent so far, to my knowledge."

Van Smith has been confined by illness to his bed in his quarters at the Bohemian Club in San Francisco for three weeks, but he said he thought he would have known of any such action by the prison board if it had been taken.

William F. Morrish of Berkeley, another member of the board, denied that the board had made such an offer to Vollmer, or authorized it.

"We have discussed Vollmer as a possibility at various times, along with a number of other persons, but we have never taken any formal action. This reported announcement by Governor Richardson is all news to me. As a friend of Chief Vollmer's, I have good reason to believe that he would refuse the position if it were offered him, and I would not approve of the board's making an offer which was practically certain to be rejected."

Thomas J. Gannon of Sacramento, also a member of the prison board, was equally positive in his denial that the prison board had offered Chief Vollmer the wardenship.

FOURTH MEMBER AWAY FROM HOME.

Judge John G. Mattos, Jr., of Centerville, the fourth member of the board, wasaway from his home today, and could not be questioned as to the governor's announcement. The other members of the board were agreed, however, that no formal action could have been taken by the board without the knowledge andconsent of at least two of their number.

According to friends of Vollmer, the Berkeley police chief has repeatedly given good reason to believe that he would not accept the position. The salary is $6000 a year. But although Vollmer's salary as chief of the Berkeley department is only $300 a month, he has already refused $15,000 a year to remain in Los Angeles, $10,000 a year to become chief of police of Long Beach, and other high-

I COULDN'T VAMP, WIFE SAYS IN SUIT

Too Busy Doing Housework to Hold Husband, Is Alamedan's Plaint.

"I have been too busy taking care of my home to learn the art of vamping," Mrs. Helen Caughey said today in assigning a reason for the divorce action brought against her husband, James F. Caughey, official of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

"I have had my husband's company only six Sundays and one holiday in the past year and a half," she said, "and the holiday was not Christmas, either. I have been a slave to my home.

"Mr. Caughey has put in two-thirds of our married life sulking. I go for weeks at a time completely ignored. His every thought and consideration seem to be elsewhere.

"The real love nest I was so foolish to cherish has been destroyed. If I had at any time proven ineligible, or could be considered inept, I could have a much different attitude. All I ask is the wife's right to the first consideration, which was denied me."

Mrs. Caughey intimated that the reason for her husband's indifference for her was his devotion to his aged mother.

The couple married December 27, 1922. Mrs. Caughey is the daughter of A. Beale, San Diego financier. Her former husband, I. G. Staley, Denver banker, died in 1914.

Judge J. S. Koford yesterday granted Mrs. Caughey's petition for a restraining order to prevent Caughey from entering the family residence at 1401 Fernside boulevard, Alameda. Mrs. Caughey charged in her complaint that her husband had ordered her from the house, but that the place was community property and that she would have no place to go if she were compelled to leave.

Postal Employee Kills Bandit, Foils Robbery

EAST ORANGE, N. J., July 31.—Quick thinking and steady aim by a postoffice employee prevented a $50,000 mail robbery here today.

One of two bandits who attempted the robbery in the Lackawanna Railway station was shot and killed by Eugene Stack, postal employee during a battle on the station platform.

Stack himself was struck twice by bullets. The second bandit escaped.

Without warning, one of the men drew an automatic pistol and opened fire on Stack and a negro helper. The negro fled, but Stack, although hit in the leg, drew his own revolver and fired six shots at the bandits. One of the men was shot through the chest and killed.

DAVIS BACKS BRYAN UPON DEFENSE DAY

Democratic Nominee, Fearing Silence Would Be Interpreted as Dissent, Hastens to Support Ticket Partner

War Department Gives Out Letter From Nebraska Governor in Which Military Training Camps Approved

By PERCY B. SCOTT
United Press Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 31.—John W. Davis, speaking as standard bearer of the Democratic party, today gave full support to Charles W. Bryan's stand on "mobilization day."

Issuing a formal statement to correct printed intimations that he was in disagreement with his running mate on the question of engaging on a military demonstration, Davis said:

"On the contrary, I think that the view expressed by the governor of Nebraska is entirely sound."

CRITCISM FORCES DAVIS INTO OPEN

Previously Davis associates had indicated he might not embroil himself in what seemed to be an extraneous question growing out of the issue raised by Bryan, when, as executive of his state, he refused to endorse unqualifiedly President Coolidge's program for a civilian mobilization drill. When the Democratic nominee found, however, that his silence was being taken as indicative of his embarrassment at Bryan's stand, he promptly corrected the view.

"Since I returned from the state of Maine," Davis said, "I have taken occasion to inform myself concerning the views expressed by the governor of Nebraska in regard to mobilization day."

"I am surprised at the statement which I see in the press to the effect that I am in disagreement with him or that his action has in any way proven an embarrassment to me.

NEBRASKAN'S POSITION DECLARED SOUND

"On the contrary, I think that the view expressed by the governor of Nebraska to the effect that there is no necessity at this time to encourage civilians to leave their occupations for the purpose of engaging in what would only be a military demonstratoin without any practical educational effect, is entirely sound.

"It is one thing to keep the military organizations of the country on adequate practice; it is quite another to encourage demonstrations—which can be nothing else at a time when every energy should be spent toward getting the world back to peace and to work, calming the prejudices and passions growing out of the world war and encouraging fruitful trade and commerce. In all these America should take the lead."

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Request for further information regarding the government's plans for observance of "Defense Day" was made in a telegram received today by President Coolidge from Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, who recently announced he would not co-operate with the federal authorities in some features of the celebration on the ground that it would amount to a military demonstration.

The message was referred immediately to the war department without being made public.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Without comment, the War Department today made public a letter from Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, praising the work of the Citizens military training camps throughout the country. It was dated March 7, 1924, and said:

"For the last two years I have been interested in the work carried on by the Citizens Military camps. This work is purely voluntary on the part of the young men of the nation and I am pleased to note how near Nebraska came to furnishing her full quotas last year.

"The citizens' military camps represent concretely the thought of patriotism, civic responsibility and individual growth in all that makes for clean, healthy vigorous American manhood.

"Discipline I consider absolutely essential in the youth and in the mature man, and as these training camps call for a discipline that is almost entirely self-imposed, I consider their good effects greater perhaps than any that might be imposed otherwise; it encourages initiative and gives young men confidence in their abilities and it brings together young men from all walks of life; it has a tendency to broaden their views and creates a respect for constituted authority. Add to this the material benefits received from thirty days of rugged camp life with regular hours and pure wholesome food, and I have no hesitancy in endorsing the system and I hope the year of 1924 will register Nebraska with her full quota of young men attending these camps."

Two More Massachusetts Riots Jails 20: Foes Throw Rocks and Clubs.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 31.—Five men are known to have suffered gunshot wounds in two new outbreaks of violence between members of the Ku Klux Klan and anti-klansmen here and at Groveland early today. Numerous other participants in the mob warfare were injured by stones and clubs.

Three of the men shot were found to be so seriously injured that they were operated upon immediately at the Gale hospital.

Members of the state constabulary, sheriffs and deputies and local police are attempting to prevent a further outbreak.

The meeting was said to be the largest klan gathering in the history of the state. About five thousand members assembled on the farm of Clarence Hardy at Groveland. It was not until the klansmen crossed the Merrimac river to Haverhill that serious violence occurred. Three alleged members of the klan opened fire with rifles and revolvers on their hecklers, who retaliated with rocks and clubs. The men suffering from gunshot wounds all claim to be opponents of the hooded order.

Police made about a score of arrests. All taken into custody, they say, are klansmen.

Sixteen shotguns, several revolvers, a large quantity of ammunition, iron bars, lead pipes, blackjacks and clubs were taken from the alleged klansmen when arrested.

According to police, there was an open display of arms by the klansmen as they left the meeting place. Many shots were fired and the air was filled with flying missiles. Countless windshields were broken and other damage inflicted on the automobiles. A squad with brooms marched ahead of the klan cars, sweeping the roadway clear of nails and glass.

The citation brought a heated exchange between Messrs. Crowe and Darrow today, the former maintaining he had not heard such evidence in mitigation of punishment.

"Oh, yes you did," asserted Darrow.

"But the defendant was hanged," said Crowe.

"Yes, but you sentenced him," retorted Darrow.

The courtroom rang with laughter, Leopold and Loeb joining. The demonstration faded quickly under the frown of Judge Caverly.

Youth of Leopold and Loeb Cited as One Mitigating Phase; "We Know Dream World of Child," He Says

By EDWARD C. DERR.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

CRIMINAL COURTROOM, CHICAGO, July 31.—Legal authorities today forecast the escape of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb from the noose for the slaying of Robert Franks. This forecast was based on the tentative ruling of Chief Justice John R. Caverly, which favors the defense contention that its medical testimony is admissible.

The defense took much courage from the statement of Justice Caverly that a few months ago he had a similar case and sentenced the slayer to life in prison. The case was that of Sam Rosen for killing his wife. Rosen had pleaded guilty and begged for hanging. Justice Caverly appointed an alienist to examine him. The report showed Rosen technically sane, but in a bad physical condition.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

CHICAGO, July 31.—The state this afternoon completed its effort to keep out of the court record the opinions of alienists on the mental responsibility of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb.

Thomas Marshall, legal expert for the state's attorney, summed up the results of the argument he had presented to Judge John R. Caverly throughout a day and a half of court session.

The state was maintaining that testimony by alienists could be heard only on the question of insanity which problem it admitted, should be decided only by a jury on a plea of not guilty.

The defense was resting on its contention that a condition of mental disease, short of insanity, was proper for consideration in mitigation of punishment.

DARROW ADMITS HIS CLIENTS LEGALLY SANE.

Clarence S. Darrow, started the answer of the defense after Marshall had summed up in a few sentences.

"I have never seen such enthusiasm for the death penalty as in this case," said Darrow. "If I thought hanging them would stop the crime of murder I would favor it, but I have no such feeling."

"Cases have been cited here seventy-five years old," said Darrow. "They were decided before people knew what the mind was, or, more appropriate, what it was not. These cases were read with no purpose but to pile up law books and anybody can do that."

"There is no question but that in Illinois legal insanity means such mental disease as makes one unable to distinguish or choose between right and wrong," said Darrow. He added that matter was no claim that Leopold and Loeb were "legally insane."

CROWD SNICKERS AT CROWE'S EXPENSE

Darrow raised a snicker in the crowded court room by saying that Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, had acknewledged that Darrow's clients "are even as sane as he is."

"Courts today take account of mental deficiency," he said.

Darrow touched upon youth as a mitigating circumstance, saying: "The reason for this is the state of mind, the lack of discretion and matured judgment that comes only with years. It is recognized in all our laws affecting minors."

Darrow talked rapidly, with flashes of ridicule for the state's case illuminating his argument for the legality of his own stand. His eye glasses, sometimes held before his eye sas he peered at brief notes, were often raised high above his head as he gesticulated.

PROSECUTION ARGUES DAY AND ONE HALF

The state had continued piling up citations until the luncheon recess was reached. Its reading of excerpts from decisions from other states had taken the entire court day yesterday and all of today's forenoon session. Marshall said he would read no more authorities but would submit a list of others for the court's consideration.

Leopold and Loeb sat quietly through the reading and argument. Once, however, they whispered and smiled when Darrow moved into a chair alongside them and handed a newspaper clipping to Leopold. Leopold wrote a note on the margin and laughed as he handed it to Loeb.

They smiled again with Dr. William A. White of Washington, D. C., whose appearance on the stand precipitated the debate, when Marshall read a decision which Future of America Hinges on Reading Done by Rising Generation.

Books, periodicals and newspapers tend to unify a nation in the opinion of E. A. Fridel, vacation pastor of the First Baptist Church, who spoke at the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Lions Club at the Hotel Oakland. "Intelligence" was the subject of Fridell' talk.

"We may work in the commonplace things of life," said the speaker," but we can change our environment through the magic of the printed page. Through that medium we are enabled to live in the experiences of the great men and womn of the past.

"It is not enough merely to go back to this source of inspiration, however. We must pass on to the younger generation an appreciation of the use of the printed page.

"We must develop and change our thinking with an eye on the business of the future. Without vision, an individual as well as a nation will fail.

"It is not the amount of reading we do that counts. It is the intensity with which we apply ourselves to learn the things worth while in what we read. We possess acres of diamonds if we but go to the printed page to garner the wealth that awaits us there. The future of America depends on the man and woman with right kind of a book under their arm."

Lecturer Advocates Legal Birth Control

Legalization of birth control in California was advocated by Mrs. Ann Kennedy of New York, executive secretary of the American Birth Control League, in an address before the luncheon meeting of the County Social Service club this week.

The speaker advocated the establishment of clinics under the administration of the medical profession or the health department, where reliable information regarding birth control could be obtained. Under the present laws, she said, physicians were prohibited from giving their patients information on the subject.

Organization in Oakland of a chapter of the American Birth Control League, to work for the legalization of birth control in California, was urged by the speaker.

California and Massachusetts have the most drastic laws of any states touching on birth control, she said, and only four states have taken steps to legalize the practice.

Little time has been spent singing tributes to the love of a son for his mother.

Someone may attend to that, however, after hearing of the plight of John Lester Butler, 19-year-old Washington boy.

For eighteen years Butler has given the love and devotion of a son to Mr and Mrs. Charles T. Butler, whom he thought were his parents. Now he has discovered that they are not of kin to him.

Although Mrs. Butler has filled the place of a mother to him, young Butler's heart, after nineteen years, cries for the woman who bore him, who answered not when police were trying to find her and restore to her the six-day old John Lester Butler, who was abandoned on a Washington doorstep on March 13, 1905.

The discovery of the foundling was given wide publicity at that time. All efforts to find the mother were without result.

Now, with positive proof from the Board of Children's Guardians that he is not the son of the Butlers, the youth is endeavoring to find his blood mother.

The youth believes his name to be Chester Benton, or Fenton. He has nothing tangible on which to base that assumption.

The person who put him on the doorstep of a boarding house left him in a chip-basket. There was no note pinned to the baby clothes.

The finder of the basket and its baby was Alexis Marceron, who lived in that house. Young Butler has found him as the first step in his search, but Marceron was unable to give him a clew to his parents.

Butler is now employed by a telephone company. He married Doris Palmer, daughter of the superintendent of a Washington department store.

"I know my real mother has not forgotten me," he said. "I am going to search for her the rest of my life."

Male Butterfly Is Booze Hound, Female Shuns It

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO THE TRIBUNE

LONDON, July 31.—Male butterflies like to get drunk while female ones shun liquor and are perfectly content with water as a beverage, is the discovery of the zoologist Sutt, after experiments along these lines. He kept all sorts of butterflies in his wire-screened garden and exposed several bowls, containing either pure water or whisky of different brands. The males invariably took to the liquor bowls and sipped so long that they fell off the brim and rolled on the ground.

The females, however, behaved and without exception shunned the alcohol.

BARGAIN BUYER OF OIL WELL JAILED

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—C. E. Lewis is under arrest on a grand larceny charge today as a result of his alleged skill in purchasing oil well machinery for a hundredth part of its market value.

According to the district attorney's office, Lewis obtained by so-called "public sale" in the tax assessor's office a tax title to oil well equipment used by the petroleum products company in the Santa Fe Springs field, paying $50. He then, it is charged, proceeded to move $10,000 worth of machinery off the property.

His most recent oil well bargain, however, is alleged to have been the purchaser for $110, representing unpaid taxes of oil well equipment in the Whittier district valued at $100,000. He was restrained from moving the machinery and derrick off this property by an order issued in Superior court Tuesday, pending investigation of the "bargain counter" sales.

2 AID RACE CHIEF IN SLANDER SUIT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—Allegations of John D. Stelling, manager of the Pacific Coast Jockey club at Tanforan, in his $100,000 slander suit against J. W. "Marchbank declared to my father, C. T. Boots his horse trainer, and me that he knew that a man named Kyne was collecting $50 apiece from bookmakers and that Stelling was getting the money," said Howard Spreckels.

This statement was corroborated by his father, Rudolph Spreckels, who added:

"This controversy had implied that betting and bookmaking were prevalent at the Tanforan races. That is not true. On one afternoon a group of bookmakers did visit the track, but after several hours they were discovered by Pinkerton detectives and ejected."

Marchbank denies that he made the statements charged in the suit.

"I had every reason to believe that bookmaking was going on at Tanforan, and someone was protecting the bookmakers," he said. "As Stelling was in charge of everything I could not conceive that these things could be carried on without his knowledge. I did not intend to make direct charges. I was merly trying to clear up the situation."

Martinez Man Jailed On Charge of Theft

MARTINEZ, July 31.—Charged with appropriating $60 entrusted to him by Tony Correa for purchase of cattle and applying it on the purchase of an automobile at Pittsburg, Jesse C. Darling was arrested at Red Bluff by Sheriff M. O. Ballard and is being held for local officers, according to information wired to the sheriff's office today. Deputy Sheriff J. W. Smiley will leave Saturday for Red Bluff to return Darling here for trial on a misdemeanor embezzlement charge.

GRAND JURORS TO EXAMINE NOSE OF ROSETTA DUNCAN

Policeman Is Held for County Jury on Beating Accusation.

CHICAGO, July 31.—A grand jury will view the nose Miss Rosetta Duncan, comedienne, says Charles Widlock, Cicero policeman, broke on July 4, when her brother Harold was arrested for a traffic rule violation. Widlock was held to the grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to kill and his bond fixed at $1000 by Magistrate Henry G. Williams in Evanston yesterday afternoon.

Cases against two other Cicero policemen and Chief Svoboda, accused by the actress, were continued to August 20.

Miss Duncan testified she was beaten by the officers when she attempted to "joke" about her brother's arrest. They and their witnesses said she became abusive and kicked, bit and scratched them.

An assistant state's attorney designated Policeman Widlock's fist as "a deadly weapon," maintaining that Miss Duncan weighed only 110 pounds, while the officer tipped the scales at 225, and that the difference in avoirdupois made an attack upon the plaintiff an attempt to kill.

A big audience of court fans which had been forced to adjourn from an Evanston theater rented by the justice for the occasion to another building when the theater management wanted the building for a matinee, greeted the decision with cheers.

"I have forgotten everyone concerned. I have no hard feelings. Everything is forgotten — except legally," Miss Duncan declared.

Max Borchardt, attorney for the policeman, intimated she had been under the influence of liquor at the time of the attack.

"That's not true," she said. "I never had a drink in my life."

Husband Refused to Converse, Wife Says

So indifferent was Harry Kuhl to his wife that he told her he did not care "where she went, what she did nor when she returned," Dora Kuhl charges in a divorce complaint filed today in the Superior Court. Mrs. Kuhl also charges that Kuhl so completely ignored her that he did not speak to her for a month. The wife seeks a division of the community property, including a home at 3008 Brush street. The couple married in 1915 and separated last week.

BOSTON SUICIDE RATE BLAMED ON TOO MUCH BRAIN

Leads U. S., Scientist Says, Because Intellectuals Can't Wait to Die.

BOSTON, July 31.—Boston has too many wrinkles on its brain—

Too much intellectualism, too much imagination, too much culture—that is, too much to accept the sweet with the sour and plug along normally to a natural death.

That's why it leads the country in the recently compiled suicide statistics, made public by Dr. Frederick Hoffmann, nationally known statistician.

Suicide is a disease and Boston has it bad.

More people in the Hub tossed life into the offing and made their exit via the suicide route during 1923 than in any other city in the country.

And if Boston had the lowest cultural standard in the country, instead of the highest, which is generally credited her, she'd have the lowest suicide rate.

These are the conclusions of Dr. A. Warren Stearns, Boston's widely known psychiatrist, who bases his assumption on a collection of facts about suicide that have been incorporated into international journals.

STUDIES ALL TYPES.

Dr. Stearns has studied all types of persons who have attempted suicide in Boston, and the histories of all those who have successfully done it.

With its mental development, says Dr. Stearns, Boston has grown hyper-sensitive. It has become sophisticated and has reached the unwholesome conclusion that life isn't worth the candle.

The churches have fallen down on the job, in a general sense, says Dr. Stearns. He continues:

"A hundred years ago sermons that thundered the moral guilt of suicide went forth from the Protestant pulpits; now many clergymen secretly condone the act.

"Public health measures framed to reduce this cause of death must either restore the public opinion that acted as a check on suicide, or find a substitute.

"Since 1850 there has been a steadily upward tendency to suicide in Boston. In those days, when people had less of the comforts of life, were more used to hardships and disappointments—in short, were more rugged — there were only 4.9 suicides for every hundred thousand population in the State.

"But suicide appears to be a disease of civilization. With the higher development of mental faculties and imagination, more luxuries, more ambitions, keener competition and keener disappointment, with an incidental loss of physical vigor—the direct result is more suicides.

"In the south, where mental development does not average high, the suicide rate is the lowest in the country.

CAUSES OF SUICIDE.

"People commit suicide because they are unhappy.

"Unhappily married people commit suicide oftener than the happily married. This is so in spite of the steady rise in divorces which has accompanied the suicide rate.

"Old age and ill-health are predisposing factors. Old age frequently decreases the joy of living and is often accompanied by ill health or poverty or both. Loneliness helps suicide along.

"Unemployment frequently is a contributing factor, but there is no co-relation between suicide and unemployment.

"Money in the bank doesn't mean that you won't commit suicide. Bank deposits have risen with the suicide rate.

"Perfectly normal people commit suicide when husband and wife or someone to whom they are very devoted dies.

"Alcohol and drugs, creating special effects on the brain are also responsible for suicidal attempts.

"The relaxed attitude toward suicide still remains one of the big factors. We shall have to develop a respect for the privilege of life, and a little more gameness for our present aestheticism, before we can eliminate suicide."

Bathing Beauty Queens

"CHICKIE" SANDERSON (left) and DOLLY DeMUTH were selected the most beautiful of Boston's bathers. These two New England lasses the judge found were so nearly equal in pulchritude that the argument isn't over yet.—P. & A. photo.

San Benito Peaches Ready for Canners

SAN JUAN BAUTISTA, July 31.—The peach crop of San Benito county is just about ready for the canners and packers, and in this district the growers state that corporation buyers have offered a price of $50 a ton, a big increase on last year, with a normal, fair sized crop on the trees. Outside of a normal pack of about 20 per cent of the total crop by local canneries, the balance has been bought up by an outside packer. The last of the apricot crop is coming in this week, with a hot spell prevailing, and next week the warehouses start accepting the dried 'cots for storage.

Two San Joseans Held for Fighting

SAN JOSE, July 31.—J. L. Ahrands, lineman, and J. Casey, truck driver, were having a hot fistic encounter on a local street yesterday when City Traffic Officer Ed Stough chanced to pass on his motorcycle. The officer dismounted, stopped the fight and hustled both men to the city prison, where they were booked on charge of fighting in the public streets. Both were released on cash bail of $25 pending appearance before Police Judge Percy O'Connor.

CARDIFF. — Members of the Sweeting family from America, Australia and Wales held a reunion at their Llanelly home for the first time since 1879.

'ARMY OFFICER'S' WIFE DIVORCED

MARTINEZ, July 31.—Relating how she was fooled by a dapper young man who represented himself as an army officer, promised her a fine home and beautiful clothes, Norma Romeo, 19-year-old Pittsburg girl, today won from Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado annulment of her marriage, solemnized in Salinas in 1921, just after she had passed her sixteenth year.

Investigation disclosed, it was revealed in court, that the man had given a fictitious name and had never been an army officer. The girl also gave a fictitious name and age in securing the marriage license.

"Harry Stephans," according to the girl's story, met her while she was clerking in a San Francisco department store. His representations of life as the wife of an army officer, long trips over the country, and fine clothes proved a temptation to the unsophisticated girl and when Stephans proposed marriage she accepted.

Following the marriage at Salinas the couple returned to San Francisco. After two days Stephans disappeared and the girl came to a realization of her position. When Judge Alvarado heard her story today he granted a decree annulling the marriage and permitted her to resume her maiden name.

He was booked on suspicion of firing the shot that seriously wounded Albert Moore, member of the Monterey posse.

U. C. Savant Warns Teachers Against Fads in the Schools

BERKELEY, July 30.—Sensationalism has taken the place of the basic principles of education, according to Professor F. T Blanchard of the University of California, and fads and novelties have crowded solid subjects from school programs.

"Our schools have been turned into pedagogical experiment stations," he said today, 'and many of the non-essential subjects which have been introduced should be weeded out New ideas must be tried out, of course, but they should be proved in the universities before they are placed on the program for elementary and secondary schools

The Song of the Swan (Il Canto del Cigno) (Picchianti-Saint Saëns) In Italian	Beniamino Gigli	1025	$1.50
Paquita (Spanish Serenade) (Buzzi-Peccia) In Italian	Beniamino Gigli

Saint-Saëns' mysteriously beautiful "The Song of the Swan" arranged as a tenor song, and a brilliant "Spanish Serenade." Both are sung in glorious and impassioned style, and the record is one of superb beauty.

Scherzo (Tschaikowsky) Violin Solo	Jascha Heifetz	1024	1.50
Vivace (from Quartet in D Major, No. 35) (Haydn-Auer) Violin Solo	Jascha Heifetz

A record of quite extraordinary interest by this wizard of the violin, a display number by a modern and one by a classical composer. You will find comparisons fascinating; and at the same time you will appreciate how perfectly Victor Records parallel the artist's interpretations.

Bird of Love Divine (Birch-Wood)	Hulda Lashanska	1023	1.50
Love Came Calling (Bainbridge-Zamecnik)	Hulda Lashanska

For young or old, the love-songs of the world never lose their peculiar magic; and that song is rare which does not waken some human heart into response. These are two beautiful love-songs, and they are sung by a lyric soprano voice of exquisite quality. A record you will be glad to own.

Vocal Selections

Honey Chile (Lyman-Huerter)	Lucy Isabelle Marsh	45421	1.00
Hush-a-Bye Bay (Sherwood Arthur)	Lucy Isabelle Marsh

Motherhood speaks and thrills in every note of these two tender little lullabies; sung in a fashion to call back memories of the joys of childhood. Splendid additions for every library of Victor Records.

Ida! Sweet as Apple Cider	Frank Crumit	19365	.75
Roll Them Roly Boly Eyes	Frank Crumit

Frank Crumit and the ukulele, with Phil Ohman at the piano, in two familiar Eddie Leonard songs of half-comic, half-sentimental, darky type. There's variety as well as quality in the recordings provided by the Victor.

Melodious Instrumental

Out of the Dusk to You	Victor String Orchestra	19364	.75
Eleanor	Victor String Orchestra

Masterly settings, for the string orchestra, of popular sentimental compositions—both by women composers. Played with intense emotional power; genuine things of beauty—these records truly make them a joy forever.

Dance Records

Blackin' Blues—Fox Trot	Waring's Pennsylvanians	19369	.75
Ukulele Blues—Fox Trot	International Novelty Orchestra

"Blackin' Blues" is about the weirdest thing yet, with its odd "shiver" effects from groups of saxophones and melodies from other instruments that sound about half-human. "Ukulele Blues" is also humorous. An unusual record that is particularly inviting to dance enthusiasts.

Two Blue Eyes—Fox Trot	Jan Garber and His Orchestra	19374	.75
Sally Lou—Fox Trot	George Olsen and His Music

It would be hard to find two records with less seriousness in them—except so far as keeping good time and rhythm are concerned. Both have new features, and both demonstrate the perfection reached in Victor recording.

PRISONER LOSES WIFE WHEN FREED BY RADIOED SONG

"Pal o' Mine" Moves Stranger to Aid Him; Wife Asks Divorce.

By D. W. BROOKE.
Special Correspondent of The Oakland TRIBUNE

PHILADELPHIA, July 31—Because of the strains of "Oh how I miss you, dear old pal of mine heard on the radio, Russell S Matz, a prisoner in the Eastern state penitentiary, is free today. But though free, Matz still can sing with feeling of how he misses his dear old pal.

Matz' young wife Evelyn, it was disclosed today, has just obtained a favorable recommendation in a master's report on her suit for divorce. She sued on the technical ground of her husband's imprisonment for felony.

Mrs. Matz knows all about Matz' golden voice. She knew all about it before Matz sang his way to freedom with it. But she is determined to "go it alone" from now on just the same.

"It's a bit hard to believe that all this good luck has come to Russell," said the young woman, whose home is in Allentown. "But I am glad he is free. I wish him luck and hope he will make good—but I don't want to see him again."

One night convict number C-915 as Matz then was known, was permitted to sing "Dear Old Pal of Mine" over the WIP station broadcasting circuit.

One listener was so impressed that he visited the penitentiary and met Matz, hired counsel and started a movement for the singer's release.

The board of pardons granted the application. One of his first acts was to write his wife and ask that she take him back. She declined.

Matz is making good in the world outside again, but not as might be supposed. The golden voice is silenced and Matz is starting out anew with an automobile concern.

Great Distress Caused by Gas

Spells of choking and gasping often result from gas in the stomach pressing against the heart and interfering with the action of that organ. Such an attack may be accompanied by extreme nervousness, anxiety, sharp pains about the heart, palpitation, dizziness, nausea or other ill effects.

Prompt relief from all discomfort due to gas can usually be obtained by taking Eopa Gas Tablets before and after meals. These pleasant little tablets aid digestion and are wonderfully soothing to a nervous, upset stomach. Absolutely free from harmful drugs.

Many good doctors endorse Eopa Gas Tablets as a safe and most effective treatment for the relief or prevention of gas. Originated by an eminent Homeopathic physician and used with great success for years. Price $1. Ask for "Eopa," the only genuine Gas Tablets. For sale by the Owl and other druggists. COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from inflammation. My back was all done up. I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken 12 bottles of Lydia E.Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it."—Mrs. D. M. BEAUCHAMP, 1104 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

MUKDEN'S RULER WILL NOT ABIDE BY SINO-RUSS PACT

Peking Told That He Will Carry on Independent Negotiations With Soviets.

By WILLIAM R. GILES,
Special cable to The Oakland TRIBUNE and the Chicago Daily News.

TOKYO, July 31. — Mukden's war lord, Chang Tso-lin, has further asserted his independence. He threw a spanner into the cog wheel of the Sino-Russ treaty negotiations when he refused the request of President Tsao Kun's delegate to abide by the Sino-Russ treaty signed by the Peking government.

Chang Tso-lin made the statement that he would carry on negotiations independently on account of the necessity of two-thirds of the questions being settled by formal negotiations with Manchuria. He informed the delegate from Peking that he has called a conference of representatives of the Manchurian people who will have a dominating voice in settlement of the negotiations.

The Soviet government is sending a delegate to Manchuria, to the further consternation of the Peking government, whose negotiations it has upheld.

The correspondent is reliably informed that Japan shortly will recognize the Soviet government for the purpose of improving import and export trade, which is at the lowest point in years, and also for preventing the Chinese from securing undue advantage in coming to a formal agreement first.

The flood conditions have not improved, and 700 villages are now wiped out in northern Chihli.

Grid Star Rides Bike to Cure Knee

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

ATHENS, Ga., July 31.—George Morton, gridiron star, of the University of Georgia, has attracted wide interest among football coaches by his unique method of "healing" an injured knee.

Morton does it with a bicycle. Just as his squad was looking forward to him as the outstanding star of next year, George was thrown from a horse here and suffered an injured knee. Physicians expressed doubt if he would recover sufficiently to allow him to play football this fall.

So George bought himself a bicycle and has been "exercising 'er" with it for several weeks. The results, he said, are remarkable. The injured knee is healing fast, and there is little doubt now as to his ability to play on the squad this fall.

"For a knee-builder, get a 'bicycle," he said.

League Would Bar Animals From Movies

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—War has been declared here on the use of animals, trained or untrained, in motion pictures.

Mrs. Rosamond Rae Wright, vice-president of the American Animal Defense League, is here making plans for the passage of laws forbidding use of animals in pictures.

According to Mrs. Wright, many animals are abused when employed in movie scenes.

Recently, she said, a bulldog was coated with honey, and then thousands of bees were thrown on its back. They stung the dog in a thousand spots, Mrs. Wright asserts.

Motion picture directors deny the charges of Mrs. Wright and her associates.

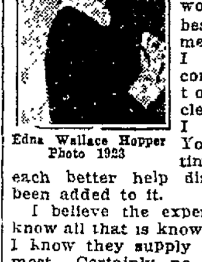

The Perry helicopter, during a recent flight, lifted 3500 pounds of dead weight directly off the ground, straight up into the air.

A Plea to Men

Please keep your hair
By Edna Wallace Hopper

You men admire luxuriant hair, thick and lustrous, healthy, clean. And so do we, dear sirs. Then, why will you, through sheer neglect, let your hair disappear.

My hair is finer than forty years ago. It grows thicker every year. I have never known falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. Just because I searched the world for the best hair helps men know. And I had them combined in a tonic and cleanser which I call Hair Youth. From time to time each better help discovered has been added to it.

I believe the experts I consult know all that is known about hair. I know they supply me their utmost. Certainly no factors ever discovered have brought finer hair than mine.

Now I offer you, as I offer women, this supreme help for the hair. It is concentrated. You apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it combats the hardened oil and dandruff which so stifle the hair roots. It tones and stimulates. Then hair thrives, just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

I know that here I place at your command the greatest hair help in existence. Not some fallacious theory, not some ordinary tonic, but the best that science has discovered, so far as I can find.

All druggists and toilet counters supply my Hair Youth under guarantee. The first package brings you help you seek, or I will pay the cost. The cost is 50 cents and $1 with eyedropper. Let me urge you to try it. We women—all of us—love to see heavy, healthy hair. And I have found the way.

I will send you a bottle to try without cost if you mail the coupon to me.

Kidnaper Freed by Mother of Victim

CLEVELAND, O., July 31.—Cleveland police today requested Buffalo, N. Y., authorities to release Mrs. Phoebe Woods, 50-year-old widow of Cleveland, arrested there last night for the kidnaping of Dorothy May Blanchard, aged 5.

The release was ordered after Dorothy's mother, Mrs. Margaret Blanchard, said she would not prosecute the kidnaping charge against Mrs. Woods.

Whiten Skin With Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Advertisement.

SPEED OF LIGHT IS RE-CHECKED ON MT. WILSON

CHICAGO, July 31.—Re-determination of the velocity of light is being made by Professor Albert A. Michaelson of the University of Chicago. The actual measurements are being made at Mount Wilson observatory because of the clearness of the California air.

Although light travels 186,000 miles a second, and the measurements are being taken over a distance of 20 miles and back, Professor Michaelson plans to obtain the measurement to an accuracy of one part in three hundred thousand.

ALLEGED THIEF TAKEN IN CHASE

Following an alleged attempt to rob the till of the San Francisco-Sacramento railroad, Joseph Benton of Phoenix, Ariz., was captured by Kenneth Sutherland, a towerman of the railroad, after an exciting chase.

Police reports say that Benton was discovered in an attempt at robbery by George Whybark, station agent of the railroad at Fortieth and Shafter avenue, who was in an adjoining room checking baggage. Whybark happened to return to the room in which the till was kept just as benton was leaving, with the loot clutched in his hand, it is charged. He raised an alarm and gave chase.

Sutherland, who was on duty in the tower, heard the cry and saw Benton making for a back yard. He descended from his lofty perch and went after the fleeing man.

Benton was taken to the Northern police station and $130 was found in his pockets, together with tickets to fights in Oakland, according to the police.

Grant School Fire Causes Loss of $100

A fire which started in the shower room of the old Grant school, a two-story wooden building in the rear f the new school, located at Twenty-ninth and Broadway, did damage last night amounting to $100. According to F. J. Sandy, battalion fire chief and head of the fire prevention and arson bureau, the fire is not believed to have been of incendiary origin. People were in the school yesterday making an investigation of the building and it is possible, according to Sandy, that one of them may have dropped a lighted match or cigarette. There were no traces of incendiary material.

District Attorney's Woman Aide Robbed

Mrs. Sarah Bealer of Wilmar, Calif., an operator out of the district attorney's office in Los Angeles, was robbed of $35 by two unidentified men who had asked her for a life in her auto, according to a report made by her to the police. She said that the two men hailed her at Dublin yesterday while she was on her way to Oakland.

She brought them to this city in her machine and let them out of the car at Eighth and Broadway. They walked into a hotel and immediately afterward Mrs. Bealer missed her purse. When the police searched the hotel they found that the men had not registered, but had walked in one door and out another.

Work of Health Center Outlined

Dr. Alvin W. Powell, director of Alameda county public health center, presented an outline of the work of the center at the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Loyal Knights of the Round Table at the Hotel Oakland. Powell, who was principal speaker at the meeting, touched upon the origin of the health center idea.

"It originated," he said, "when attendance at schools was made compulsory. When children are compelled to go to schaal they have a right to be protected while they are in school."

He said that a close cooperation between the health center and the social service board grew out of the fact that some children cannot afford the medical attention necessary to their well being.

Oakland Educational Methods Win Praise

The Oakland method of placing backward and handicapped children in special classes where they receive individual attention stands almost alone in the educational field as a practical attempt to solve the proble mof education of such children, according to Thomas H. Haines, director of the national committee on mental hygiene in a recent bulletin, issued from Washington, D. C.

The authority terms the Oakland method "the best in the field," and urges educators throughout the country to acquaint themselves with its results.

A. F. OF L. MEETS TO TELL 3,000,000 FOR WHOM TO VOTE

Gompers Says Support Will Be Personal, Not Partisan, in Campaign.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 31.—With 3,000,000 worker voters looking to it for guidance, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor arrived today to determine what way it will try to throw the organization's national strength in the November elections.

The various groups on the council board have given indications that the candidacy of Senator La Follette will be encouraged. Sessions open tomorrow.

GOMPERS EXPLAINS

"Only one thing can be sure as to the political policy of the American Federation of Labor in the coming campaign, its president, Samuel Gompers, declared, "and that is that we shall commit ourselves to no political party as partisans." He added:

"Neither I nor any other person can say what will be the result of the deliberations of our executive council until those deliberations have matured."

While the statement did not touch upon the efforts to procure the indorsement of the federation for Senators La Follette and Wheeler, the presidential and vice-presidential candidates, respectively, of the third ticket organization. Mr. Gompers agreed that particular interest attached to the session. The federation would proceed to "consider men and platforms on the basis of their service, past and promised, to the wage-earners and the great mass of people of our country," he said, and promised a vigorous campaign before the electorate for the candidates found suitable.

NON-PARTISAN BOOM

"Our great movement is firmly convinced as a result of long practice that the one hope of the wage-earners on the political field lies in being partisan to principles and not to political organizations."

Gompers said in the last campaign "we supported candidates representing four political parties. As a result of that support, and as a result of the support which the friends of labor were able to give, there were elected to the last house of representatives 170 progressive members, the great majority of whom have since justified the faith reposed in them by service rendered. That was a triumphant vindication of the tremendous advantage of non-partisan activity, adding its great weight to the long chain of evidence as to the value of the policy which the American Federation of Labor has for so many years pursued.

"I think I can say with perfect propriety that we shall endeavor to demonstrate in this campaign that political organizations and politicians generally, individually, as well as in groups, cannot with impunity defy the great labor movement of our country or refuse adequate and intelligent consideration of the just requirements of the great masses of the people."

Alameda Exhibit at State Fair Under Way

The Alameda County Development Association was instructed today by the board of supervisors to place the county's exhibit at the state fair in Sacramento. The cost of this work is estimated at $500. It will be paid out of an appropriation of $750 made by the board several weeks ago.

The board meeting today was featured by a continuation of the discussion of the installation of the new vault in the Hall of Records to house securities held by the county treasurer.

Judge Acquitted of Reckless Driving

BERKELEY, July 31.—The case of reckless driving against L. F. Grover, justice of the peace of the town of San Pablo, was dismissed today by Police Judge Robert Edgar on lack of sufficient evidence.

Judge Grover was arrested last June on compaint of Frank Almieda, whose automobile struck Grover's car. Grover told Judge Edgar that he was an experienced driver and that Almeida turned suddenly, and the cars came together.

News of Politicians

"Apparently former County Treasurer M. J. Kelly is objecting to the manner in which I am conducting my campaign. His friends are asking that we 'lay off Mike.' They say that he does not want to become publicly identified with my opponent's campaign. Of course he does not want to become publicly identified with this campaign. 'Mike' Kelly is the political boss of this county, and experienced political bosses want to keep in the background. My opponent wants him kept in the background, but takes his orders."

This was the statement of Commissioner Albert E. Carter yesterday at a meeting of the Eastbay Improvement club on the subject, "Why Political Bosses Hamper a Community's Growth." Continuing Carter declared:

"Political machines and political 'bosses' depend entirely upon patronage. The more jobs they create for their followers the stronger their machine becomes. Therefore, when you place a political 'boss' in control you place in power a man who is looking for the opportunity to strengthen his position through the creation of new jobs rather than a man who gives the development of the community in which he lives first consideration.

"This campaign is bringing to the attention of the public the truth of this statement, and is the reason why Mr. Kelly is one of the big issues in this campaign. Seven years ago Oakland was transacting more waterfront traffic than Los Angeles. Then the oil industry began to develop and the Los Angeles congressman, uncontrolled by a political boss and having the interests of their community first, set to work and secured an appropriation of $3,500,000 for the construction of a breakwater, which made the Los Angeles harbor possible. Altogether these congressmen have secured $8,000,000 from the federal government for the development of the Los Angeles harbor within seven years. The result has been that the oil business has been accommodated.

"If our recent representative in congress had given our community development the same consideration that he has given to the building of 'Mike' Kelly's political machine, we, too, would have a harbor business equal to that of Los Angeles, and our taxes would now be in proportion to a community of this size."

Commissioner Albert E. Carter will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Fletcher Taylor at a dinner party and "community meeting" this evening at the Taylor home, 1258 Sunnyhill road. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Norris of Livermore, Mr. and Mrs. K. Romaine and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene K. Sturges will assist in receiving.

RICHMOND, July 31.—Albert E. Carter, commissioner of public works of Oakland, will speak on harbor development and Eastbay progress at the Richmond Chamber of Commerce forum luncheon to be held August 18, Guy W. Wolf, secretary of the chamber, announced today.

Carter, who has had direct charge of the Oakland harbor for the past two years, will sketch the importance of Eastbay cities as shopping centers, and will also outline a plan for joint development of harbor facilities of the entire Eastbay section.

Aaron Turner yesterday announced his candidacy for the assembly in the Thirty-first district. In a statement Turner comes out against the economy program of Governor Richardson. He is backed by the Johnson organization.

"I believe in the adequate support of the established educational institutions of the state," he declared. "I am opposed to the crippling of any of our schools. I am opposed to removing from the state board of education, the state board of health, and other important commissions, the security of tenure and independence of action which comes from having a fixed time of office. I am opposed to abolishing this fixed term or in any way making these positions the spoils of politicians.

"I am opposed to the exploitation of children in shop and factory. They are the State's most priceless asset. If elected I shall most certainly vote for the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States which will give Congress the power to prevent the exploitation of children in industry."

Congressman MacLafferty has reported a new achievement. The old steps of the postoffice are to be removed. This important word was wired from Washington yesterday, causing a stir in the postoffice and up and down the street. It was regarded as second only to the removal of the tumbledown shacks in the rear of the imposing postoffice building, which was another achievement. Here is the statement from headquarters:

"The steps of the postoffice which have long blocked the sidewalk on Seventeenth street are to be removed at once, according to announcement from the office of Congressman James H. MacLafferty. The Congressman, who was instrumental in causing the postoffice department to remove the steps, received a telegram from his Washington headquarters saying that the contract had been awarded to the Oakland firm of Bassett and Hilp for $2748. Work of removing the steps to leave the Seventeenth street sidewalk clear will be undertaken at once. Removal of the steps marks the end of a long fight."

Tonight he will talk before the Railway Mail Service Men's association at an Oakland restaurant on invitation of Will O'Brien. At this meeting MacLafferty is to be the guest of honor and will discuss among other things, the steps that are being taken toward securing wage increase for all mail employes. He will also speak tonight at the Bayview Improvement club.

Supervisor John F. Mullins, senior member of the board of supervisors, and candidate for reelection, in the Fifth District, was the speaker of the evening at the annual get-together meeting of the Bay View Improvement club at Thirty-second and Peralta streets last night. Mullins discussed the standardization of the county government, the high state of efficiency maintained in the hospitals, accounting and other departments, predicting a substantial reduction in thins year's tax rate. Mullins showed the results obtained in tuberculosis [illegible] the Arroyo Sanitarium and Del Valle farm, which has been assigned to the children. During the afternoon Supervisor Mullins addressed house meetings in the Rockridge and Claremont districts, and one earlier in the evening in Golden Gate. Many invitations to speak at house meetings are being received at Good Government quarters in the Bank of Italy building which organization is directing Supervisor Mullins' campaign for reelection.

Opening of Streets In Alameda Urged

ALAMEDA, July 31.—The city's planning commission, headed by Lochiel M. King, has joined civic organizations in demanding that the city open streets in western Alameda and is preparing a resolution to the city council asking that such work be started immediately. Decision to take this action was reached at a meeting of the planning commission held last night.

The commission will ask that vegetable growers occupying land designed for the extension of Haight, Taylor, Lincoln and Santa Clara avenues in the western part of the city be ordered to abandon these lands by January 1, 1925. The commission will also recommend to the city that the extension of all possible streets be affected as soon as possible.

At the last meeting of the city council a joint committee from the Chamber of Commerce, the Alameda Real Estate Board, the Alameda Iproveent club and other civic omrganizations asked that the council take such action.

Illinois Wants State Ticket to Help La Follette

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

CHICAGO, July 31.—The vexing question of State tickets, representing the whole problem of what satellites may be permitted to revolve about the La Follette-Wheeler candidacy, will be threshed out for the entire country at a special meeting of the Illinois conference for progressive political action here next Monday.

Herman L. Ekern, attorney-general of Wisconsin and director of finance for the La Follette campaign, arrived today from Washington with the latest statement from Senators La Follette and Wheeler. He let it be known that he will communicate the view of the two Senators to the meeting here Monday, in the hope that the question may be settled for the entire campaign.

Several States, notably Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska and Montana, are involved in the decision, for word has come from these States to National headquarters that important groups supporting the National ticket are seeking to bring out State, senatorial and congressional candidates in the general election under the La Follete banner.

The attempt everywhere has been discouraged by the National leaders, many of whom take the view that every effort in the present campaign should be centered upon the building up of an impressive popular vote for the National ticket. So insistent has become the plea for State tickets in some quarters, however, that the whole question had been reopened.

Arrest Is Charged As Act of Cruelty

Charges which caused his arrest for non-support of his minor children were false and acts of cruelty, Manuel Faria declares in a suit for divorce filed in the superior court today against Mrs. Maria Faria.

The plaintiff declares that the charges were preferred by his wife who knew that they were not true. He says that he was caused great humiliation by his arrest and the court hearing following, at which he was discharged from custody.

WISCONSIN G. O. P. BANS COOLIDGE'S NAME ON BALLOT

Vote for Ticket There Will Be Counted for His Opponents.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—With Senator La Follette and his followers in control of the Republican organization in Wisconsin, Republican campaign managers are checking means of putting the names of Coolidge and Dawes on the ballots for the November election in that state.

Republican managers have been advised that the La Follette electors will appear under the Republican emblem on the Wisconsin ballots, and that a vote for the Republican ticket in that state in November will be a vote for Senators La Follette and Wheeler.

Some Republican managers were not disposed to enter the Republican nominees under an independent heading, feeling that Senator La Follette might just as well be conceded his home state.

BUTLER STUDIES

William J. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, discussed this question with Wisconsin leaders during his stay in Chicago, and, according to reports received in Washington, has decided to permit the "regular Republicans" of the state to determine what move shall be made.

Having discussed the Michigan political situation and received what was described as "most encouraging news" as to Republican prospects there at a conference yesterday with Governor Grossbeck of that state, President Coolidge today drove forward with work on his notification speech with few interruptions of a political nature in prospect.

MICHIGAN PLEDGED

"The people of this country will not stand for the coming election being thrown into congress," Governor Grossbeck said. "They will not spend the time, money and energy usually required in a national campaign, and then see the election go to congress and finally have the senate select some one for president they would never have voted for under any circumstances for that high office.

"There is no necessity for any great campaign in Michigan. The thing was set when Coolidge received his great vote in the spring primaries. There is no enthusiasm among the Democrats for John W. Davis, not because of any weakness on the part of Davis, but the Democratic voters of Michigan did not think the New York convention was representative of he best in the party and had no confidence in the way it was managed, in the way it attempted to solve its problems, or in the way it finally made its selection of candidates."

Senator La Follette as the independent candidate for president would poll some votes but not develop any considerable strength in Michigan, the governor said, adding that he had found a disposition among voters in my state to discount the third party matter, realizing that no third party candidate can be elected.

Georgia Bill Aims To Deny Fund to Darwin Schools

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO THE TRIBUNUE

ATLANTA, Ga., July 31.—The Georgia House of Representatives had today before it a favorable report from its committee on education on a bill to withdraw all state funds from any school or other institution at which the Darwin theory or any other similar theory of evolution is taught. The bill is a copy of the Kentucky law.

Representative Pope styled the theory of evolution as "rotten stuff." Representative McClory, speaking before the committee, said if he were descended from a monkey he was ashamed of it, but didn't think he was. He said he believed God created man and monkeys entirely separate and he didn't believe "they had ever mixed and hoped they never would."

Representative Covington said "the only thing wrong with those two Chicago youths, Loeb and Leopold, is that they went to schools and colleges where they were taught pagan philosophy. If those old alienists told the truth they would tell that too." He said he didn't believe a wagon load of mud could be left in the road and "by its own inherent evolutionary powers" become something" all dressed up and running for the legislature."

"Do you think it would have to evolute far to do that?" asked Chairman Elders. Covington did not reply.

ALAMEDA PLANS TO RECLAIM 650 TIDELAND ACRES

Project to Be Submitted to Council Includes Rip-Wall and Artificial Lake.

ALAMEDA, July 31. — The proposal to reclaim 650 acres of tidelands on Alameda's south shore received its first official impetus last night with a preliminary discussion of the $3,125,000 project by members of the city planning commission. C. E. Hickok, city manager and who, with Burnett Hamilton, city engineer, developed plans for the project, said today that the planning commission, at a meeting to be held early in August, will complete investigations of the proposal, and make recommendations to the city council.

Hickok's plan calls for the construction of a rip-wall half a mile from the present shore and extending from the western limits of the city to Bay Farm Island bridge, a distance of four miles. The plan also provides for the dredging of a channel along the rip-wall 500 feet wide and 30 feet deep, which would provide facilities for shipping, the construction of a boulevard 100 feet wide along the rip-wall and the construction of bathing beaches. Land dredged to make the channel would be used to fill the lowlands inclosed by the rip-wall. In order to prevent damage to existing beach resorts Hickok's plan calls for the construction of an artificial lake covering 70 acres and surrounded by a park.

The project would provide 2433 lots each 50x125 feet, and would provide living accommodations for an additional population of 12,000. Hickok points out that the development could be effected at a cost of $20 a front foot. The property affected is owned by 51 individuals.

Hickok's plans for reclaiming the proposed naval base site as an industrial area will also be considered by the city planning commission.

Sued for $15,500 In Real Estate Deal

Suit for $15,500 was filed today against Dr. J. J. Moyer by Samuel Klegman, Hayward merchant, the action growing out of a real estate transaction involving property at Twelfth and Jefferson streets, in the Sanford tract and in the Chowchilla district of Madera.

According to the complaint the defendant agreed to deed to the plaintiff certain properties and notes and the defendant was to deed other properties to the plaintiff in exchange.

The plaintiff claims that he has complied with the terms of the contract and that the property he deeded is worth $26,000 while the property that was to have been deeded by the defendant to him was worth $41,500. He asks for the difference in damages.

Cruelty Charged by Wife in Divorce Suit

Suit to set aside a property agreement and for a decree of divorce was filed today by Mabel I Fundas against George N. Fundas, proprietor of an Idora Park concession. Cruelty is made the basis of the divorce complaint.

Mrs. Fundas charges that her husband's income is $750 a month and asks $150 temporary alimony monthly, $500 attorney's fees and $80 court costs.

The community property, of which Mrs. Fundas asks a share, includes the park concession, money, stocks and bonds to a value of over $50,000, a home and furnishings at Thirty-fourth street and Broadway and another house at 608 Fifty-sixth street.

The action of the clerks is in line with that taken by several other railway brotherhoods, which urged its members to support the two independent candidates.

Calcutt recently suggested the establishment of such a park to members of the council, and Hickok was ordered to investigate the proposal, draw up plans for the establishment of the park and present them to the city council. COST OF CRIME TEN BILLION YEAR, DECLARES HUNTER

School Superintendent Gives Figures to Back Program Against Illiteracy.

The annual cost of crime to the United States is ten billion dollars, alcording to Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter, who spoke at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Exchange Club at Hotel Oakland. The expense of crime is greater to the government than the combined lost of schools and churches, he declared.

The program against illiteracy launcaed by the National Educational Association in co-operation with the principal women's clubs and labor bodies, was touched upon by Hunter. In this connection he said:

"This program proposed to distribute assistance to the several stacts of the union in accordance with their respective needs as determined by the census and by surveys by the national government. No money will be appropriated to any state unless the state itself appropriates an equal among for the same purpose.

"The complete Americanization of our foreign-born, and a more complete training of our youth for citizenship cannot be doubted, neither can it be successfully disputed that America is abundantly able to afford such a system as will accomplish these objectives."

MINISTER GIVES FACTS IN CASE TO THE PUBLIC

Feels It Duty to Acquaint Others With the Facts About Karnak, Declares Dr. Bowden.

Characteristic of his life-long efforts to help his fellowman, Rev. E. R. Bowden of 106 Preston avenue, Houston, minister of the gospel for the past forty-five years and one of the most universally esteemed churchmen in Texas, comes forward with his unqualified endorsement of Karnak.

"Karnak has been so remarkable in my case," says Dr. Bowden, "that I feel it a duty as well as a public service to make others acquainted with this new medicine. Two years ago my digestive system seemed to go all to pieces and my nerves and general health soon became a wreck. Nothing seemed to help me, and the past three months I was practically confined to my room.

"But Karnak now has me feeling like my old self again. My digestion and nerves seem perfect, and I am in first-class health in every way.

Dr. Bowden's statement, coming as it does from a minister of the gospel, bespeaks the singular purity of Karnak and is typical of the remarkable results it is accomplishing everywhere.

Rev. E.R.Bowden

Karnak is sold in Oakland and Berkeley exclusively by the Owl Drug Co.—Advertisement

Eastbay Stage and Screen

Belle Bennett to Marry L. A. Film Director

Movie Actress to Wed Fred C. Windemere When Father Recovers From Illness.

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—Belle Bennett, stage and screen star, will be married to Fred C. Windemere, film director, within the next few days.

Miss Bennett said that plans for the wedding had been delayed owing to the illness of her father, William Bennet, also an actor.

"I intend to marry Mr. Windemere as soon as my father is able to attend the wedding," the blonde star said today. All legal obstruction to the marriage, raised some time ago in San Francisco when Jack Geller, also known as John Oaker, a picture actor, announced he was Miss Bennett's husband, has been removed after investigation by the authorities, it was said.

After the star had announced her engagement to Windemere, Geller said the marriage could not take place, as he was already Miss Bennett's husband. The Geller marriage never was performed, investigation showed, and probing by at San Francisco disclosed Miss Bennett was free to marry.

"Perfect Flapper" Coming to T & D

An all-star cast including Sidney Chaplin, Frank Mayo, Phyllis Haver and headed by Colleen Moore is seen in "The Perfect Flapper," the screen attraction which comes to the Oakland T. & D. theater Saturday for the opening of "Greater Movie Season."

The story is one wherein modest youth makes a mistake, but is restored to safety without harm. Piqued because the customary "400" of the younger set did not attend her social function, Tommie Lou Pember, a modest and unsophisticated debutante decides to act as others of her set. How she is plucked from that dangerously fascinating whirlpool at an opportune time, furnishes countless thrills. One of the scenes in the picture which results in a "society scandal" is the burlesque on Romeo and Juliet. Sidney Chaplin appears as the mock Romeo, and the "perfect flapper" as Juliet.

'East of the Suez" is the title of the Fanchon & Marco offering for the week, which is the farewell appearance of Boyce Combe, "the American Prince of Wales." Roy Guisti's jazz Marimba band will furnish some novel syncopation. Helene Hughes, Owen Tiffany, and the Beauty Chorus, also appear in the act.

Richard Barthelmess and May McAvoy in "The Enchanted Cottage" will be on the screen for the last times tomorrow. Plans for the "Greater Movie Season" parade to be led by Colleen Moore and Milton Sills, have been completed today is was announced by local theater managers.

Pola Negri to Be Seen at American

Pola Negri, in her latest Hollywood-made production, "Lily of the Dust," is the screen attraction which the American theater has chosen to inaugurate Oakland's greater movie season, which opens next week.

"Lily of the Dust" is heralded as the fiery Pola's greatest American-made picture and a suitable standard for the Oakland theaters which have co-operated in a campaign to offer better screen productions for this season.

Dimitri Buchowetzki, the "David Griffith of Europe," who so successfully directed Pola in "Men," also guides her through the story of "Lily of the Dust."

The story concerns the insurmountable battle of a vivacious, colorful beauty against a fate which seems to throw endless barriers in the path of her desire to live a righteous, happy sort of life. It has a continental atmosphere and a story which leaves its climax value until it actually happens. The star is supported by a brilliant cast, including Noah Beery and Raymond Griffith in excellent character portrayals and Ben Lyon as Lily's real lover.

"Unguarded Women," a picture drama starring Richard Dix, Bebe Daniels and Mary Astor, will conclude its engagement at the American theater Friday night.

All of the students belonging to the society are natives of Greece, Cadman says, and the organization is unique in the fraternity world.

The Greeks have a clubhouse at 2223 Chapel street.

Investigation was commenced more than twenty years ago in that region by Dr. Merriam, and the present expedition will study the history of land formation. Dean Buwalda will make a number of maps of the basin.

Stars to Lead 'Greater Movie' Season Parade

Colleen Moore and Milton Sills Coming to Oakland for Celebration.

Plans for the "Greater Movie Season" parade Saturday to be led by Colleen Moore and Milton Sills, were completed today, according to the managers of the T. & D., State and American theaters.

Mayor John L. Davie, acting as coronation master, will crown the two star monarchs of the campaign before the city hall Saturday noon. The screen stars will arrive Saturday morning on the "Padre," and after a late breakfast at Hotel Oakland, will parade through downtown streets at the head of a long line of machines. A banquet will later be served at the Hotel Oakland.

Efforts to retain the stars in the city for the remainder of the week are also being planned by the greater picture drive sponsors, it was announced. With the fulfillment of the proposed plans, Miss Moore and Sills will make personal appearances at the three theaters and engage in talks with local admirers.

They will make several addresses on the purpose of "Greater Movie Season," and the benefits it is said to bring to communities in which similar drives are staged.

Both stars are engaged in the production of pictures in Hollywood, but when notified that Oakland wanted them as their guests Saturday they willingly set aside their pictoral duties to appear before the public here, according to reports from Hollywood.

Members of the local newspaper staffs as well as a delegation from each of the service clubs of the city have been invited to partake in the ceremony. The banquet will be given in the hotel ballroom.

Drive for Cleaner Pictures Extends

LOS ANGELES July 31.—Extension of the movement within the motion picture industry to wipe out salacious films and put an end to misleading titles and sensational exploitation of films was announced today in action of the West Coast theaters which control more than 100 motion picture theaters on the Pacific Coast.

Fred. W. Beeton, secretary of the association of motion picture producers, a California offspring of the national organization of which Will Hays is president, announced that the board of directors of the West Coast theaters had adopted the association's recent resolution "to establish and maintain the highest possible moral and artistic standards of motion picture production."

The resolution also declared "that they" would not produce or promote the production, distribution; exhibit or promote the exhibition, or aid in any way whatsoever the production, distribution or exhibition of any picture salacious in character or title."

The importance of this action," Secretary Beetson said, "is that it will link the exhibitors with the producers and do away with salacious and sensational advertising."

Nervous Hold-up Man Overlooks $40 Cash

BERKELEY, July 31.—Two stuttering holdup men, who were so nervous they "fumbled" their game, stopped M. W. Randall, 2145 Derby street, at Derby street and Shattuck avenue at 11:45 o'clock last night. One was white and the other negro. As Randall approached the men pretended to be looking at the engine of their car. The white man flashed a gun while the negro did the searching. In his nervous haste to finish the job the holdup man overlooked $40 in currency and a gold watch. He took $1.35 in money, a commutation book, fountain pen and other articles of minor value.

Woman Accused of Taking Money, Knife

BERKELEY, July 31.—Mrs. Catralina Torres, young Mexican woman residing at 806 Delaware street, is being held at police station on a petty larceny charge preferred by Jesus Ahumada of Oakland, who accuses her of taking a pocket knife and money from him. MILK PRODUCERS CONDEMN BUTTER SUBSTITUTE SALE

California Association Elects Officers and Upholds Disputed Contract.

MODESTO, July 31.—The Milk Producers' Association of California, in annual session here, unanimously passed a resolution condemning the sale of margarine and butter substitutes in agricultural communities.

President James E. Thorpe of Lockeford and Secretary W. H. Towle of Denair were re-elected. Guy H. Miller of Modesto was elected vice-president.

The collective marketing policy of Manager G. H. Henkendorf and the majority of the old board of directors was endorsed by a majority of 95 per cent of the dairymen.

The following directors were elected as members of the board: J. C. Jensen, Manteca; N. H. Locke, Lockeford; Robert Prouty, Stockton; Elias Fottrell, Escalon; Dr. Clark, Patterson; J. E. Throp, Lockeford; C. B. Holloway, Oakdale; Dr. J. D. Larimor, Hughson; W. H. Fowle, Denair; Guy H. Miller, Modesto; J. Lucas, Lathrop; J. S. Greydanus, Ripon; W. J. Hackett, Ceres; O. E. Nelson, Turlock, and Ed Scalrini, Modesto.

The last three are new men on the board. They succeed C. P. Hageman, Ripon; Mrs. S. J. Reyner, Lathrop, and H. Stammerjohn of Turlock, who opposed the contract which the association has to dispose of its excess product to the Challenge Butter Association of Los Angeles.

CONTRACT CAUSES DISCUSSION

The only discussion at the meeting came when the matter of the Challenge contract, which extends until 1950, was brought up.

Judge Willis I. Morrison of Los Angeles, attorney for the Challenge people, explained the contract. He was questioned by several members who opposed it.

When the vote was taken on the issue 95 per cent of the 700 members and proxies present voted for the contract.

From the moment that the vote was taken all uncertainty as to the outcome of the vote for directors, which has caused considerable speculation, was dissipated.

James M. Henderson of Sacramento, who organized the milk producers, was given a rising vote of appreciation following his address. G. H. Benkerdorf, manager, was also given an ovation.

James Thorpe, president of the association, said today that the affairs of the association are in the best condition of its history and pointed to the fact that at this time $100,000 is being spent in improvements, half at Stockton, where a new milk plant is being built, and half at Modesto, where the association is erecting a plant for drying mil kinto a powder form, which can be kept indefinitely.

'Lone Wolf' Scores Hit at the State

"Thrilling, yes indeed! And what a cast!"

Such were the comments of the capacity audiences which greeted Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt's latest production, "The Lone Wolf," which opened a four-day engagement yesterday as the screen feature at the State theater.

"The Lone Wolf" is a picturization of Louis Joseph Vance's most thrilling and famous novel and affords Jack Holt, cast in the title role of Michael Lanyard, "The Lone Wolf," and Miss Dalton, as Lucy Shannon, the agent of "the pack," the best opportunities they have had in some time.

Thrills of the most startling kind, with a love story interwoven, "The Lone Wolf" keeps the spectator on edge from the start to the finish.

An unusually pleasing vaudeville program was also presented. It was headed by "Vacation Days," a big revue of mirth, melody, song and dance, with Trout and Rogers, the two black spasms who scored with their comedy. Mitchell and Dove, "A Fool I Am"; Marion Gibney, a real entertainer, literally stopped the show with her "Not Marrin' Now." The Espinosas, with the characteristic dances, completed the program, which will be presented for the remainder of the week.

On Sunday, for the start of "The Greater Movie Season," the feature screen attraction at the State will be Universal's powerful production, "The Law Forbids," featuring Baby Peggy and a super cast, which includes Robert Ellis, Joseph Dowling, Elinor Fair, Winifred Bryson and others.

CURTAIN CALLS By Wood Soanes

THE new theatrical season is approaching with flying wings.

L. Lawrence Weber, a wide awake young producing manager, is already out after the fabled worms. He has prepared for publication a list of his plans, thereby beating the field by about six lengths.

Last season Weber produced successfully "Little Jessie James" and "Moonlight," musical comedies, and "Cobra," one of the dramatic hits of the year. During the coming season he plans no less than eight musical plays, four dramas and two comedy dramas.

He has disposed of the Cuban and South American rights to his two musical comedies and the James girl will be seen in Vienna and Berlin. Incidently four American companies of "Little Jessie" will start forth, the first starting on August 1, the second, a Coast company, on the 31st; the third on Labor Day; the fourth in October.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Mrs. Leslie Carter is now in her third week at the Grand Opera House in San Francisco.

"Moonlight" starts a run in Boston on September 15 with Julia Sanderson starred and Frank Crumit in the cast; "Cobra" remains in New York with a number two company to be organized in Chicago.

The first new play to open will be "My Man," by William Le Baron, starting early next month; a new comedy drama scheduled for September, and two for later; "Cain and Mabel," a musical comedy based on the H. C. Witwer stories for November, and "Oh Baby," another musical show for December.

Between times Weber will operate the Little and the Longacre theaters, build another playhouse in the Forties and do several other things.

'Elsie Janis Has Plans Galore

Elsie Janis, who is appearing in London at the Queen's theater in a new revue called "At Home," a piece of her own making, plans to return to New York about September 1, but that isn't the half of it, Miss Janis has many other plans. Hear her out.

Immediately upon her arrival she plans to take over a Broadway theater, endow it with her own name and become an actress-manager in the fullest sense of the term. She will write, direct, produce and play as well as manage the theater.

It is all quite mysterious as yet, but Miss Janis' press agent divulges the information that the show will be an intimate revue and the performance, introducing several novel features, will start at 9 o'clock. Where the theater will be or what must go unanswered at this moment.

Miss Janis, on the termination of [illegible] engagement, will bring some of the members of her company over here with her.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

Nat C. Goodwin, father of the late comedian, died last month in his ninety-second year. He was a retired broker.

Ed Wynn will not be under the direction of B. C. Whitney next season. His affairs will be attended to by A. L. Erlanger. Wynn is now writing his new revue.

The McGee stock company in Detroit closed the other day after a two years' run, giving a new and rather amusing reason—inability to find plays suitable for production. The Fulton has been going for five years now, the Alcazar for heaven knows how many years, and the Majestic and Morosco in Los Angeles for indefinite periods.

Donald Searle will be in Dillingham's cast of "Peter Pan." Searle has been playing in "Peter Pan" for 18 years. He started as the Rabbit, then played "A Child" and recently "Slightly." Marilyn Miller will probably have the tite role.

Grace La Rue and Hale Hamilton are in London. They opened a variety season at the Coliseum last week.

"Anna Christie," one of the best of the O'Neill plays is a hit in Vienna. It is being presented at Reinhardt's theater.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Lawrence Barrett, American actor, has been presented with the Order of St. George by Edmund Kean, now appearing in "Yorick's Love."

Dale Winter last here as the star of "Irene" has succeeded Luella Gear as the commedienne of "Poppy." Miss Gear in turn succeeded Madge Kennedy on which withdrawal from the cast W. C. Field was made star. Miss Winter has been with "Irene" for four years.

Max Reinhardt's "The Miracle," so the statistician tells us, played 200 consecutive performances to $1,064,000 paid by 400,000 people, making a profit of $200,000 for Morris Gest and $016,400 for Uncle Sam.

Jimmy Liddy, once extra and later juvenile at old Ye Liberty, has been selected for the leading role of the musical version of "Old Heidelberg." The last time we saw the play Franklyn Underwood and Frances Slossen had the principal parts.

Patsy Salmon, tent show performer, Follies star, is now training lions with the Robinson circus.

And Frances Starr has recovered from a severe attack of the mumps.

And Pauline Lord is in vaudeville with an O'Neill sketch.

John Ivan and John Fee have signed long-term contracts at the Fulton, so we are informed.

BRAIN OPERATION CURES CRIMINAL; CHARGES DROPPED

War Veteran Freed From Asylum, Morally Regenerated; Is Sent Home.

For five years Antone Wrobleski was one of the most dangerous criminals known to the authorities. Then an operation was performed on his brain at the Napa state hospital. Today his sole desire is to return to his wife in Detroit and settle down as a peace-loving citizen.

So great is Wrobleski's moral transformation since the operation that robbery charges pending against him were dismissed here today on motion of Assistant District Attorney Frank Shay, and a ticket was given him for his return to his home in Michigan.

Pressure on Wrobleski's brain was discovered to be the cause of all his wrongdoing.

Wrobleski served in the World War, where he was shell-shocked and otherwise injured. After leaving the service he plunged into a career of crime during which he boasted of having escaped from three penitentiaries and one insane asylum. In September of last year he was captured by the Oakland police in a running gun battle through the streets, after he had held up Nick Vasso in his store at 2536 Telegraph avenue, and robbed him of $50.

Drs. O. D. Hamlin and J. W. Robertson, who examined the prisoner, declared his trouble was caused by pressure on the brain, and recommended the operation. This was performed six months ago and since that time Wrobleski, who has been kept under close observation, has shown no traces of his former criminality, according to the authorities.

KILLERS RESENT STAMP OF HAVING WARPED BRAINS

Millionaire Murderers Dislike "Stigma" of Alienists as "Diseased."

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, July 31.—Nathan Leopold Jr. and "Dicky" Loeb, the college intellectuals who kidnaped and killed little Bobby Franks just to add the crime of murder to the thrills they have enjoyed, do not care particularly whether the alienists their wealthy families have employed for them give testimony as to their mental state or not.

They know the alienists are going to describe them as "mentally diseased"—not downright insane, but still queer enough for Judge John R. Caverly to take into consideration their mentality when he goes about deciding whether they should hang or go to prison for life.

They have a natural, somewhat boyish desire to see the state defeated in its effort to keep the alienists off the stand. They like to see the state defeated wherever possible, but on the other hand, they do not relish being painted to the world as having "diseased minds." That is a blow to their pride. They have been widely advertised as being "intellectuals" and possessors of "remarkable minds" and they like it.

For the alienists to cloud their almost "perfect crime" by describing it as the child of abnormal, diseased and otherwise irregular brains, does not at all fit in with their adopted pose as scientfc, cold-blooded young intellectuals who conceived a brilliant criminal plan and carried it out with skill and daring.

In their cells, after the first day of the defense's day in court, they discussed the whole matter and the foregoing, according to mystified relatives, represents the attitude of these two remarkable young slayers. They talked gravely of the "disgrace" and the "stigma" of being described as "mentally diseased." To them it apparently was more serious than the "stigma and disgrace" of having committed perhaps the most cold-blooded and brutal crime in American criminology.

LOEB SINGS.

"Babe" and "Dicky" were in a particularly happy frame of mind today. Dicky's spirits were even sufficiently sublime to move him to break into song.

"Ma is playing Mah Jongg.

"Dad is busy, too—" and so on down through the lilting, rollicking tune. They hummed it with all the care free abandon of two youths on the campus which they so lately left, instead of two young men with either a hangman's noose or life imprisonment staring them in the face.

In fact, Leopold mockingly warned the reporters against clus[illegible] "shutting out my view."

"You fellows," he said, with mock seriousness, "jostled me around a lot yesterday and stepped on my toes and kept me from seeing the show. Today I have fortified myself with a deadly weapon, a pin, and somebody is going to get stuck."

He laughed. His seat is directly in front of Judge Caverly's bench, just behind his lawyers.

Ban on Max Graf Stock Sale Urged

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—Attorneys representing Max Graf appeared before Superior Judge Griffiths today in support of an application for a restraining order to prevent the sale of $100,000 worth of stock of the Max Graf productions. The argument lacted throughout the morning. Graf and the other directors of the company are engaged in criminal litigation in the police court. All are under arrest and their case will come up next week. Charges of wrongful handling of funds and the conduct of the concern are at the bottom of the trouble.

Jewish Cente to Present Drama

"The Trysting Place," by Booth Tarkington will be the first play given in the new Jewish community center, 732 Fourteenth street. It will be presented Sunday evening under the direction of Dr. S. C. Kohs.

NEW CATTLE QUARANTINE.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 31.—A quarantine against the admission of livestock into Oklahoma from the states of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi because of the existance of anthrax in sections of those states, was ordered today by John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture.

Darrow Riddles Crowe's Insanity Plea As Unworthy of Modern Prosecutor

mentioned the "seal of medical science" investigating mental disorders.

Judge Caverly told the prosecution that all the cases cited yesterday were cases in which a plea of not guilty had been entered and the cases tried by juries, and that therefore they were not applicable to the present instance. The court cited a Pennsylvania decision which he held ran along lines similar to the Franks case, and it indicated that alient testimony in mitigation of punishment had been heard by that court.

Judge Caverly said that in the Pennsylvania case it was held that a plea of guilty automatically made the crime second degree murder. He said it was held that the State might then introduce testimony to raise the offense to first degree murder.

"Well, we have raised the offense in this case," interjected Robert E. Crowe, State's attorney, "and understand it."

"I just wished to make that point clear," said the court.

Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, wanted a time limit put to the arguments as to admissability of alientist testimony, saying that cases the State thought might parallel the present case could be read "until doom's day," without progress.

Marshall insisted that the State did not object to presentation of alientists' testimony as such.

INSISTS INSANITY IS FOR JURY TO ACT.

He said that the mental disease testimony which the defense was offering was the foundation of legal insanity.

"Legal insanity decides responsibility for crime," he said. "First then, they plead, acknowledge guilty, acknowledge guilty responsibility, then offer in mitigation of punishment testimony which tends to remove that responsibility."

He emphasized again that the question of sanity is one for a jury to determine.

"Under the offer of testimony made by counsel," continued Marshall, "and accepting it at its face value, the estimate by the defense that something less than insanity will be shown, we find that courts have rejected evidence of weak-mindedness, where the defendant is not idiotic, lunatic or insance."

"Not in Illinois," interjected Walter Bachrach of defense counsel.

"You think not?" responded Marshall. "Well, we don't agree with you."

Marshall read further citations in support of his contention that depravity of character and abandoned habits are not evidence of insanity, neither is the commission of an unnatural and atrocious crime."

"Well, if such depravity is not an evidence of insanity then is it not proper for a court to consider it merely as mitigation of punishment?" asked Judge Caverly.

Crowe jumped into the argument, saying it was "mitigation of crime perhaps but not of punishment."

"ALL NONSENSE," DARROW SAYS.

"That is all nonsense, your honor," said Darrow. "It is competent to determine the effect upon the mind of the defendant and that is all."

"Is there any mitigation in the world?" Darrow asked Crowe.

"Yes," replied the prosecuting attorney, proceeding to explain that if a man killed another because of a family affair there would be mitigation.

"That's all bosh," said Darrow. "That is talking about the unwritten law, and there is nothing to it here."

The clash was precipitated when in reading from the Alabama law Marshall reached an "irresistible impulse is not a defense." The defense muttered from its seats that the same did not apply in Illinois, and that prosecution and defense depended as to whether Marshall had been asked by the defense to read from the Illinois records a case in which it had been held that "depravity of character and abandoned habits" do not constitute insanity.

IMPOSSIBLE TO PROVE DEPRAVITY, SAYS CROWE.

"If the defense tried to show a depraved act how are you going to prove it?" asked Crowe of the court. "Are they going to prove it by alienists? Are they going to produce some one to say, 'I saw a depraved act committed?' That would be hearsay and incompetent."

Marshall read for a few moments and then the court declared a recess for "five and only five minutes."

White, who all the time had been on the witness stand, moved down to the floor after the recess, finding it somewhat more comfortable there than in had been in the high-backed straight chair in the witness box he had occupied all of yesterday and part of today.

"MORAL INSANITY," NOT RECOGNIZED.

Marshall took up his argument into the real of "irresistible impulse," holding that it was not recongnized in law as an excuse for crime. "If such impulse was given as an evidence of mental disease," he argued, it became "moral insanity," which was not "recognized as an independent mental state."

Judge Caverly had him repeat legal quotations on that point.

"Mental disease, functionals in nature," were placed in the same category as "impulse" in Marshall's argument. He read a Pennsylvania decision in support of this point.

Marshall emphasized the case of People vs. Chinley, 38 Michigan 483.

"Everyone who is non compos mentis is irresponsible,' he read. "One who indulges that convenient form of insanity which lasts just long enough to permit commission of a crime, is just as responsible as a drunken man.

"The law has no theories on insanity. It holds responsible everyone who is compos mentis."

CITES PRECEDENT FROM CALIFORNIA.

He also cited from People vs. McCarthy, 115 California 255, the following:

"In law there is no distinction between moral insanity and mental derangement as an excuse for crime."

Marshall went to England for further authorities, citing a decision rendered in 1660.

"Why so ancient," suggested Darrow.

"Well, it lays down the rule I am interpreting," said Marshall.

"I will now read an English decision of 1921, which is quite common."

The case upheld the rule that legal insanity is not a matter of degree, a point which the defense has not disputed. Marsall finished him reading of citations when court recessed for luncheon at 12:29 p. m.

BOYS CONVICTED ALREADY, HE SAYS.

Marshall in summing up this afternoon said he believed that if the court had any doubt about the hearing of alienists, he should have gone into the matter upon the plea of guilty by the youths and not waited until after the state had its case in.

"I submit that I have shown to your honor that moral insanity has no place at the bar," he said. "It is a theoretical division of insanity that doctors use. It has no place in a court of justice."

Loeb and Leopold are here on conviction. Marshall said. The plea of guilty was conviction, he said.

"They were warned of the consequences of their plea, but if, in addition, they will take advantage of a legal insanity it is not now too late for them." said the attorney, adding that the law of Illinois yet gave them the opportunity of trial by jury.

"Now what is the court going to do, faced by this dilemma?" he pursued. "If you proceed without a jury the proceedings become void and of no effect from the point where the evidence of mental instability enters."

"Why put the record in that condition," said Marshall, asserting that evidence of mental disease, "functional in its nature," was a plea of insanity in mitigation and that if evidence on it were permitted to enter the record the third step in the case would be reversal by the higher court.

"I understand the state's attorney's office feels the universe will crumble unless these two boys hang," said Darrow as he rose to reply.

DARROW RIDICULES CROWE'S ARGUMENTS.

He said the defense had gone about the matter of trial open handed and had concealed nothing in presenting its case.

He said the state had not cited one case that had the "remotest bearing on this case." The question involved never got to a supreme court except in two instances, once in Nebraska and once in Colorado, he claimed.

"The cases that have been read here are absolutely irrelevant. They might have taken any book, sacred or profane, and have read an equal time and made as much progress," said Darrow.

He referred to the age of the cases cited, and regarding one cited from Alabama said under it a man could be hanged if he had "a glimmer of reason."

"There is no question in the state of Illinois but what legal insanity means mental disease as makes one unable to understand the difference between right and wrong or destroys his power of will, what ever that is, to choose between right and wrong. A man may be wholly or nearly wholly affected, yet it does not come under the definition of legal insanity in Illinois.

"There is no plea before your honor that these defendants are legally insane so that it could be used for a defense.

CITING CASES WHERE BOYS, 7, WERE HANGED

"We have not said they are insane. Crowe informed the court that my clients were sane, making it stronger than that, implying they were even as sane as he.

"They have cited cases 100 years old, bringing them from England, where they could hang boys of seven. We have progressed. Now we can't hang a boy in Illinois until he is ten. They have built up a mountain of evidence, they say. I suppose they meant "Everest" to make it big. They have tried to confuse the court with a preponderance of evidence. They cannot see that law has progressed with crime. We have learned.

"There is almost nobody who does not know something about mental disease. Everybody knows somebody insane. In the old days when a man was insane they loaded hi mwith chains and locked him in a dungeon.

"We now know there are humans who go insane. We also know there are many steps in insanity which would not for a minute avail of a legal defense. A man may be very far affected and still know right from wrong and resist wrong and do right and still be mentally affected. And courts today take account of that.

"We have a statute which says any court may inquire into any act of mitigation or aggravation."

"WE KNOW DREAM WORLD OF CHILD."

Darrow argued that a judge, before he passes a sentence on a human being, may inquire whether there be mitigating circumstances.

"This is a mitigating case," he declared. "We know the dream world of a child, its incapacities and complexes. These boys are minors. The law would prevent them making contracts or marrying without their parents' consent. Why? Because they are minors, and have not the judgment of a man.

"I can't understand the glib, light-hearted, careless attorneys who here talk of hanging two boys just as if they were talking of a holiday or a visit to the beach.

"I have never seen a more deliberate effort to turn human beings into a society of raving wolves than this case," Darrow said.

He spoke of fair play and progress in Chicago's courts, mentioning the establishment of juvenile courts, adding:

"We are sending defendants over and over again to pschycopathic hospitals to find out the condition of their minds."

RECALLS CASE OF BOY CHOPPING BABY.

"You have been a judge a long time. I undertake to say there is scarcely a case where mercy has not been asked, but we are being talked about as if mercy never had been asked of a court before." He cited a case in which a young delivery boy had chopped up a baby. Darrow said he called in the boys teacher, alienists, had a full hearing in court, where the boy's mind was looked into and the judge sentenced the boy to the penitentiary, and said he was sorry to have to do that. That was seven or eight years ago, Darrow said.

Darrow proceeded to cite other cases in Chicago courts in which he said mitigation had been called in.

"It is too bad that much as we have moved in 200 years, every step has been over the protest of lawyers,' said Darrow in referring to the state. He cited Blackstone, which is 200 years old, "still good in spots, but only in spots."

Darrow attacked the argument of the state that if mentality was admitted here, the case would be reversed on appeal.

"I do not think your honor will be intimidated by talk of what a higher court would do," he said. "I think your honor will be guided by your own judgment and will let other courts take their own responsibilities on their own shoulders."

He referred to Crowe's statement that if the alienists testimony was introduced the prosecutor would confess error, were the case appealed, and said that in a previous case Mr. Crowe confessed error, and the confession was disregarded.

"I am not speaking of a matter of law, I am speaking of humanity," he said.

CROWE AS JUDGE HANGED SLAYER.

Darrow referred to the Fitzgerald hanging and reiterated that Crowe, as judge, had listened to evidence in mitigation in that instance, although Fitzgerald became one of only three men hanged in Illinois in thirty yearse on pleas of guilty.

"Your honor might consider something that I would not," said Darrow in arguing for admission of evidence. He said Crowe had named only family trouble as a mitigating circumstance and proceeded to name state of mind, age and various other problematical conditions as proper in mitigating.

"I cannot understand," he said, "why the state considers that to admit this testimoony would make a revolution in our system of justice. We have had just such instances not only in Illinois, but in this city, and I believe, in this very court."

"KINDNESS OUGHT TO COUNT FOR SOMETHING."

"Human sympathy, common human kindness ought to count for something. I know this court is supposed to have no heart, must forget all his human experiences, and that he was a boy, how he acted as a boy, and how he fell down in a thousand cases in trying to meet the needs of life day by day.

"Now let's see how this case stands. Here is a case that will be presented to your honor within the meaning that these young men are not insane according to the law. If these boys under home circumstances knew the difference between right and wrong, then they were sane. Now your honor, we could not avail ourselves of the plea they were insane. Because, as our friend Marshall demonstrated by about a thousand old cases, that legal insanity cannot be used as a plea. But we do not say that. We say only that in mitigation there is a certain mental condition that can be used properly.

"Your honor cannot ignore the plain fact of this case, that you are bound to hear anything in mitigation of punishment," Mr. Dorraw snaid, "and has mental condition nothing to do with mitigation? There is no human being but knows that it does. One degree of mentality means one punishment and another degreo means another.

"I don't care how often the state repeats over and over, parrot-like, that if there is mention of insanity you must call a jury. There is no precedent of law for it."

Darrow read from a bill introduced at the last legislature, which would provide that persons of defective emotions or defective avill might be found insane and sent to asylums as "menaces to society."

"All these people would have been isolated before any crime had been committed," said Darrow. "The bill was passed by every vote but one in the last legislature and it was then vetoed by the governor.

"The interesting part of this is that the chairman of the committee backing this bill was Robert Crowe of Cook county, and among its members was Samuel A. Ettelson, who appears in the court here daily as a representative of the Franks family and assists the prosecution in the case."

Owner of Still Pays Court Fine of $500

MARTINEZ, July 31.—Concluding freedom more desirable than a term of 500 days in the county jail, Manuel Joaquin, Tassajara rancher, last night paid a fine of $500 imposed by Justice of the Peace Frank Glass when he pleaded guilty to possession of a still. The still was seized at Joaquin's ranch Monday by county prohibition officers.

TWO OF OLDEST COLLEGE 'GRADS' IN AMERICA DIE

California Resident, Alumnus of N. Y. U. Since 1843, Passes Away.

NEW YORK, July 31.—New York University and Harvard have lost their oldest graduates, Lewis Benedict Reed, who was graduated from New York University in 1843, and was reputed to be the oldest graduate of any college in the country, died in California recently and Prof. William W. Richards, Harvard's oldest alumnus, died in Brooklyn.

Reed, who enjoyed good health almost to the time of his death, celebrated his one hundredth birthday July 11 at the home of his son, in Eagle Rock, Cal. He was graduated from New York University eighty-one years ago and was a mature man at the start of the Civil war.

Living most of his life in Brooklyn, Reed saw an amazing period of this city's growth, as well as an era of development in the arts and sciences undreamed of when he was in college. A few days ago, felicitations on his one hundredth birthday were sent to him by airplane mail by officers of the American Surety company, of which he was a vice-president until fifteen years ago.

Reed studied law after his graduation and was admitted to the bar in 1846. He practiced actively until 1863, when he entered business. He had wide social interests and, until his departure for California, was a member of many organizations here.

In addition to being N. Y. U.'s oldest graduate, Reed was noted for maintaining his interest in that institution. For many years he attended commencement after commencement, marching at the head of the thinning ranks of the class of '43. Even after he was too old to make the long journey from California he continued to send his greetings at the end of each college year.

Prof. Richards is survived by his wife and six grown children. His fifty-sixth wedding anniversary was celebrated a few days ago.

Wife Says Spouse Kicked Her From Bed

"He kicked me out of bed and drove me from our apartment," said pretty Norine Runyan to Superior Judge J. S. Koford today in testifying in support of her plea for divorce from Perry S. Runyan, which was granted.

"She came into our apartment crying and told me that Perry had kicked her out of bed," said Mrs. Julia Washburn, who appeared to corroborate her friend's charges against Runyan, an employee of the Southern Pacific company.

The couple lived at the Franklin Court apartments when the trouble took place, according to Mrs. Runyan, who said that her husband had no cause to treat her in such a cruel manner. She described him as morose and quarrelsome.

Mrs. Washburn said Mrs. Runyan lived with her on Park street, Alameda.

U. C. Dean Denies Modern Collegians Spiritually Stunted

BERKELEY, July 31.—Denying the charge made by Dr. E. J. Stevens of San Francisco that university students are "over-educated mentally and under-educated spiritually," Assistant Dean Paul Cadman of the University of California declared today that the spiritual growth of college students is comparable with their mental training.

"Dr. Stevens' charges are unfair," Cadman said, "for the university students of today are largely influenced by ideals. No figures can be produced by any institution to show the spiritual development of collegians, but the experiences of professors indicate that spiritual growth and mental development go hand in hand.

"Spirituality is an intangible thing, but it may be defined as the refining influence of ideals upon the materialistic activities of men. This influence plays a part in the lives of most people, and university students are no exception."

Dr. Stevens made the charges against collegians at the second annual convention of Sanipratic physicians now being held in Seattle.

Knife Wielder Gets Two-Year Sentence

Two years in the county jail was the sentence given Edward Hayes, colored, today by Superior Judge L. S. Church, in whose court Hayes was recently convicted of assault with a deadly weapon.

The evidence showed that Hayes attacked Dilliard Mead, also colored, and Antone Uraconiso on May 18 in front of the Peralta theater. Uraconiso was cut when he tried to stop the fight between the two men.

DRIVER DENIES GUILT.

Charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, R. E. Steiger entered a plea of not guilty today when arraigned before Superior Judge H. L. Preston. Steiger will be tried October 10. He was arrested June 29 on Channing way, Berkeley.

Fraud Is Denied By Convicted Brokers

Denial of intent to defraud is contained in an answer filed in the superior court today on behalf of Holmes Ives and N. J. Whalen to a suit instituted against them by T. G. Watson recently for $1300.

The suit involves the transfer of stock in the Coast Tire and Rubber company to the Bankers' Mortgage and Guarantee company. Watson, in common with many holders of the tire stock, made the transfer. It is now claimed that the mortgage stock is worthless while the tire stock is valuable.

Ives, Whalen, J. J. Eiseman and others were convicted in San Francisco recently of criminal charges growing out of the affairs of the two companies. They are under sentence but are at liberty pending an appeal.

APPLICATION FOR BUS LINES MADE BY KEY SYSTEM

Transit Company Plans for East Oakland Franchise Referred to Mayor.

The Key System Transit company today filed a formal application to operat three bus lines in Oakland. The application for a franchise was referred to Mayor Davis. Before it is take before the council Mayor Davie will hold a conference with the Key System Transit company officials.

The bus line which is to be discussed in the conference is the one which the company wishes to start at Foothall boulevard and run to Wisconsin street. It is the contention of the Fruitvale Businessmen's Association that the bus line should start at East Fourteenth street. They contend that if it does not start there, a person coming from a point north of Foothill boulevard would have to get off at Foothill boulevard, transfer to a Foothill boulevard car, and then transfer to the East Fourteenth car line. They argue that better connections could be made with a direct line.

The two ther proposed lines are as follows: One line from Ygnacio avenue and Trask street, thence southerly along Trask to Foothill boulevard, thence to Eighty-second avenue, and there dividing, one line operating south along Eighty-second avenue to East Fourteenth street, and the other along Foothill boulevard to Jones avenue.

The other proposed line starts from the intersection of East Fourteenth street and Seminary avenue, thence northerly along Semniary avenue, thence southerly along Trenor, thence to Seventy-third avenue, and then to East Fourteenth street and south on Seventy-third avenue.

What Kind of Blood Have You?

Thin, Pale and Watery—Keeping You Weak, Nervous and Run-Down—Or Rich, Red, Healthy Blood With Plenty of Iron in It To Give You Strength, Energy, Power and Endurance

Physicians Say Organic Iron is Red Blood Food

How Nuxated Iron—Proven Strength-Builder of The Blood—Helps Give Renewed Strength and Energy to Men and Puts Healthy Color Into The Cheeks of Women.

Plenty of Iron makes rich, red corpuscles like these. | Highly magnified drop of blood of anaemic woman, showing lack of healthy, red corpuscles.

If you tire easily, if you look pale, haggard and worn, if you feel generally weak, nervous and run-down it would probably astonish you to look at a drop of your own blood under a powerful microscope and compare it with a drop of pure, healthy blood—rich in iron. Actual blood tests show that a tremendously large number of people who are weak and ill lack iron in their blood and they are ill for no other reason than lack of iron. Iron deficiency paralyzes healthy, energetic action, pulls down the whole organism and weakens the entire system.

There are thousands whose bodies are ageing and breaking down at a time when they should be enjoying that perfect bodily health which cries defiance to disease simply because they are not awake to the condition of their blood. By allowing it to remain thin, pale and watery they are not giving the natural life forces of the body a chance to do their work. Yet others go through life apparently possessing, year after year the elasticity, the strength and the energy of earlier days. Through their bodies courses the energy and power that comes from plenty of red blood—filled with strength-giving iron. Iron is red blood food and organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps to build up the red blood corpuscles and give increased power and endurance.

For want of iron you may practically be an old woman at from 30 to 35, weak, downhearted and "all fagged out." You may be in such a highly nervous irritable state that you "go all to pieces" on the slightest provocation, while at 50 or 60 with good health and plenty of iron in your blood, you may still be young in feeling and so attractive and full of life as to defy detection of your real age.

It's not always the youngest woman that is most sought after—there is an indescribably alluring fascination in the rosy cheek, the inviting lips and sparkling eyes of a woman whose blood is filled with iron. You may be afflicted with iron starvation of the blood and not know it, just as thousands of other women are.

It is said that about one person in three in America today suffers more or less from malnutrition—lack of nourishment,—which is caused not by lack of food, but in many cases, by lack of sufficient iron in the blood to enable you to get the strength and nourishment out of your food. Indoor life, overeating and modern methods of cookery are sapping the iron from the blood of hundreds of thousands of women.

To make up for the great loss of iron caused by the life men and women of today are compelled to lead they should eat more iron-containing vegetables and fruits such as spinach and baked apples and take organic iron like Nuxated Iron from time to time to help enrich their blood and revitalize their wornout, exhausted nerves.

Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such a highly condensed form that one dose of it is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating half a quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It's like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat.

Millions of people are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. It often increases the bodily and mental vigor, strength and endurance of weak, nervous, "run-down" folks in two weeks' time. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Nuxated Iron comes in tablets only—never in liquid form. Always look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and the letter N. I. on every tablet.

NUXATED IRON ENRICHES THE BLOOD-GIVES YOU NEW STRENGTH AND ENERGY

"BUZ" ARLETT STARS AS OAKS WIN SECOND GAME

DEER SEASON WILL OPEN TOMORROW IN THREE DISTRICTS OF NORTHERN PART OF STATE

"BUZ" ARLETT'S CATCH IN PINCH PULLS HARRY KRAUSE FROM TROUBLE

Locals Defeat Seals by Good Bunting and Hitting at Right Times; Pat Shea Is the Pitcher to Be Charged With Defeat.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

The Oaks leaped into fourth place and only a half game from third yesterday afternoon when they handed the San Francisco Seals their second straight beating of the series. The score was 6 to 4 and a crowd bigger than that of Tuesday afternoon packed the stands. All grandstand seats with the exception of a dozen scattering ones in the reserve section were filled, and good crowds were in both sections of the bleachers. The brand of baseball was just the kind to please such a crowd. Harry Krause was on the hill for the locals, and the veteran southpaw had to bear down from the very moment he took the hill until he retired Eddie Mulligan for the last out in the ninth inning and with the tieing run on first base. The locals came through in a snappy manner and took the Seals off their feet in the third inning by playing a bunting game on them and squeezing two of their five runs, in the inning, over the plate.

HARRY KRAUSE

Again "Buz" Arlett was in the limelight, both with the willow and in the field. The Seals needed one run to tie the score in the eighth inning. Hendryx was on third base with one out and Krause fanned Pete Kilduff. Hal Rhyne laced a line drive to right field. Looked like a sure base hit to the fence. But Arlett stretched his big legs as long and as fast as he could. It looked like the ball was sailing over his shoulder when he suddenly swayed off balance to his left and pulled the ball down as it was passing his left shoulder. It was a wonderful catch, in fact, one of the best made on the local lot, especially at such a critical moment.

Arlett Hot Bounce Tears Ellison's Glove.

One run never looked like a safe lead over the Seals in a ninth inning, so when the Oaks went to bat in the eighth, Arlett was the first batter Fans applauded him for more than a minute. The big boy pasted a hot one right at Bert Ellison. It hit Bert's glove on the first hop and tore the web from it. It was a single to right field. Ted Cather bunted and was safe when Ellison let the ball get through his webless glove, Arlett making third on a pretty slide. He trotted home when La Fayette hoisted a long fly to Valla in center and Cather was out at second trying to advance.

The Seals had two out in their half of the ninth before they gave the Oaks a scare. Kelly singled to left and Brubaker slipped in trying to field Valla's short fly to center and the ball fell from his hand. Eddie Mulligan had a chance to win the game for the Seals in the ninth inning Tuesday, but failed, and he also failed yesterday, popping to Guisto for the last out.

Oaks Work Squeeze Plays on Champs in Third Frame.

Harry Krause made easy work of disposing of the Seals in the first three frames. His team got five runs in their half of the third. The Oaks played real baseball in this inning and took the Seals off their feet with the way they did it. Maderas beat out a hot one to Mulligan, the Seal knocking the ball down with one hand. Baker hit to left, and Maderas took third on a short passed ball. Harry Krause laid down a bunt to Shea who had no chance for a play at the plate, and Maderas scored. Krause was out at first. Adams beat out a bunt along the first base line and Baker took third. Now for the squeeze play again. Brubaker dumped a ball bout ten feet toward the pitching box, and Baker raced in from third, with all other hands being safe when Vargas could not get to the plate in time to get Baker. Louie Guisto hit to Kilduff, who threw to Rhyne, and the latter threw bad to first in trying to complete a double play, Guisto taking second and Adams scoring. Arlett lined a hit to center and Guisto scored, and Ted Cather busted a ball against the left-field fence for a double to score the captain. La Fayette skied to Valla. Five runs in as fast as time and as clever as could be asked for.

A. MADERAS

Seals Within One of Making Count Even.

From then until the time Arlett crossed the plate in the ninth, Pat Shea did some tight pitching and did not let the Oaks nick the rubber.

The Seals plugged along until they got very dangerous looking and Manager Ivan Howard had Walter Mails warming up on the side lines. In the fourth they got two. Kelly singled and took third when Arlett boosted Valla's single to right. Mulligan beat out a riller to Brubaker and Kelly scored. Tim Hendryx walked, filling the bases. Looked pretty bad for Handsome Harry as none were out. Ellison popped to Brubaker and Kilduff forced Hendryx at second, Adams making a nice play on the ball, while Valla scored. Brubaker threw out Rhyne.

Al Maderas doubled to the left-field fence in the Oaks' half, but died on the paths. Singles by Valla and Ellison, and Adams' boot on Kilduff's roller toward second, gave the champs one more in the sixth. La Fayette and Maderas got hits in the Oaks' half and were on second and third with one out, but they were left stranded. Shea got a single and Kelly a double in the seventh and Shea scored when Valla grounded to Guisto. This left the champs only one to the bad. Hendryx opened the eighth with a double and took third after Arlett caught Ellison's long fly. Krause was bearing down with all his might and managed to fan Kilduff. Up stepped Rhyne to almost put the Seals in the ball game again by smashing his liner which Arlett made his great catch of.

Arrangements Made for a Few Thousand Extra Seats.

It was a nerve-wrecking ball game for supporters of both teams. About eight thousand fans saw the game, and a continuation of the crowds through the week is bound to result in all attendance records being shattered, probably for the whole league.

Arrangements are being made for the handling of banner crowds on both Saturday and Sunday and Del Howard, business manager of the Oaks, announced last evening that arrangements have been made to have "knockdown" bleacher seats erected in center field near the clubhouse. Fans will not be allowed to crowd into the felt and right field sections of the outfield, but they will be allowed along the foul lines.

Poole, Center Of Attraction, Adds Interest

PORTLAND, Ore., July 31.—The Braves celebrated the first day of acting manager of Frank Brazill, the third baseman, by hustling to another win from Sacramento today, 4 to 3. Dave Keefe was master throughout with his big curve ball. In the ninth, after two pinch hitters had flied out, he fanned Colonel Pick, pinching for Thompson, on a low curve.

The game divided interest with a fight between Jimmy Poole, the Portland first baseman, and a spectator, which held up play for ten minutes in the Sacramento sixth

A spectator in the first base section of the grand stand began "razzing" Poole and accused him of "throwing down" the team. Poole walked to the stand and hot words ensued.

The original spectator faded into the background, but another one, who turned out to be a prizefighter, took up the argument. This spectator finally jumped into the field and nearly sank Poole with his first blow, a left hook to the jaw. Poole fought back, but the pugilist then crossed a right to Poole's eye, cutting it open. Players and umpires rushed over, but Poole and the pugilist closed and could hardly be dragged apart.

The sympathy of the crowd was all with the ordinarily mild Poole, who resumed play with a plaster over his eye and made a base hit.

PITTSBURG WINS TWO.

The Pittsburg Independents defeated the San Pablo All Stars and the Chris Nelson Paint company teams. The morning game was won 12 to 2 when Cardy hurled a five-hit game for the Independents and struck out nine. Belloci, Matt, Card and Russo were also prominent in the game with their hitting.

The afternoon game resulted in another easy victory when Commy held the Paint Company to four hits and won 7 to 1. Belloci and Davi featured at the bat.

He Snatched Victory From the Seals

This picture of "BUZ" ARLETT, Oakland outfielder and sensation of the 1924 season in the Coast League, was snapped yesterday afternoon just before the big boy trotted out to right field and made a sensational catch of Hal Rhyne's line drive and saved the game for the Oaks. His two basehits also had much to do with the Oaks winning the game.

Pat Bohen Twirls St. Helena to Win

The Jefferson baseball team of San Francisco met one of their few defeats this season when they lost to the St. Helena team, 6 to 3, when the veteran Pat Bohen held them to six scattered hits. The St. Helena victory marked the first defeat of Sam Beck, Jefferson pitcher, in 28 games.

Benjamin made three of the Jefferson's six hits, while the hitting of Jennings and Adams were the features for St. Helena. The St. Helena team will meet the Yountville team next Sunday, following which they will play the Healdsburg nine.

'Red' Wharburn Is Transferred to Ship

VALLEJO, July 31.—"Red" Warburton, naval hospital athlete and former hurler for the Mare Island Marines, left today to join the U. S. S. California. Warbuarton made a great impression in a recent game against the California nine at the navy yard and the officers of the ship lost no time in making a bid for his services.

SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION.

New Orleans 4-0, Nashville 3-2.
Atlanta 2-0, Chattanooga 3-2.
Mobile 2, Memphis 6.
Birmingham 1-6, Little Rock 6-9.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY LEAGUE.

Ottumwa 4-1, Waterloo 7-6.
Rock Island 5-6, Dubuque 3-8.
Cedar Rapids 2, Moline 1.

Harold (Rowdy) Elliott, former Oak and Portland catcher, returned to Oakland yesterday after spending six weeks in Atlanta where he was sent by the Toledo club. Rowdy did not like that part of the country so came to Oakland where he expects to see Bill Kenworthy and have a chat with him. Rowdy and Kenny are old pals and the chances are that they will get together and do something that will get the little catcher a better job Elliott could not get going with Toledo, and he was shipped to Atlanta. He looks in fine trim, and if some one of the fast semi-pro teams want a good catcher, Rowdy is ready to work.

George Boehler will do the chucking for the Oaks this afternoon and Walter Mails should start tomorrow.

Al. Maderas had a good time with the bat, yesterday, getting three hits for himself. His double to the left field fence was a hard hit ball that fooled Joe Kelley, but even had Joe played it properly he hardly could have caught it.

The error which Hal Rhyne made and which resulted in the San Franciscans blaming the Seal shortstop for the loss of the game, really did not have much to do with the defeat, as there is a question if Guisto would have been out at first if the throw was perfect All runs made off Shea in the inning were earned.

Andy Vargas, Oakland TRIBUNE league graduate with the Seals, looks like a much improved catcher over last year when he was with the transbay club and was farmed out. He made a nice peg in catching Adams trying to steal second in the first inning.

"Pop" Boyer, champion supporter of the Oaks, is in his glory these days, and yesterday he had a wonderful time kidding the San Francisco fans in the left field bleachers.

Maderas' failure to hit in the last four or five games at Salt Lake last week was on account of a dislocated thumb received when hit by a bad bounder. Al had been soaking the ball hard for the ten days previous to getting hurt. Looks like he is started again.

Willie Kamm seems to have come out of his batting slump which enveloped him to the extent that he benched himself recently. Yesterday he hit five safe ones out of a like number of attempts for the Chicago White Sox, and scampered to second on one of the blows. He was playing against the Boston Red Sox.

"Lefty" Didier, young pitcher who graduated from the Alameda sandlots and The Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter League, has been going fine for the Ottumwa club in the Mississippi Valley League and on the recommendation of Walter McCredie, formerly of the Portland Beavers, he has been signed by the Detroit Tigers. He will not report to that club until next spring, but the Tigers have ordered him to report to Birmingham on September 1.

Another Alameda boy, who is going great guns, is Charlie Hammond with the Peoria club in the Three I League. Howard Gregory took him for the Wichita club on the recommendation of Archie Nissen who used to run the Alameda All Stars. Gregory turned him loose after looking him over for awhile, and now Charlie is leading the Three I League in pitching. He has won eleven and lost but four games Deacon Van Buren scout for the Vernon Tigers, has recommended him to Bill Essick, and the chances are that he will be twirling in the Coast League next season.

Jack Fenton, a young first sacker who was with the Magnavox team in the local winter league and who was signed last spring by Howard Gregory of Wichita, is working out with the Oaks. Jack returned a few days ago from the Hastings club of the Tri-State League. The league recently disbanded. Fenton hit better than .300 and was leading first sacker in the league. Ivan Howard will look him over carefully.

Julis (Dutch) Kaiser, Oakland rookie hurler, returned to Oakland from Payette. The Idaho-Oregon League closed its season. Kaiser had much success with Payette and in the last game he beat Emmet, the club which won the pennant and did not lose a game in fourteen. Tuesday afternoon he went out to Richmond and twirled the Pullman team Stars to an 8 to 1 win over the Standard Oil All Stars. He fanned ten and allowed a few hits. Frank Schulte, Chick Autrey, Jack McNulty and "Skipper" Roberts, a dangerous quartette of former professional ballplayers, were playing and batted against Kaiser. The young Oak fanned five in a row.

Yankees Idle, Gain Ground In American

Washington's Victory Over Detroit Puts Senators Half Game Behind Tigers.

NEW YORK, July 31 (By The Associated Press). — Profiting by the operation of the balance of power principle, the Yankees today are stronger by a game and a half than their closest rivals in Ban Johnson's baseball league of nations. Through a policy of watchful waiting, to which they were forced to resort by rain while Washington was defeating Detroit, New York added half a cubit to its stature. By their victory, the Senators incidentally crept to within a half game of the Tigers.

Although Walter Johnson was knocked out in the second inning of the Washington-Detroit tilt, he was in the fray long enough to start his team on the road to a 7 to 4 win by cracking out a homer with Bluege on base.

Chicago made hay while the sun shone in the Windy City and the rain descended in St. Louis, by taking a 7 to 6 fall out of Boston, thereby reducing the Browns' lead in the fight for fourth place to two games and a half.

Galloway's error started a Cleveland rally which proved the undoing of Gray and the Athletics, the Indians ultimately winning by 5 to 4.

With their guardian angel still on the job, the Giants maintained their lead of seven games over the Cubs in spite of a six to three defeat at the hands of the Pirates, as Chicago also lost.

The Cubs' defeat was administered by Brooklyn in the form of a six to nothing shutout.

Boston was inconsiderate enough to take a new lease on life just as Cincinnati's drive to oust the Robins from fourth place was gathering momentum, throwing the Reds for a brace of losses, 3-0 and 6-3.

St. Louis dug in still deeper behind sixth place breastworks by handing the Phillies a 9 to 8 beating. Hornsby's fourteenth home run of the season and a triple play, in which the redoubtable Rogers also figured, featured the slambang affair.

Hunters Will Start Attack Tomorrow

Many Oaklanders Already on Hunting Grounds Awaiting Opening.

At the breaking of dawn tomorrow morning many hunting parties will be set for the opening of deer season in districts 2 and 3. In many cases the hunters had started out a day or two in advance, so as to be on the grounds when the fun started.

A score or more of Oakland nimrods left yesterday for hunting grounds in Mendocino, Santa Cruz and Sonoma counties and still others will try their luck in the country surrounding Livermore. The latter country, although rather strictly guarded by fire laws, is expected to yield a large quota. Last year, hunters found it to be one of the best localities in the central part of the state to shoot in.

The majority of the local shooters, however, have signified their intentions of setting out for the Mendocino county hills to try their luck. Since the quarantine rules for the hoof and mouth disease have kept tourists and campers out of Mendocino county for several months, the hunting conditions there should be as good if not better than any county in the state.

Among the Oakland hunters who have already departed for the hunting grounds in the three open districts are W. H. Dema, H. H. Ballard, F. Capdeville, J. B. Waterbury, F. F. Fuestine, E. W. Carter, Archie Wise, A. L. Fields, D. Dassa and W. McDonald. The ranges near Santa Cruz and Mendocino will be the objectives of the majority. Clair Lancaster and Dave Simon have received permission to shoot on one of the Livermore tracts which offered good sport last year and will leave soon to try for the two bucks allowed per person each season

District 2 includes counties from the southern boundary of Humboldt county to the bay and from the eastern extremities of Glenn, Colusa, Yolo and Solano counties to the ocean. District 3 extends south along the coast to the southern boundaries of Ventura county and is terminted on the east by a line extending through the center of San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Merced, Fresno, Kings and Kern county. The peninsula counties and Monterey are included in this district.

District 2½ includes those townships in Mendocino bordering on the Pacific ocean and townships 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 north, range 16 west, as shown on the official map of the California Fish and Game Commission.

Tommy Simpson, local boxing promoter, was among those to start out bright and early this morning, and Tommy promised to come back with a prize.

Martinez came out of its slump and defeated the Crockett team in a close 7 to 6 game. Lane hit a triple for his third hit of the day and scored the winning run when Daly hit his third single.

RAY PELKEY EARNS DECISION OVER RED UHLAN

WILLIE RITCHIE, JIMMY DUFFY, DAVE SHADE AND GENE CLINE WILL STAGE TOURNAMENT

LARRY MURPHY BEATS WILLIE O'BRIEN IN THE EVENING'S BEST BOUT

Sailor Smith Surprises By Taking Racehorse Roberts Into Camp; Johnny Farr Is Held Even by Jack Burns; Billy Wallace Wins Over Billy Young.

By BOB SHAND.

Ray Pelkey patted "Red" Uhlan in the pantry with great vim, gusto, abandon and a leather enclosed right hand at the Auditorium last night and the sorrel top weakened under the punching and dropped the decision. "Red didn't do so badly for three rounds, his awkward style puzzling the local entry but Pelkey got wise to the southpaw stuff in the last inning and shot sufficient rights and lefts to the kitchen and kidneys to win several fights. Licking this Uhlan boy is no easy task. He is about as hard to whip as Willie Meehan—used to be. A little four-rounder might get jerry to the Uhlan style after several battles but few lightheavies are going to beat him first time out.

Pelkey fought a typical Pelkyish battle. He was the aggressor in every round and despite the holding of his opponent he got in some stiff body punches. Red's sidewheeling motion caused many a well-meant wallop to die a-borning and he stopped others with his shoulders, but he could not avoid all the punches sent in his direction. Pelkey could not put up his best fight against Uhlan, but he is the same game, aggressive battler as of yore and with an orthodox boxer opposed to him will do better. Ray was handled by Kid ("Hats") Parker.

Jack Burns Puts Up Good Bout, Gets Draw.

Jack Burns is never going to get any medals for being a scientific boxer, but he swung enough punches last night to get a draw with Johnny Farr, which is quite a feat for the champion of Greece. Farr knows more about boxing in a minute than Jack will ever learn, but Burns is going to cop many a decision on his aggressiveness alone. He kept boring in and carrying the fight to his opponent last night until he had Farr bewildered at times. Johnny did much the cleaner punching, timing his blows well, but a punch on the nose is nothing in Burns' young life, for the harder he is hit the harder he fights back.

Sailor Al Smith, a colored middleweight, gave Racehorse Roberts and some of the cash customers a surprise by taking the verdict. There were those who thought the equine entry should have received a draw at least, but the judges were unanimous and that was that. Smith shot a short uppercut to Roberts' chin in the fourth round, dropping the Alameda boy momentarily. The writer cannot remember having seen Roberts knocked down before. Smith is a clever blocker and stopped a lot of punches with his shoulders and elbows, but the way the Racehorse was telegraphing his stuff last night it was not much of a trick to keep his gloves from doing damage. Roberts has put up much better fights here. Not only was his timing defective last night, but his long-range punches had nothing behind them.

Billy Young is game, but he will be making paper dolls if he doesn't learn to stop gloves with something else besides his chin. Billy Wallace bounced enough right hands off Billy's talking apparatus to stop half a dozen ordinary human beings, but Young simply grinned and got up for more. Wallace looks better every start. He hits snappily and he is acquiring a real punch. There never was much the matter with his boxing.

Murphy and O'Brien Put Up Best Bout.

Larry Murphy and Willie O'Brien put up the best bout of the night, with Murphy taking the decision. There wasn't much to choose between the pair in the first two rounds, but O'Brien carelessly landed a stiff right to the body in the beginning of the third and Murphy got sore enough to start a slugging bee that lasted practically throughout the round. Both slipped to the canvas in the first minute of the round, but O'Brien went down from a real punch just before the gong. Both were tired little four-rounders in the last inning, but Murphy had enough left to bring him under the wire a winner.

Ted Snider, introduced as Mike Collins, and Soldier Ramies were introduced as an added attraction. Snider felt he had enough early in the second round and gently laid himself down to sleep. Ted must have had a date or something. He wasn't hit hard enough to muss his hair.

Vic Morrison and Joe Kelley went four willing rounds to a draw. Referee Billy Brackett saved Al Robinson from a knockout when he pried Rudy Sandino off him in the first round.

Timekeeper Louie Bernsteam was on the job again with the old tin plate.

Jack Johnson Wants to Box For Simpson

JACK JOHNSON, former heavyweight champion of the world wants to box for Tommy Simpson but the desire is not at all mutual. Tommy got a keen laugh yesterday when he received a communication from Fred W. Burris, manager of the colored heavyweight asking if Johnson could be used here. Following is the letter:

Tommy Simpson,
Boxing Promoter,
Eagle Cafe,
Oakland, California.

Dear Sir:

As manager of the former heavyweight champion of the world, Jack Johnson, we have been showing as a headliner vaudeville bill. He is in the best of shape and is drawing big anywhere and everywhere.

I also have a crack white heavyweight, Sergeant Ralph Brooks; the New Orleans lightweight, Frankie Beal and others. Can furnish you boxers of any weight, white or colored.

Would you be interested in using Jack Johnson or any of the other boys? If so please communicate with me at your earliest opportunity and we will be glad to forward full details.

Very truly yours,
FRED W. BURRIS.

Leonard Bout Is Settled for N. Y. by Rickard

NEW YORK, July 31.—Rickard's decision yesterday to hold the welter weight title 15-round match between Mickey Walker and Benny Leonard in this city on the evening of Thursday, August 21, is considered a noteworthy victory for the New York state athletic commission in local boxing circles.

The commission had ruled that the bout, which was originally for the same date in Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, must take place in New York and must be for a decision if Walker fought Leonard before meeting Dave Shade.

Walker said he was perfectly satisfied with the new arrangement.

A clause in the new contracts stipulating that neither boxer shall engage in any other bout previous to August 21 will prevent the proposed battle between Leonard and Pal Moran at Cleveland on August 11.

Announcement from Rickard of the place of the Walker-Leonard fight is expected within the next few days.

GOLF

By W. D. McNICOLL.

Even golf professionals require vacations, and Bill Fries, who gives such efficient service at Claremont, will take a well-earned rest during the latter part of August and September when he proposes to compete in the Western Open Championship to be held at the Calumet Country Club at Homewood, Ill., September 4 to 6th.

Bill hopes to show that Claremont has a worthy successor to John Black, and may accomplish what the "Old Master" failed to do.

From Chicago, Fries will go to French Lick, Ind., where the professional golfers championship will be held, September 15 to 20th inclusive. At the latter event practically every professional of note will be present, and only super-golf, with breaks favorable, will enable the fortunate winner to emerge victorious.

Fries in evidently a glutton for golf and intends competing in an invitational tournament to be held at the Louisville Country Club, Ky., on Sunday, September 21st.

Returning to Claremont during the latter part of September, Bill will once more resume his routine of duties with renewed vigor.

L. M. McCrea and Bob MacDonald renewed their series of best ball matches with Dr. R. R. Aten and Mike Murra on Monday over the Olympic Clubs twin courses at Lakeside.

Playing the Ocean course in the morning round the match finished all even. Bob Macdonald, who learned his golf over the best seaside courses in Scotland, thinks the Ocean course at Lakeside will be almost equal to St. Andrews when the fairways and greens have time to develop. After lunch the Sequoyah foursome started over the Lake course and found it in many respects almost as severe a test of golf as the Ocean links.

The match here also finished even and par probably had the better of the encounter as none of the foursome had played the course before and found distance and direction difficult to gauge accurately.

Mike Murra almost reached the eighteenth green on the Lake course with a long brassie second which was played well to the left of the fairway.

Johnnie Carse, the caddy master at Sequoyah, has already received 88 entries for a caddies' tournament to be held at Sequoyah on Monday next in which the members have subscribed generously to a fund tor prizes. More than one hundred entries are expected before the event is finally staged.

Former Lightweight Champ Signs for Auditorium Bout

Promoter Simpson Signs Willie Ritchie to Meet Opponent Two Weeks From Next Wednesday.

A welterweight tournament featuring Willie Ritchie, ex-lightweight champion of the world, Dave Shade, Gene Cline and Jimmy Duffy, has been arranged by Promoter Tommy Simpson.

Simpson today signed Willie Ritchie to make his appearance in a bout at the Auditorium two weeks from next Wednesday night. His opponent is yet to be selected, but it will probably be Gene Cline. The winner of this bout will probably be matched with Dave Shade and the victor to meet Jimmy Dufff at the ball park on Labor Day.

Ritchie has been doing light training for some time and should be able to get in condition in two weeks. The former king of the lightweights thinks he can come back and show the younger generation how it is done and Simpson does not anticipate any trouble signing him.

Shade is in Los Angeles, where he recently dropped a decision to Colima. He announced that he did not intend boxing any welters while on the coast, but Simpson has already shown him where it will be to his advantage to get into the Oakland tournament.

Berkener, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-3, in the feature men's doubles match, and today were to meet Bob Allen and J. Donnell, Los Angeles players, in the race to the semi-finals in the men's doubles.

Strachan and Weiner, the champion's favorites, with a victory over A. Kimber and Art Wilcox, both of Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-2 to their credit yesterday, were to meet George Bell and B. Foust, Los Angeles, in the junior doubles.

Weiner also extended his play in the tournament by defeating Robert de Shields, Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-0, in the junior singles.

One St. Louis player, J. W. Singer, failed to arrive and lost by default to A. Blackstone in the junior singles, while R. W. Shereck, also of St. Louis, was defeated, 6-0, 6-0, in the junior singles by L. M. Bledsoe, Los Angeles.

Ellis Island Detains Tokyo Tennis Players

NEW YORK, July 31.—Two members of the Japanese Davis cup tennis team—Takeo Harada and Masanosuke Fukuda—who were detained by immigration officials at Ellis Island, upon their arrival from England Tuesday night on the Olympic, were paroled late yesterday by an order from the department of labor. It is alleged by immigration officials that Harada and Fukuda failed to have their passports vised by the American consul at Paris

A third member of the party, S Okamoto, was admitted. Fukuda and Harada, both of Tokyo, have resided in the United States for the past ten months but have just returned from a six months' voyage to England and France where they represented their island empire in the Olympic games.

When Commissioner of Immigration Henry H. Curran learned of their plight, he telephoned Washington and was ordered by the department of labor to parole the men pending a board of special inquiry to review their case.

The players are on their way to Montreal where they will play the Canadian Davis cup team in a second round American zone match.

Lake Chabot Golfers Plan Match Aug. 10

Two-Ball Foursome Over 18 Holes Arranged by Tournament Committee.

By W. D. McNICOLL.

The tournament committee of the Lake Chabot Golf club has arranged to hold a series of monthly tournament events at which it is hoped the members of the newest Eastbay club organization will have opportunities to get better acquainted with one another.

George Anderson and his energetic committee have decided to make the opening contest, which takes place a week from next Sunday, August 10, a regular two-ball foursome, one of the oldest and most sociable contests in golf.

The Scotch foursome, as it is now frequently designated to avoid confusion with the now popular four-ball contest that has captured the newer generation of golfers, is a match in which two players (partners) playing alternate strokes with one ball, endeavor to hole out in the fewest strokes at each hole or as is arranged in the Lake Chabot club's tournament, the fewest strokes over holes.

For example should D. J. Buffham and R. F. Hoffman, two of the club's best medal players, decide to team up in the opening contest, their combined handicaps of four and seven would entitle them to 50 per cent of their total handicap in medal play, approximately six strokes or in match play three-eighths of their combined total, four strokes.

From the first tee Buffham or Hoffman, as mutually agreed, will drive a ball (we will presume that Buffham drives and hits a beauty down the center of the fairway, Hoffman does not drive here but plays the second shot with the ball his partner has driven, and we will presume he drops it nicely on the first green.)

It is now Buffham's turn to play, and if he should hole out his putt a three is recorded ,but if he fails Hoffman putts and a four is recorded.

At the second hole, no matter which of the partners holed out last on the first green, the driving honor alternates and goes to Hoffman as Buffham drove from the first tee.

Hoffman's tee shot we will presume just fails to carry the second green and his partner chips on with his mashie and Hoffman is left with a four foot for par. If he misses and leaves his side another stroke to hole out his partner Buffham must play the stroke or they are penalized two strokes or lost hole in match play.

Playing with Buffham and Hoffman will be another team of two who will be competing under similar conditions.

Driving alternately from each tee and playing alternate strokes through the green and on the green until the ball is holed out.

This is still the premier four of contest in Scotland, although the four baller is also gradually making progress there also, and in the opinion of some, spoiling the finer features of the royal and ancient game of golf.

The Lake Chabot members are going to give the old fashioned foursome a thorough tryout under medal play conditions, but the regulation contest should be match play which, of course, is impossible to hold over a one-day event.

Warner Faces Huge Problem In First Year

Five Conference Games Represent Real Test; No High Schools on Frosh Schedule.

By DOUG MONTELL.

If it is destined to be a "Stanford year" in football, and such appears to be the opinion of many of the close followers of athletics between Stanford and California, it will come to pass only as the result of steady plugging by the Cardinal 'varsity and hard work on the part of Coach Glenn Warner and Captain Jim Lawson, for Stanford's 1924 football schedule is rated as one of the hardest of any Pacific Coast Conference eleven—one calculated to keep the Redshirts driving at a breakneck pace all season.

No one can accuse those who direct the athletic destinies of the Palo Alto institutions of drafting a "hand picked" schedule for Glenn Warner in his first year and the veteran coach will assume command with the knowledge that the schedule confronting his team is harder than average. All of which should make "Pop" feel right at home, for at Pittsburgh he has for years taken on all comers, one following on the heels of the other among the "big guns" of the East—and he has never sidestepped an opponent to make the going easier.

WILL MAKE STRONG BID.

Stanford will step forth prepared to make a bid for the Pacific Coast football championship facing a list of five Conference opponents with two other colleges and one club team on the list to make up eight straight weeks of the schedule without a breathing spell.

This is the stiffest Conference schedule of any team in the southern section, California and U. S. C. each meeting but four Conference opponents.

Stanford's departure from custom puts the Cardinal eleven on a par with the colleges of the northern section where Idaho tops the list with six Conference games, the hardest schedule on record, while Washington, Oregon, Washington State and the Oregon Aggies each meet five teams.

STARTS OCTOBER 4.

Football will start on the farm October 4 when Occidental College will invade Palo Alto for the initial tilt of the season for both teams.

The Olympic club is next in order October 11, after which the Cards plunge into the Conference season with Oregon coming to Stanford October 18, the first Conference game in this season.

The first of two road trips is to be made October 25 when Stanford meets Idaho at Portland.

A slight lull is provided the following Saturday when the Stanford team will meet Santa Clara.

Then will come the first big test in meeting U. S. C. at Los Angeles November 8, a game Stanford will concentrate on in an effort to wipe out the memory of the beating administered last year.

Montana, playing her first year of Conference football, will be the attraction at the Stanford stadium the week before the Stanford-California game with the Big Game set for the California Memorial Stadium November 22. Quite an undertaking on the part of the Cards and a real tribute to Warner's ability if he gets away with it undefeated.

TRY NEW SYSTEM.

The Stanford freshmen schedule, while not completed as yet, shows a departure from tradition in as much as there are no high school opponents listed for the Card yearlings, competition having thus far been chosen from the list of Junior Colleges and rival freshman elevens.

Graduate Manager Paul Davis is still seeking games for September 27 and October 11 with the other dates on the schedule filled as follows: Oct. 4, Modesto Jr. College; Oct. 18, Santa Clara freshmen; Oct. 25, U. S. C. freshmen; Nov. 1, San Mateo Jr. College; Nov. 8, California freshmen.

Coach "Husk" Hunt continues in charge of the Stanford freshman team this season with C. M. Sprague appointed as line coach to aid in training the first year team.

In announcing the appointment of Sprague, Graduate Manager Davis also announced that H. M. Davis would be an assistant coach on the staff of "Pop" Warner, to take charge of the "Grays."

The second Stanford freshman team will be given a schedule along with their first string playmates, four games having already been booker, as follows:

Oct. 4, Santa Rosa high school; Oct. 11, Potter high school; Oct. 18, Chico high school; Oct. 25, Alameda high school.

Fires Cause Pigeon Races to Be Halted

HAYWARD, July 31.—Definite decision to abandon pigeon races for the next three weeks or more, due to the state forest fires raging with subsequent loss of birds in the flames, was reached by members of the Hayward Homing Pigeon club today. Announcement to the effect was made by Joseph Vargas, secretary of the club.

It had been considered to hold Sunday unscheduled flights, preparatory to the opening of the last half of a summer racing program, but the loss of a quantity of high-priced birds last week resulted in complete abandonment on such plans.

If in the next three weeks the forest fires in the state are not completely subdued, the remainder of the race schedule will be postponed indefinitely.

Horse Races Not To Be Held at Tanforan Track

There will be no races at Tanforan this year. This announcement came from John D. Stelling, general manager of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club. Stelling denied that the discontinuing of the races was due to the suit brought against Marchbank by himself. The reason given for the abandoning of the Tanforan races was the death of two members of the racing board and the absence of another who is abroad.

Stelling also declared that the $100,000 slander suit that he is bringing against J. W. Marchbank is a personal matter and that it has in no way prompted the discontinuing of the Tanforan races. The suit was started after Marchbank accused him of handling bets on the races which were gathered by a man named Kyne.

The Tanforan manager denied that he had had anything to do with the betting and that when he first heard of the gambling, he ordered the police to clean out all of the book-makers. He also reported the matter to Rudolph Spreckels, who said that a cross-examination of Kyne would take place within the course of a few days. No action has been taken by Spreckels on the matter as yet.

New Racing Course Planned by Owners

HAYWARD, July 31.—Decision to adopt a northern flight route, replacing the eastern route formerly used, was reached at a meeting of the Hayward Homing Pigeon Club, held at the home of John Riggs, on D street. A racing schedule for young birds, to extend over four weeks, was decided on. Four races, ranging from 100 to 250 miles each, will be held, the first on Sunday, August 10.

The initial race will be from Marysville to Hayward, 100 miles, while the second will be from Garber to Hayward, 150 miles. The third and fourth races will be from Kennett and Edgewood, 200 and 250 miles, respectively.

Following the four races mentioned, a futurity flight will be held from Kennett to Hayward, 209 miles and including only those birds born in 1924.

POSSIBLE PRESIDENTIAL COMPLICATIONS.

The OAKLAND TRIBUNE was one of the first newspapers on the Pacific Coast to treat editorially the complication that may result in the Presidential election. It may not have seemed a very grave matter at the time, but from the persistent discussion it has evoked there is evidently a growing feeling that it is of much concern.

Briefly, the situation may be restated: To be elected President of the United States a candidate must receive a majority of all the electoral votes. If President Coolidge shall have the support of all who class as Republicans he will undoubtedly have that majority. If La Follette should carry an unexpectedly large number of states, and it should be close between the Republican and Democratic candidates, there would be no election. In the event of no election the selection of a President would devolve on the House of Representatives, voting by states on the three highest candidates, and the selection of Vice-President would go to the Senate between the two highest candidates. The present House cannot be figured to have a majority of states for any candidate, and there would be no choice. The Senate, by the vote of the insurgent group, could elect Charles W. Bryan Vice-President, when he would automatically become the President.

It is too early in the campaign to judge whether such a situation is likely, but its possibility should engage the serious consideration of thinking and well-meaning Americans. It has been said that nothing less is involved than the preservation of the national constitution. It has been demonstrated that the constitution is best operable under the two-party system. Unless another two-party system could be substituted, which has not been proposed, the remedy for governmental ills would appear to lie within the two leading parties.

The alternative and inevitable is a number of parties or blocs; but this is not a good time for such a change, if any time ever would be, and if such a change is desirable. World conditions are not sufficiently stable. The next four years are likely to be decisive ones in the history of this country and of the world. American leadership will call for qualities of the highest statesmanship and courage.

Given such a situation, and considering the personalities that would figure in the event of a national debacle in the Presidential election, there would seem to be no difficulty, on the part at least of all with Republican proclivities, as to their course of action. The qualities that would insure stability and progress are possessed by Calvin Coolidge immeasurably above any other who by any possibility can reach the Presidential chair. He has achieved that which many feared was not possible in one of his reserved temperament—stirred the imagination and enthusiasm of the people. In the very important qualities of judgment, character and courage he has become one of the most outstanding figures of the time.

HOW THE INCOME IS SPENT.

Statistics beget controversy. Ergo it is to be expected that the table arranged by the American Education Digest showing how we Americans spend our incomes will result in a veritable typhoon of argument, the tenor of which will be that we are journeying with high velocity to the inevitable bow-wows.

The table shows that we allot one-fourth of one per cent to the church; one and one-half to the schools, four and one-half to the government, eight and one-fourth to crime, eleven to investment, fourteen to waste, twenty-two to luxuries, twenty-four and one-half per cent to living expenses and thirteen and one-half per cent to miscellaneous.

At first glance it would seem that the church and the schools fare pretty badly at American hands; that almost as much is devoted to luxuries as to living expenses; that crime stands practically even with investment, and several other "thats" which will be obvious to the reader. As a matter of fact there is little complaint either from the church or the schools, and while we could easily afford to devote a larger percentage to education, we are still able to boast a system far in advance of sister nations, and productive of infinitely better results.

The crime item demands consideration, but apportionment for luxuries will come in for the greatest excoriation at the hands of the glooms, who fairly fletcherize such statistical reports. There is no gainsaying the fact that we might pare our crime allotment to the bone, but we Americans indulge ourselves in luxuries because are are primarily a luxury-loving people. We work hard, and it is expedient that we play hard, and the detailed tabulation will show that the luxuries represent, in the main, innocent pleasures and one that will not undermine us as a national group. At all events the tables are interesting.

A MILKMAIDS' TOURNAMENT.

A milkmaid's contest, open to high school girls throughout the Pacific West is to be held in conjunction with the Pacific Slope Dairy Show at Oakland, December 10 to 16 inclusive.

It is planned to have a local contest in each of the centers of Pacific Coast states where classes in agriculture are a part of the high school curriculum. Preliminary plans for the contest have been taken up with agricultural instructors attending summer session courses at the University Farm at Davis and at the University of California at Berkeley. Last year a milkmaids' contest for business and professional women was held, and it proved a very popular feature. The winner, who now holds the title of State Champion Milkmaid, was Miss Mary Vierira of Byron.

Directors of the Pacific Slope Dairy Show Association, who recently met at Salinas, prepared plans for greatly widening the scope of the Pacific Dairy Exposition. It was reported at this meeting that many new exhibitors have planned for space this year. Several of these are Eastern firms which have not heretofore participated in the Pacific Coast show, but have been prominent in national dairy expositions. It is expected that dairy products entries will come not only from all Western states, but from a number of Eastern states as well.

THE FALLACY OF CRIME.

Once again has society won its battle with an individual. Charles L. Baender, "cleverest crook," has been taken to Folsom penitentiary, secured by an Oregon boot, to serve a sentence of from one to fourteen years for having offered a forged deed for record two years ago.

Youthful criminals and those youngsters and oldsters who have dreams of exacting a living from society by devious methods can learn a lesson from the case of Baender, who discovered that his was a losing fight and surrendered to the authorities.

For almost twenty years Baender, a cultured man, a mathematical genius, has fought the world and society. In 1915 he was the possessor of three university degrees, the master of four university courses, an instructor in an Oakland college with a reputation for learning that was national.

A year later, convicted of stealing four automobile tires, he was serving a sentence in San Quentin. Since that time his excursions into the world of crime have included everything, from siphoning gasoline from automobile tanks to counterfeiting. Now he goes to Folsom, there to meditate on the fallacy of his reasoning.

Denver girls believe that when fashion, like pleasure, interferes with work, the only thing to do is to quit work. So Denver hospitals that spiritedly decried "bobbed" hair some time ago have rescinded the order, suggesting as a compromise that the nurses who flounced out of the wards when the "bob" was frowned upon encase their briefed locks in a net. "We found that if we were to care adequately for the sick the rule against bobbed hair must be abolished," explained the spokesman for the hospital superintendents.

Seventeen thousand persons were killed in automobile accidents in 1923, and there will be an increase this year. Figures compiled by the National Safety Council from estimates furnished by the health officers of 135 American cities whose populations are 25,000 and more indicate that there is immediate need for campaigns against reckless drivers of motor cars. Of the 17,000, 1300 couldn't wait the moment necessary for the passing of a train at grade crossings, and 5000 were children.

THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, discussing with frankness the "strategy" of the campaign of the Republican party in the contest for the presidency, gives the gratifying assurance that there will be nothing sectional in the campaign, but that it will be nationwide. He explains that the Republicans do not propose to seek support in one section of the country through concentrated and obvious effort and try to gain it in another section by silence and evasion of issues.

Chairman Butler points out that the economic or social distress of any part of the country is a matter of national concern to be dealt with as such, "and that," he adds, "is the principle upon which we will conduct our campaign"

This is high ground, and the Republican management is to be congratulated upon taking it. Carrying out such a program means avoidance of raising class issues; it means that no one section of the country is to be promised advantage over another if the Republican party remains in power, and no false promises are to be held out to sway any particular element of the electorate. It affords no material for the demagogue.—Baltimore Sun.

THE CONNING TOWER

DAY DREAMS.

I wander in Elysian fields
And you are by my side,
You, beloved,
Tall, slim, and strong,
Thriving on happiness and love,
As the slender young white birches
by the river
Bud greenly
With the coming of spring.
Your eyes,
Smiling down into mine,
Cause joy to burst forth,
Triumphant,
From some deep-hidden heart of my soul,
As the spring gushes forth,
Bubbling to the serene surface
Of some quiet woodland pool.
Your strong hand clasps mine,
Firmly,
You murmur sweet nothings to me,
Tenderly,
And I,
I can but offer you
One dainty wild flower,
And trust
That in its colorful delicacy
You
Will read the deepness of my love,
As we wander through Elysian fields.

But hark! What clamor so rudely interrupts
The sweetness of my Paradise?
What thundering noise
Drowns out your song of love?
Ah, beloved, how sweet the realm of fancy!
But—my rainbow bubble breaks—

The clamor
Is the hue and cry of a great city.
The thundering noise
Is the grinding of the brakes.
I tear
Thy enraptured gaze
From my hero's face,
Turn away from the Arrow Collar
Ad,
And,
Leaving my dreams behind me,
Rush across to the express platform,
For we Have reached Times Square.

The Cleveland Woman's Committee on Entertainment received universal commendation from men and women alike. Nothing was omitted which would add to the comfort of the visitors. Three of the best physicians of Cleveland were available at any time, also an equal number of dentists were ready to take care of any emergency for the delegates. President Harding's favorite dentist was in this group.

Robert Gilbert Welsh, dramatic critic for the Telegram and Evening Mail, was drowned at Bermuda last Wednesday. The least waspish of the reviewers, he was as gentle a soul as ever graced journalism. Of his poems his favorite, strangely enough, was "The Traveler," which follows:

What matter that his crippled feet
About his room scarce carry him.
His spirit finds adventure meet
In Foz, Fashoda, Suakim.

How can his world seem small and bare
When his brown eyes, so kind yet keen,
May welcome friends from here and there
And see in them what they have seen?

When summer seethes in his conconfines,
He dreams of woodlands cool and dim,
He strolls in Dante's haunts; the pines
Of San Vitalo sing to him.

And yet at times when hours creep
by,
Measured by couch and crutch and chair,
His cloistered body seems to cry
For the free world of Other-where.

Ah! some day, when he shall have drawn
The final ineffectual breath,
He will set out across the dawn
On that great journey men call Death.

THE NATIONAL PRESS

National Press: "The trouble with us Americans is that we run to excesses of vice or virtue with nothing between. At St Clairsville, O., the village divorcee has just been tarred and feathered by the Ku Klux Klan. At New Carlisle, Ind., on the other hand, the village model boy has been beaten up by a mob of his schoolmates. We confess a preference for the wicked kids of New Carlisle over the virtuous klan of St. Clairsville. Still, we think model boys should be let alone provided they are not too ostentatious about it."

New York Times: Senator La Follette and Mr. Wheeler have kindly taken charge of the Congressional elections. Progressivesim has two fundamental tenets. The first is to prevent, if possible, the election of a President by a majority of the electors. The second is to continue and, if possible, to increase the paralysis of Congress by the three-party and bloc system. Not to work for a legislative deadlock is to be 'reactionary.' So Messrs. La Follette and Wheeler, with the assistance of a Committee of Eleven, will pass upon all candidates for the House and Senate

Portland Oregonian: "Most Important of the changes to be effected by development of hydroelectric power and by its centralization through interconnection of systems may prove to be reversal of the tendency of population to concentrate in great cities. This may result from dispersion of industry among many small centers in contrast with their concentration in a few unwieldy cities."

Baltimore Sun: People love a landmark. Sometimes it may be a homely ruin, but people in their fancy will crown it with a wreath of romance even though the ivy will not take the thing in its embrace. Whenever a landmark is removed there are persons who sigh regretfully and often when a landmark is threatened with removal many old-timers, who have come to see beauty and significance in it which other persons do not see, call a meeting of protest and resolve not only that the woodman shall spare that tree, but that Progress shall not harm one gray stone thereof."

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for Leopold and Loeb, is quoted as saying that his clients are fatally handicapped by their wealth; if they were poor he is confident he could get them acquitted. This is a shocking statement. It is an indefensible indictment of the public. It impliedly charges that the public with demanding the lives of those two young men because of their parents' wealth. What a wretched perversion of the truth!"

Senatorial immunities and privileges protect many a blackguard utterance and action within the sacred walls of the Senate chamber at Washington, but they do not operate outside. The exhibition, therefore, of the expulsion of a member of the United States Senate—Robinson, of Arkansas—from a fashionable golf club at Washington because he carried into its precincts the manners and methods of the barroom, is a wholesome warning."

Medford Mail-Tribune: "A Wisconsin young man slew his Dad, and buried him in the hog pen, because the parent swore. Unlike Messrs. Loeb and Leopold of Chicago, this young man's endocrin gland is not twisted slightly to the left."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

Confirmation of the report that the California Wire and Cable Company had determined to locate a $1,000,000 plant at Pittsburg for the manufacture of wire and cable for electrical use was given Saturday by Otis Loveridge, Pittsburg banker and representative of the C. A. Hooper company interests. Officials of the company, according to Loveridge, have completed arrangements for the purchase of a tract of five acres.—Antioch Ledger.

Revelations about a fake cult leader in Los Angeles who preyed upon women and girls stresses the need of a thorough housecleaning as to these things. All frauds which, under the cloak of mysticism or any other deceptive method, endanger the virtue of women, should be broken up completely and banished from the state. It is regrettable that too many respectable women and girls are too easly deceived by arrant swindlers of this king.—Long Beach Press.

Oroville's auto park, closed recently by the Chamber of Commerce, was reopened yesterday (July 24) by the local Merchants' Association. No sooner had the gates of the park on the Feather river been opened than tourists flocked in to take advantage of the camping sites. Is this inhuman and cruel punishment? A Los Angeles youth convicted of speeding has been sentenced to read every newspaper in Los Angeles for six months. As if that might not be enough, he has been detailed to rewrite the traffic accident stories and submit them to the judge in his own handwriting. That may make him hate newspapers and "rehash" more than it will discourage speeding.—Stockton Record.

Numerically speaking, the name of Davis is said to be second only to that of Smith, in high official positions at Washington and throughout the government service in general. Even the Browns and Joneses, it is said, are in the rear. Yet one more Davis at Washington, after the 4th of March next, might make quite a difference in the state of affairs.—Sacramento Bee.

We regret that Senator Wheeler did not wait for the acceptance speech of Mr. Davis before deciding to become La Follette's second fiddle. He is an able and fearless man and if he were the head instead of the tail of the ticket it would command more respect.—Woodland Democrat.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

WHEN ALL IS WELL AT HOME.

I met a rich man by the way, a man with wealth to boast;
Said I to him: "Come tell me pray, what joy delights thee most?
What pleasure has this life to give,
what mirth or merriment
Best cheers the round of years you live and leaves your soul content?"
"What is it makes a happy man?"
"I'll tell as quickly as I can, 'tis something gold can't buy.

"When they are well at home," said he, "then I am full content;
When health upon their cheeks I see I'm rich in merriment;
When they can dance and they can sing and they can romp in play,
When I can hear their laughter ring, that is my happy day;
But when the fever burns their cheeks, and fitfully they sigh,
'Tis then through dreary days and weeks a downcast man am I.

"Though rich or poor, 'tis truth I tell, contentment none can know
Save 'neath the roof where he may dwell are eyes with love aglow;
The heart must join the lips that smile, the mind must be at ease,
Or pleasure has no charm worth while which mortal man can seize;
Whoe'er he be this truth he'll find wherever he may roam:
No man can come to peace of mind save all is well at home."

WHAT CO-EDUCATION DID.

Just as everybody was rejoicing that one man—John William Davis—had climbed to the dizzy height of national distinction without having been a newsboy, a farmer lad or the sole support of a widowed mother and seven other children, we are confronted with a story from Clarksburg, W. Va., that Davis has not led an ordinary, everyday boy's life. The story sets forth that Mr. Davis' boyhood chums remember that he was different from other boys. He was always afraid of the girls and fled from them in terror. In order to prove to him that girls were harmless things, his parents got special permission for him to attend a school exclusively for girls. From associating with them he acquired courage enough to accept the Democratic nomination for President in the recent extraordinary convention.—New York Evening Post.

UNREASONABLE ATTITUDE OF THE HETCH HETCHY LEAGUE.

Editor of The Tribune:

An organization styling itself the "East Bay Hetch Hetchy League" has seen fit to make a wholly unfair and unjustifiable attack upon the East Bay Municipal Utilities Board, charging its members, in effect, with duplicity and extravagance.

The advocates of the Hetch Hetchy plan are opposed to any investigations of a water supply for the Eastbay cities except such as have been made by San Francisco on the Hetch Hetchy project. Their effort is frankly political, for they announce that they are going to place a full ticket in the field that will be pledged from the start to the Hetch Hetchy project, and this without making any investigations whatever except such as have been made by San Francisco. In other words, they will be rubber stamps for San Francisco.

Objection has been made that the East Bay Utilities Board "has deliberately imposed impossible conditions in demanding unreasonable title guarantees, unwarranted and expensive changes in the accepted and approved plans for bringing in the project upon which San Francisco has already spent $45,000,000." Complaint is also made that large sums of the taxpayers' money are being expended in making useless investigations of the various sources of water supply—other than Hetch Hetchy—in the Sierras.

The Eastbay cities are confronted with a problem of the greatest magnitude. They must be sure of their ground as they go along, for when they expend millions in getting an adequate supply, they do not want to expend further millions in correcting mistakes in estimates.

The fact that San Francisco engineers have already investigated various projects and that that city has expended upward of $45,000,000 does not help the Eastbay cities very much, for San Francisco investigated only its own water supply and the conditions of its grant from the federal government will not admit of the inclusion of the Eastbay cities in the Hetch Hetchy system. Moreover, while the Hetch Hetchy supply may be adequate for San Francisco, it may fall short of being also sufficient for the Eastbay region with its rapidly increasing population.

The purpose of the questionnaire sent by the East Bay Utility board to the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco was to determine the facts in reference to those most vital matters. If San Francisco has title to enough water to supply not only itself but the Eastbay communities, why should the Supervisors of that city withhold its proof, and why should it be considered "unreasonable" to ask for data in reference to such title?

Judging from the protests from San Joaquin Valley farmers and irrigation districts on the Hetch Hetchy line, the city of San Francisco may have great difficulty in filling its own mains after it has built them, to say nothing of supplying other communities. It is probable, though, that San Francisco has fully satisfied itself on all these points. But the investigations carried on by San Francisco should not satisfy Oakland and the other cities of the Eastbay.

As to the expense of making these preliminary investigations, it goes without saying that the best system possible for the money should be selected and this selection cannot be made without some expense. In the matter of expending prospective millions, the people will not be niggardly about spending a few thousands in making surveys and needed investigations. Even San Francisco is beginning to learn that if she had spent a few more thousands in the inception of her project, the city would have saved several of the $45,000,000 it has already spent and, moreover, it would probably give the people of that city some idea—which they at present do not have—of the many millions more it is going to cost them.

As for the charge by Hetch Hetchy advocates that it is the purpose of the East Bay Utility Board to eventually select the privately owned Eel River supply," this sounds like mere political claptrap. If there is not water enough in any available publicly-owned system for the added demands that shall be made upon it, recourse must be had to some privately-owned system, and all such systems must be investigated.

I think the course of the East Bay Utility District is the only safe and justifiable one that can be followed in this most important enterprise, and that it would be a great mistake to displace the members of that board and the board's engineers with a group of men who have prejudged the whole case and who seek to make the matter of the water supply of great communities a matter of politics.

The citizens should encourage those who investigate before they decide what should be done where so much is at stake.

MIND TEST INSTEAD OF EXAM URGED

Substitution of Individual Intelligence Trials in Place of Class Exercises Planned by California Educators

BERKELEY, July 31.—Intelligence tests to take the place of examinations in schools and colleges of the state will be urged by educators of California, following the criticism of secondary schools offered by the committee of fifteen of the California State High School Teachers' association.

Organization of a new body to be known as the California Educational Personal Bureau, is being completed on the campus of the university by educators from all parts of the state. Acting on the criticism of the committee of fifteen tht children are being treated as "thhings" not "persons," this new body will urge upon educators at large the treatment of pupils as individuals rather than in classes.

RECORD FOLLOWS CHILD.

A series of intelligence tests is being devised aimed to follow the child from kindergarten through college. At the present time the knowledge of a child, it is declared, remains with the individual teacher and is lost as he passes from one grade to another. Under the proposed new system the child's record will accompany him as he progresses from one class to another in order that his weakness or strength may be known to teachers.

J. B. Lillard, president of the Sacramento Junior college, is temporarily chairman of the new body with F. L. Griffin, associate professor of agricultural education at the University of California as secretary.

Aiding the California committee in organization is Dr. Ben Wood, assistant to the dean of Columbia college of Columbia university and assistant professor of educational research at that institution. Intelligence tests are part of the entrance requirements at Columbia and other eastern universities and according to Dr. Wood they are the only "sound" basis for admission.

COMPARED TO HURDLES

"Children may be compared to a team of all weights and sizes taking hurdles," declared Chairman Lillard. "Some take the hurdles wit hease, some have difficulties and some don't make it at all. The hurdles are the same for all, irrespective of their individual strength. The same thhing applies to the public schools."

Among others active in the new organization are George Jensen, principal Eureka high school and Junior college, who was also a member of the committee of fifteen; and T. J. Terry, principal Jackson high school.

In the meantime educators and parents alike are engaged in general discussion of the radical recommendations offered in the report of the committee of fifteen in which present-day secondary schools are scored as a "failure."

Man Falls Off Wagon On Upturned Stake

ST. HELENA SANITARIUM, July 31.—Louis Lorlenzoli was brought to the St. Helena Sanitarium Tuesday evening for special medical attention by Dr. A. E. Roth of Calistoga. Lorenzoli was riding on a load of grape stakes and jumped off the load, and at the same time a grape stake fell off and Lorenzoli landed on the sharpened end of the stake, which penetrated the right thigh and abdomen. It was necessary to resort to surgery in orden to extricate some five inches of the stake which was embedded in the fleshy portion of the thigh.

Models Prettiest Summer Session Girl

SCULPTOR WILLIAM W. MANATT, working on bust of MISS MARGARET FALKENSTEIN, a University of California summer session art student. Manatt declares the Oakland girl to be the most beautiful girl on the campus.

ARTIST SELECTS OAKLAND GIRL AS CAMPUS BEAUTY

BERKELEY, July 31.—An Oakland girl can claim the honor of being selected as the prettiest girl in the University of California's summer session.

William W. Manatt, sculptor of international renown, directing art classes at the Berkeley session, selected her from all the feminine students on the campus as a model for a bust he is now completing.

The girl is Miss Margaret Falkenstein, Hopkins Art institute student, enrolled in one of Manatt's courses in modeling. Miss Falkenstein is a demi-blonde with sparkling blue eyes and vivacious manners. She has been proclaimed by Manatt as a "perfect" model. The completed bust will be exhibited by its creator. Miss Falkenstein is a member of a well-known Oakland family residing at 534 Kempton avenue.

Manatt has gained fame in Berkeley for his busts of President Emeritus Benjamin Ide Wheeler and Professor Charles Mills Gayley. The model of Dr. Wheeler occupied a place in the university library's rotunda for many months, while the bust of Professor Gayley attracted similar attention.

Manatt came to Berkeley with a reputation won in artistic circles of the east and Europe. He established a studio in a Dwight way windmill tankhouse, where celebrities set for him.

Oakland Students High in Spelling and Arithmetic

Children trained in the Oakland schools rank high in spelling and arithmetic attainments, when measured with children throughout the United States, according to a report compiled by the research bureau and issued through the office of the superintendent of schools.

The ranking of the Oakland schools is obtained by comparing the achievements of children in forty-four schools in Oakland with the average achievement of thousands of children in the same grades throughout the country. In spelling the Ayres Standard Test is used, and in arithmetic the Woody-McCall standard.

LEAD BY TWO POINTS

In spelling the Oakland children ranked two points above. This is very satisfactory to the school authorities, according to Superintendent Hunter, who points out that the motto of the schools for the past year in particular has been "thoroughness in fundamental subjects."

In the forty-four schools included in the tests, work was begun on the high third grade for arithmetic and run through the high eighth. In spelling the tests began in the low third grade and extended through the high eighth.

It was found that the highest attainment in spelling is achieved in the fifth and sixth grades. In the sevent grade the record drops close to standard, and in the eighth grade goes slightly below.

COMMENT OF EXPERT

Dr. Dickson of the research department commenting upon this, said: "It is possible that when the student approaches the upper grades of the junior high school he becomes absorbed in other activities and other studies which call for original work and planning in a greater degree than does spelling. Less drill is given in routine subjects at this time for the exact purpose of allowing the child's creative originality to develop."

In arithmetic the Oakland children keep above the average level all the way from the high third through the high eighth grade, doing especially good work in the high seventh and low eighth.

The research bureau announces: "The results in spelling and arithmetic showed the Oakland schools to be well above the required standard for schools throughout the United States in spelling and arithmetic. Tests will be given in other subjects during the coming semester."

AMERICA HELD IN HONOR BOUND TO AID WORLD PEACE

BERKELEY, July 31.—"America is in honor bound to do something for world peace, for it was on that basis that we entered the war and that we asked our soldiers to fight a war to end wars and to make the world safe for democracy," declared Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale in talking to 400 Berkeley business men at a recent luncheon of the service clubs of the college city.

That America has left a great monument after every war but the world struggle was Prof. Fisher's statement.

"After this last war, what have we to show?" he asked. "We have an infant League of Nations and a world court at The Hague, young, weak and gasping for breath but where is the United States in aiding these only monuments of the world war."

It's time for the United States to get into the main tent; it has been sitting in at the side shows long enough," declared the professor. "We've had a back door membership in the league for some time, but it is inevitable now that we shall join the world court as both political parties have endorsed such participation."

LEAGUE HAS STOPPED WARS

Prof. Fisher recited the accomplishments of the league; how that body has already prevented six wars and how, through the world court, it will prevent many more. Challenged by Herbert Jones, Berkeley merchant, as to the league's record in the Mussolini occupation of Corfu, Prof. Fisher declared that he was ready to admit that the league was not 100 per cent perfect. He declared that while the hands of the league were tied by Italy in this instance, that it was responsible for mobilizing public opinion with such effect that Mussolini withdrew from Corfu.

RUINED BY PAPER MONEY

"Germany is today more ruined by paper money than by the war or than it would have been had the allies marched on Berlin," said Prof. Fisher in discussing economic conditions as found in Germany after the war.

ENGLISH WORRIED OVER RISING PRICE OF BREAD SUPPLY

Farmer Is Rejoicing But the Wage-Earners Are Hit by Advance in Flour.

By PERCY M. SARL.

(Copyright, 1924, by United Press)

LONDON, July 31.—Sensational rises in the wheat market in the United States have been followed by equal increases in the price of wheat and flour in England.

Flour in English markets has jumped 10 shillings a sack since July 1 and a total of seventeen shillings since May, causing apprehension throughout the country.

The standard four-pound British loaf already increased from the old eight penny price will jump to 10 penny next Monday.

To the Eiglish farmer wheat growing is profitable for the first time since the war, but to the great majority of the population—the wage earners—the price of bread means only added strain on the family budget.

Spectacular advances in flour have caused consumers to start an agitation for resumption of war-time practice of government wheat buying, but the president of the board of trade, Sidney Webb (a post equivalent to the American secretary of commerce) denies a rumor that the government is planning to resume such buying.

BRITISH WORRIED.

There is no reason to believe a world grain shortage is in sight, Webb says, and moreover, it is impossible to forecast how long present high prices will be maintained. Harvesting of the 1924 crop in the northern hemisphere is not yet completed and final figures may cause a considerable change in the situation, he believes.

According to the latest report to the government board of trade, the situation is as follows:

"The factor most influencing the outlook at present is the uncertainty of the Canadian crop, to which may be attributed the recent rise in prices. This situation undoubtedly has been aided, as is usual in such circumstances, by market speculation.

"There seems no reason to believe at present that the world supply of wheat during the coming season will be under requirements. Although prices for a time may continue at higher levels than during the corresponding period last year, there is no justification now for suggesting a pending shortage or even a scarcity of wheat."

NO CORNER SOUGHT.

In the great world market at Liverpool there is a strong opinion that the present rise in wheat prices in the United States is not due to any attempt to corner world wheat supplies, as such a procedure would involve tremendous risk owing to the uncertainty of the Canadian yield and prospects for the coming crop in Australia and the Argentine.

The rise, in the opinion of Liverpool merchants, is due principally to the operation of "bull cliques" in Chicago. Although prices have advanced to a certain extent on all exchanges because of unfavorable crop reports from Canada and parts of the United States, it is believed there is a widespread tendency to follow Chicago's lead and attempt to frighten buyers into paying enhanced prices.

On the other hand, Liverpool admits the bull factions have some justification in the increased consumption of wheat in Japan and China. Japan is using twice the amount of wheat it did before the war and the Chinese also are forsaking rice to a considerable extent.

It is also admitted that the Russian supply cannot reach pre-war proportions for some years to come.

Liverpool believes, however, that present rises in the wheat market will stop when unexpected supplies become available or when Japan and China, disgusted by high prices, go back to rice, corn and other cereals.

TICKER AND TAPE

Fero-Managanese was quoted at $100 per ton seaboard duty paid, a drop of $5, equal to the lowest level of 1923.

Bankers and officials of several large corporations are understood to be planning conferences to float refunding issues because the bond market has reached such a high level, companies having bonds outstanding with high interest rates being chiefly affected.

The American Sugar company has sold its entire holdings of Great Western Sugar company common stock, which was shown in the last annual report to have been 105,984 shares, valued at about $9,300,000.

The half yearly report on E. I. du Pont de Nemours shows net income of $7,610,039, compared with $10,125,882 in the first six months of 1923. This is equal after debenture stock dividends to $5.84 a share on the common stock, against $8.54 a share a year ago. Profit and loss surplus was $53,398,414. Net sales of $47,761,249 were about $1,500,000 less than in the corresponding period of 1923.

President Haggin of Cerro de Pasco Copper company announces that the company's copper production at the Oroya smelter, in Peru, had been curtailed to about 50 per cent of normal as a result of the Peruvian government's order to abate the smoke and fumes from the smelter. Last year's copper production for Cerro de Pasco was 92,000,000 pounds of copper and 50,000,000 pounds for the first half of this year.

FINANCIAL NOTES

The South San Joaquin Irrigation District has awarded $350,000 of its 5½ per cent gold bonds to a syndicate composed of J. R. Mason & Co., William Cavalier & Co., Geary, Meiggs & Co., Bradford, Kimball & Co. and American Securities company. The bonds were issued to finance the cost of permanent cement lining of canals on the 71,000 acres of the district.

The income statements of the Western Pacific Railroad company for June and the half year ended June 30 show decreased net earnings and increased operating expenses. For June the net income from railway operations was $193,044 less than that of a year ago while for the six months it showed a decrease of $500,612 compared with that of the first half of last year.

E. H. Rollins & Sons offered today at 96½ and interest to yield 6⅜%, the new $1,000,000 First Mortgage 6% Sinking Fund bonds of the Union Terminal Cold Storage Company, Inc., which is engaged in business—principally the cold storage of perishable food—in Jersey City, N. J. These $1,000,000 bonds which represent the total first mortgage debt of the company and mature August 1, 1939, are secured by a lien on the company's property which has a present depreciated value of about $2,570,000. The main plant is situated in the heart of the Jersey City Railroad Terminal district close to the New Jersey entrance of the vehicular tunnel now under construction to New York City under the Hudson river. A semi-annual sinking fund is provided to retire approximately 50% of the first mortgage bonds before maturity.

E. H. Rollins & Sons and associates recently underwrote and distributed the first mortgage bond issue of the Merchants Ice and Cold Storage Company of San Francisco.

Financial Personals

Benjamin H. Dibblee and James Jenkins of E. H. Rollins and Sons have just returned to San Francisco after short absences. Dibblee, who is a vice-president of the firm and is manager of its San Francisco office, visited its Boston, New York and Chicago offices during his absence and also took a short trip to England. Jenkins, who is sales manager of the San Francisco office of this investment bondhouse, went to Chicago to attend the semi-annual meeting of the sales managers of the five larger offices of this organization.

Key Transit Securities Gaining; Rails, Industrials Keep Climbing; Oil Production Shows Increase; Effect on Trade of Cheap Money

By H. S. SCOTT.

Trading was less active on the San Francisco stock exchanges than for some days past. Key Transit prior preferred stock sold at 82, ex-dividend of $1.50 against 83 yesterday. The strength of the Key Transit securities has been steady since they were listed and all issues have been advancing slowly. The bonds have been in especial good demand an deven the second preferred stock has climbed to 33.

Spring Valley was among the strong utilities, its stock making a half point gain. Pacific Gas and Electric preferred sold ex-dividend at 90¼ and Los Angeles Gas preferred ex-dividend at 89, the transaction showing a half point gain for each for the day.

General Petroleum still maintained its lead among the oils and was bid up to 44. Honolulu gained 2½ points and sold at 2.20.

The sugars were inactive.

Speculative interest converged on the stock market today as the cotton markets exhibited reactionary tendencies and the grain markets were unsettled and laggard, though wheat and corn prices picked up in the afternoon. Professionals made some progress in forcing down the prices of active stocks, but for the most part the trend was sharply upward with steel and specialty stocks leading the way. Advancing today to above 07, U. S. Steel was a strong booster for the steel stocks in general, and prices of such independent steel stocks as Gulf States, Bethlehem and Republic mounted about a point n the average as buying demand became more prominent. The mid-week iron trade reviews were more favorable than any that have made their appearance since the first of June, present earnings of the independents, according to their official quarterly reports, are far below the rate of the United States Steel Corporation, but operations are expected to increase from now on.

Forward movements in the high grade rail stocks attracted attention in New York as Atlantic Coast Line, Nickel Plate, New York Central and Atchison sold in good volume at higher prices, Nickel Plate at 106¾ was in new high ground since 1910, and Atlantic Coast Line sold at the highest price in its history. Important conferences among trunk line rail interests were held in New York today with a view to forming an agreement on a plan of grouping to be recommended to the Interstate Commerce Commission in accordance with the transportation act.

This is all the more important, in view of the efforts of the Van Sweringens to consolidate some lines in a way not heretofore considered by the commerce commission.

The market was not lacking in spectacular features, these being supplied by American Can, General Electric and other stocks which are under the guidance of strong bullish pools. American Can sold above 126 today, for a rise of six points to the highest price in its history. General Electric pushed forward to 260 after an irregular opening. Famous Players at 87¼ was in new high ground for the year. United States Distributor was up two points to 27¼ and Davison Chemical added three points.

Motor shares rallied sharply following a favorable earnings report by Studebaker. Sales approximated 1,100,000 shares.

Bond prices again turned upward in early trading with an active demand for speculative rail issues, and various public utility and industrial liens. St. Paul issues rebounded a point or so, making up most of yesterday's loss, and New Haven, Interborough and other traction lines made similar gains. American Waterworks 5s jumped 2½ points as this company's common stock reached a new high level for the year.

The daily average oil production of the United States increased 10,200 barrels for the week ending July 26, according to figures made public today by the American Petroleum Institute. The aggregate for the week was 1,976,700 barrels. Daily production for fields east of the Rocky Mountains was 1,363,000, an increase of 8200 barrels; for California 624,200, an increase of 200 barrels.

Oklahoma shows a daily average production 485,950 barrels, increase of 5850; Kansas 79,700 barrels, decrease 50; North Texas 76,350, increase 500; Central Texas, 163,100, decrease 1850; North Louisiana 56,300, increase 300; Arkansas 149,400, increase 1850; Gulf Coast, 123,400, increase 2900; eastern, 107,500, decrease 500; Wyoming and Montana, 123,100, decrease of 800.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ending July 26 were 185,714 barrels, compared with 307,285 for the previous week. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf ports for the week ending July 26 were 40,286 barrels, compared with 180,286 for the previous week.

Mid-continent crude oil was reduced 15 cents to 25 cents and is now being quoted at $1.10 and $1.50 a barrel, according tothe gravity of the oil. There were no other changes reported for the major districts—Pennsylvania crude oil for Bradford district being quoted at $3.25 a barrel; all other grades $3; Gulf Coast grade "A" $1.50 a barrel; grade "B" $1.30, and California crude ranges from $1.00 to $1.40 a barrel, depending upon the gravity of the oil.

The Federal Reserve Board's wholesale trade index declined one per cent during June and was 11 per cent lower than a year ago. The reduction in sales between May and June, which was contrary to the usual seasonal trend, was due to the continued cold weather, to the hand-to-mouth buying of retailers, and the fact that there was one less working day in the month than in May. Sales of hardware, drugs, shoes, drygoods, clothing, furniture, stationery, agricultural implements and machine tools were smaller than in May, while sales of groceries, meat, automobile supplies, jewelry and diamonds showed small increases.

Comparison with trade a year ago indicates that sales of dry goods, shoes, hardware, women's clothing, stationery, electrical supplies, agricultural implements and machine tools were substantially reduced in volume, and trade in all other reporting lines except diamonds also showed a moderate curtailment. The smaller dollar volume of trade this June may be ascribed to the one less working day, the unfavorable weather, and the fact that commodity prices averaged 5 per cent lower than last year.

Merchandise stocks at wholesale warehouses declined during June in the four districts for which statistics are collected, but were in about the same volume as a year ago. Stocks of groceries and hardware were reduced during June in all reporting districts, while stocks of dry goods showed some accumulation. The most significant change from last year was a general reduction in volume of shoe stocks.

Collections were somewhat smaller in June than last year, but outstandings at the end of the month were less than a year ago.

Most of the railway traffic statements for June are out of the way, and in spite of the fact that as a whole they were decidedly less favorable than for the month a year ago, railway shares are holding the greater part of their recent gains.

United Cigar Stores and Lorillard are the most active in the tobacco group. The former rose to a new high yesterday on efforts of a speculative clique which holds that the value of United Cigar Stores leases and real estate justifies a higher price for the stock. Satisfactory earnings of the retail tobacco trade also were an influence. Lorillard strength was a repetition of what happened a while ago when buying occurred on the idea that, with earnings and dividends equalling those of Liggett & Myers, the stock should sell at least on a par with the latter.

The common stock of the New York, Chicago, and St. Louis Railway (Nickel Plate), following its upturn of the preceding day, went to a new high yesterday for the year above 103, despite the statement of George F. Baker, that he "knew nothing about the proposed consolidation" with the Erie and Pere Marquette. Baker expressed himself in favor of certain railroad consolidations because they would be 'beneficial to the country by cutting down the overhead."

Opinion is sharply divided as to whether government bonds are now at the peak. Everything depends upon how much more buying is to come from the banks, which with financial institutions are practically the only customers for Liberties at this level. The yield is no longer attractive to the individual investor.

Much discussion has been aroused over a probable action by directors of the Southern Pacific at their meeting scheduled for August 14 on the quarterly dividend declaration. Expectation of an increase in the annual rate of 7 per cent is heard in some quarters. Others take the view that such action may be deterred by the decline in earnings this year and issuance of a large block of stock to acquire the El Paso & Southwestern.

Do abnormally easy money conditions mean immediate business improvement? asks the Brookmire Forecaster. On the data of the past the answer is that sometimes they do and sometimes they do not. Neither does the reverse hold true, viz., that tight money conditions mean any immediate decline in activity. During the course of the last year we have had exceptionally easy money. In that period business has had a few months of expansion, but still more months of fairly rapid decline. During the early war years credit was in exceptional supply and business activity was continuously expanding. During 1918, 1919 and the early part of 1920 money became increasingly tighter, but except for the armistice dip, general activity was at an exceedingly high level and prices were rapidly rising.

Money conditions in their relation to the trend of activity and the course of prices would appear puzzling. Business started on the upgrade late in 1921 with money conditions favorable to that rise, but halted abruptly in the spring of 1923, with credit still relatively easy, relapsed in the summer and fall, had a brief revival in the winter and has been going down since the early months of the year at a time when the banking situation was growing continuously easier. We have at present the greatest supply in our history of funds which could be used to finance increased activity. What effect if any will they have?

If the business man who is reading this bulletin will answer the question, "Why aren't you using some of this cheap credit?" it is probable that an explanation of the present situation will be suggested. The answer will be fairly obvious. What good is cheap credit, if at the minimum price that costs of production and a very moderate profit will permit there is but the narrowest of markets for goods. Money out of which no profit can be made is dear at any price and will not be used. Easy money alone is not sufficient to bring about a business rise. It requires in addition an active demand at a level of prices above current production costs.

Grain Companies Merger Opposed

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 31.—The merger of several large grain companies effected at Chicago recently under the name of the Grain Marketing Company was condemned today by the directors of the Indiana Farm Bureau federatoin as "unsound," "illogical." In a resolution the directors of the Indiana federation expressed the belief that " the merger is an attempt to secure control of the cooperative grain marketing movement by the very interests which have bitterly opposed every consecutive effort in that direction by farmers."

Indiana farmers are urged not to subscribe for stock or other securities of the Grain Marketing Company.

CONSUMPTION OF ICE CREAM NOW 2.66 GAL. A HEAD

Catering to Appetite for Dainty Develops Into Great Industry.

By J. C. ROYLE.

(Copyright, 1924)

Special Correspondent of The OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Whatever American politics may come to her husband, American business owes a big debt to Dolly Madison. She made ice cream popular and fashionable in the United States and was the sponsor therefore, of a business which gives employment to thousands and consumes millions of tons of milk, sugar, ice, salt and fruit annually.

So far as the records can be traced, ice cream first was made by an English confectioner in London during the American revolution. It was first introduced to the United States by a Philadelphia caterer named Bosio in 1800, but never became really popular until Mrs. Madison, as mistress of the White House, had it served at dinners over which she presided in 1817.

Ever since that time consumption of this dainty has risen until now 2.66 gallons of ice cream are made annually for each inhabitant of the country. In 1923 294,900,000 gallons of ice cream were manufactured and while the number of ice cream cones has not been compiled by the government authorities, consumption is conservatively estimated by confectioners at over 300,000,000.

WHERE CREAM GOES.

There were 441,000,000 quarts of cream consumed and 176,400,000 pounds of butter fat. Six million pounds of gelatine were used and 205,800,000 pounds of sugar. These figures include only the consumption of materials by ice cream manufacturers. In addition, housewives froze a large amount, requiring approximately a proportionate purchase of materials. From a production of a gallon at a time, concocted in the cellar of the small shop run by Bosio opposite the Spread Eagle hotel in Philadelphia, the output of the city which saw the introduction of this article of almost universal diet has risen to 12,019,891 gallons a year.

While all the year round production in this country is fairly steady, the cold spring curtailed sales to some extent this year. The trade, however, has fully recovered with the advent of warm days and there is every reason to believe, confectioners say, that the annual output of 1924 will exceed that of last year.

SUGAR PRICES.

Forage crops which have experienced advances in price, may have some effect on the cost of materials, but these fluctuations in all probability will be neutralized by the stability of sugar prices. One of the most interesting features in the present sugar situation is a statement by the refiners who import their raw sugar from Cuba that the domestic beet sugars are responsible for the present low prices of this commodity. This has been the contention of the domestic producers all along.

The latter claim that the efforts of refiners to have the tariff on sugar reduced or removed was intended as a blow to the domestic industry and that if the beet sugar factories could be wiped out by the removal of the present tariff protection, the Cuban producers and Eastern refiners would be in a position to dictate the price of sugar at all times as they did in 1919 and again in 1923 at times when there was no domestic sugar on the market.

REFINERS STATEMENT.

A circular issued by the United States Sugar Association, composed of most of the large refiners, states that continued pressure from the duty free or domestic sugars have caused declines in raw sugar to 3¼ cents a pound, compared with 5½ cents a year ago. The statement goes on to speak of the "extent of the pressure" exerted by the domestic sugars "at the expense of the Cuban holders," and points out that the estimate of the domestic beet crop this year placed at 838,000 long tons means an increase of 49,000 long tons or six per cent as compared with 1923, while stocks in Cuba are 438,429 long tons in excess of those of last year, with returns still to come from two centrals which have not entirely completed grinding.

TURLOCK MELON SEASON WILL BE SHORT, FORECAST

Drought Effects Already Reported; Prices Advance at Shipping Points.

A short season for melons in the San Joaquin section was predicted by many produce men today. Buyers who have been in the Turlock region since the crop began to move say that the peak is already over for both cantaloupes and watermelons. One of the largest handlers of melons in the Eastbay said today that melons of all varieties would be very scarce by Aug. 31. The Persian crop, which has scarcely begun to move, he said, would be soon harvested.

"Drought is primarily the cause of short season forecast and aphis or insect attacks next," he said. "The melons are drying up. Though the growers have irrigated pretty plentifully, the truth is that they have not been able in many sections to meet the demand for moisture [illegible] dry winter. The result has been that the melons are beginning to show drough effects and they are not as insect resistant as they would be under more fortunate circumstances."

Watermelons took a sharp advance today. The quotations at Turlock went to $18 to $20 per ton, f. o. b., and wholesale prices here bounded from an average of $15 per ton to from $25 to $30 per ton.

Cantaloupes were also higher, $2.50 per standard crate and $1.00 per flat being prevailing prices.

The tomato and peach situation showed little change. Heavy incoming shipments of Elbertas and Crawfords served to keep the peach market from gaining stability. Early advances are expected by the produce men.

Apricots are getting scarcer daily. The season is nearly over and prices are high. Plums are still plentiful.

Seedless grapes are the chief clog on the market. The supply is far above the demand and prices are at the bottom. Malagas are a little better, selling at $1.25 and $1.50 per L. A. lug. A few red Malagas, the first of the season, came in from Fresno, consigned to Zerikotes and Company.

Carload melon arrivals today included a car of cantaloupes to C. W. Gallagher; a car of Casabas and a car of watermelons to Stamboules and Company, two cars of watermelons to Independent Melon company and one car to Turlock Produce company.

New House Opens on Commission Row

[illegible] joined commission house row in the persons of L. G. Larsen and R. E. Linquist, who will operate as fruit and produce distributors under the partnership name of Larsen & Linquist at 424 Second street. Both have been identified with the wholesale trade in the past and for some time have been in business for themselves in other locations. Linquist was for some time a member of the Eastbay staff of Swift & Company, the Chicago packers, while Larsen was formerly connected with the wholesale fruit and commission house of Cotella Brothers.

Veteran Manager for Swift to Take Rest

R. J. Hopkins, for the past three and a half years Eastbay manager for Swift & Company, Chicago packers, will retire tomorrow morning and be succeeded by E. K. Vance, at present assistant manager of the San Francisco offices of the corporation. Hopkins has been connected with Swift & Company for over 33 years. Before coming to Oakland he was manager of the San Francisco offices.

EASTERN MARKETS

NEW YORK, July 31.—The cotton market was irregular at the opening today with the first prices down 2 to 35 points.

Corn and oats rallied in sympathy with wheat, after having been weak at the start. Corn opening prices were unchanged to 1¼c lower, December 96¾ to 97½. Later the market showed fractional gains for most deliveries.

Oats started at ⅛c decline to 2⅝c advance, the latter for July, with September at 51½ to 52c. Soon the declines were more than wiped out.

A drop in hog values pulled down provisions.

CHICAGO, July 31.—Assertions that black rust in its final form has appeared in Canadian wheat fields had a decided bullish effect early today on the wheat market here. Ruptured prostules on the head stem of wheat plants were reported at Natinka, Pierson and Melotta in Southwest Manitoba. It was said that a week ago in the same district the rust was only moderately noticeable on the sheath, and that there was no visable sign of head stem infection. Largely as a result of these reports a new rush of wheat buying was witnessed here. Initial prices, which ranged from ¼c lower to ½c advance, with September 1.31⅝ to 1.32 and December 1.34⅞ to 1.35, were followed by upturns of more than 2c a bushel from low prices touched shortly after the opening.

CHICAGO, July 31.—Sentiment in the grain trade is undergoing a change. The prevailing feeling is best expressed by a statement made by a big local trader in which he says: "I look for a period of declining prices although I am still a bull. I may be influenced by the fact that I have disposed of all of my holdings. Still, I think it will be hard to attract new buying until the next government report which will be given out on August 7, is out of the way. The trade generally feel that this report will be a bearish one on wheat and it is because of this that I feel as I do."

"The grains have been going ahead so fast that some check had long been overdue. And while there is no change in the world statistical position there is a possibility that damage to the Canadian wheat fields may still prove to have been exaggerated. As for corn, there is yet plenty of time for improvement before frost. The losses in wheat were between two and three cents and those in corn only a little less. In both cases there was some subsequent recovery."

COMPROMISE DUE IN FISHERMEN'S STRIKE IN SOUTH

Canneries Offer $175 Per Ton; Return Is Up to Japanese Fishers.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., July 31.—Tuna fishermen of San Pedro and San Diego who recently suspended operations rather than sell their catches to canneries for $150 a ton, will be back at work within the week if a conference of 3000 American and Japanese fishermen from the two ports scheduled to open here this afternoon, looks favorably upon a compromise offer by cannery officials.

"We are going to offer the fishermen $175 a ton," said Bismarck Houssels, port superintendent of the Van Camp Sea Foods company, last night, "and I think they will accept. The trouble in the first place was caused by certain independent canneries attempting to buy fish for $150 a ton."

Prior to the tie-up the fishermen were getting $220 a ton.

Blue Funnel Ship Beats Japanese In Pacific Race

VICTORIA, B. C., July 31.—The Blue Funnel liner Philocetes won a trans-Pacific race from the steamship Arabia Maru when she docked here an hour and a half ahead of the Osaka Shoshen Kaisha liner after leaving Yokohama 22 hours later.

The Arabia Maru set a new trans-Pacific record for the O. S. K. line by averaging 14.5 knots against 14.2 made by the Arizona Maru. Captain S. Yamaga of the Arabia Maru attributed the fast time to the installation of oil burners in the vessel.

The Philocetes brought 2800 bales of silk, valued at $3,000,000 and 2000 tons of cargo for discharge at Seattle.

Delivery of Rock For Jetty Starts

COOS BAY, Ore., July 31.—The contractors who are to furnish the rock for two Coos Bay jetties last night delivered the first rock for the three-year job. The quarries will not be furnishing full supplies at first and two months will elapse before things are going full force, when 2000 yards a day must be placed to insure completion of the jetties within contract time.

The coast guard lighthouse tender Manzanita arrived in the harbor last night and is overhauling the navigation aids in the bay.

The steamer P. F. Warner went to sea with a lumber cargo for the Orient.

1924 PLANTATION CROP OF RUBBER 390,000 TONS

Needs of United States Estimated at About 318,000 Tons by Bank Experts.

It is estimated that the world's production of plantation rubber in 1924 will be 390,000 tons, and that the total production, including Brazilian and other native output, will be 421,000 tons, of which the United States will retain 315,000 tons. According to advices received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York from its English Information Service, the plantation production in 1923 amounted to 384,771 tons and the total world's production to 412,771 tons, of which the United States retained 300,361 tons and Great Britain 12,536 tons

The highest price of plantation rubber per pound in 1923 was 1s 6½d, and the lowest 1s 1¼d. To the end of April, 1924, the highest price has been 1s 2½d and the lowest price 0s 11½d.

The Stevenson Restriction Scheme which was put in force about eighteen months ago was intended to stabilize the price and production. This scheme is said to have been successful so far, but the rubber trade of Great Britain is discussing how it may be improved for the benefit of all parties concerned. Its chief defect is said to be its inflexibility. It is proposed to improve the scheme by the adoption of monthly decisions as to export allowances and the issue of monthly permits; also by reduction of 5% of the "Standard Production" for every penny or fraction of a penny under 1s 0d per pound. Another advantage of amending the scheme is said to be that an opportunity could be provided for participation by the Dutch. It is stated that both producers and consumers would benefit by this modification of the scheme, as the price and production would be much more readily stabilized owing to the absence of delay in either restricting production of rubber when it is not required or its ready release when it is wanted, resulting in a really stabilized market. The re-assessment of the Standard Production now being made will date from November 1, 1923 Shipments of plantation rubber to date show a decrease of 7217 tons and world shipments from producing countries a decrease of 6874 tons, as compared with the same period of 1923.

Sister Vessel Tows West Jena Into Portland

Ship Minus Propellor Will Go Onto Ways at Portland.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 31.—The disabled steamer West Jena, in tow of the West Niger, both Columbia-Pacific Shipping Company steamers, is scheduled to reach the mouth of the Columbia river at 8 a. m. today. They are en route from Dutch Harbor, where the West Jena was taken by the revenue cutter Haida after it had lost its propeller.

The South American east coast lumber market is showing renewed interest, according to W W. Bowling, local manager for Swayne & Hoyt, operators of a line of vessels between Pacific Coast ports and South America. The West Cactus, due at Portland, August 25, will take 1,500,000 feet of lumber on the Columbia river for Buenos Aires and other ports. It will also pick up some general freight.

The steamer Frank Lynch of the Swayne & Hoyt gulf service will arrive here Friday night with 500 tons of oyster shell and 141 tons of mixed freight. It will load lumber for Atlantic coast ports on the return trip.

The annual movement of toys from Germany to local merchants has started, according to George S. Bush & Co., local customs brokers. Many shipments are en route and others scheduled to start shortly. The motorship Loch Girl discharged a number of large packages at Portland this week. Toy tractors, mechanical steamboats and other mechanical toys were featured in the shipments.

Navy Chief Orders Menace Removal

Two bay rocks and the wreck of the old sailing ship May Flint have been ordered removed from the bay by Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur. The rocks lie between Mission Rock and Rincon point. The May Flint lies on the bottom of the bay in Man of War Row.

The ship was sunk in 1900 after she had collided with the battleship Iowa, which was at anchor. The May Flint, loaded with 5000 tons of coal, was coming down the bay under a heavy press of canvas. Opposite the cruiser the helmsman lost control and crashed into the side of the anchored war craft. The sailing ship keeled over and went to the bottom. For many years she has been more or less of a menace to the deep draft battleships and other craft entering the bay.

New Steamer to Go Into Mt. View Cargo Service

New Santa Clara Port Has Important Place in Fruit Shipping.

MOUNTAIN VIEW, July 31. — Deep-water transportation to this city is an accomplished fact, according to Manager O. E. South of the South Shore Port Co., which last year developed a deep water port here. The original steamer put in service between this city and San Francisco has been enlarged by the addition of 25 feet in the waist, giving the steamer a present capacity of about 180 tons.

A second steamer of 120 tons has been leased and is being kept in operation full time at present. The company is now planning to build a new 300-ton vessel, with twin motors, to take care of the increased freight traffic. Six motor trucks and five trailers furnish the feeder service from the port to Santa Clara valley points.

Much of the freighing at present consists of canned fruit being exported, delivered at shipside in San Francisco. More than 2000 cases of canned fruit destined for an English port was shipped last night, while some 35 tons of glazed tile machinery brought from Portland for the Peterson-Karschoke Brick Co. of San Jose comprised part of the return shipment.

Traffic Dept. Will Handle All Seattle Grain

Port Authorities Expect Big Output. Despite Crop Shortages.

SEATTLE, July 31.—All grain storage and handling over the port of Seattle properties in the future will be handled by the traffic department of the port, according to a resolution adopted today by the port commission. This returns the handling of grain to the status prior to the entering into of an agreement with a private corporation two years ago. The agreement expired this season. W. S. Cahill, traffic manager for the commission, declared today that an equal amount of grain handled over the port properties during the past several years was anticipated this year in spite of reported crop shortages in eastern Washington and Oregon.

She will finish tonight The steamer Dorothy Luckenbach shifted from Portland and after taking on 4000 cases of canned salmon as well as 400 tons of Oriental wool, sailed for the Atlantic coast via Seattle.

Commission May Handle Port Dock

BELLINGHAM, July 31.—The city council took a step toward turning the municipal dock over to the port commission when it authorized the finance committee to confer with the port commission concerning the transfer today. A committee of large shippers out of Bellingham suggested the change and expressed the belief that operation of the dock by the port commission together with certain improvements would mean increased business going through the dock.

NEW RECORD FOR INTERCOASTAL TRIP IS HUNG UP

Walter Luckenbach, the Largest U. S. Freighter, Hangs Up Mark.

The intercoastal steamship record has been smashed by the freighter Walter Luckenbach, largest freight carrier flying the American flag, which arrived in Oakland with cargo yesterday. The big boat was twenty and a half days logging off the run from New York. According to the company officials this is the fastest time that any cargo steamer has ever made for the run.

The Walter Luckenbach is in command of Captain Johnson. He left New York at 9 p. m. July 9. He lined in alongside the Howard Terminal wharf at 7 o'clock yesterday.

The freighter had aboard a large consignment of general freight which was put ashore for local merchants and businessmen. From Oakland the steamer headed north to Puget Sound to commence collecting a return cargo for the Atlantic seacoast ports. A stop will be made at Oakland on the trip back of the ship in order to pick up a quantity of canned goods for eastern delivery.

In order to permit the speeding up of the lines operations the Luckenbach company recently changed the running time from the east coast ports cutting off, time fromt he Atlantic end.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY
by Ad Schuster

CAVAII

SUDDENLY the world had been made over for Jasper Playne. He did not have to go to work. There was no one to order him about, no worry to make the pay check last to the end of the week and, greater than all, no reason why he should stick around in a city full of noise and jazz when the whole world was inviting.

Jasper looked out of the window and his gaze fell upon the house of Phoebe Tuttle. Phoebe was a fixture, rooted to the city with love and loyalty. She would not go with him seeking adventure and if she would, he could not see her picking her way primly through the wild places which called to him.

Before he had been left this money Jasper had worked with one ambition and that was an increase in salary large enough to warrant his proposing to Phoebe. He smiled now at the thought that this staid and uneventful existence could have been an ideal. There was only one question and that was where to go.

Jasper picked up a book and turned the pages. "Cavaii," he read, "is the last primitive island of Polynesia."

For the rest of the day Cavaii and Polynesia sang in Jasper's head drowning out the hated noise of a neighbor's piano and a radio which seemed adept at picking jazz from a peaceful atmosphere.

"I'll be away from it all. I'll go where they don't have telephones, or radio, or saxophones, or street cars," and as Jasper added to the list his joy increased.

"I only wish that Phoebe really understood me and could go along."

So Jasper left He made the trip across the continent, saw the sights of a coast city while he waited for the ship to sail and, at last, was a passenger on a sailing vessel bound for Polynesia.

When he was homesick, or thought of Phoebe, Jasper remembered Cavaii which was the last primitive place of the alluring Polynesia and smiled. It was simply wonderful, he told himself, how the wild life held him. Then he remembered the years of routine, years spent in boarding houses cooped up and stifled.

"I was meant to be an explorer," he decided, "and to think how narrowly I escaped getting married and settling down on State street."

At last the ship dropped anchor in a bay out of picture-bookland. It was evening and the sun was setting behind trees which shoved spreading, fanlike foliage into an orange sky. As the small boat took them to shore he could see natives moving about. From the distance he heard the beating of a drum.

"The tom-tom," exclaimed Jasper in ecstasy. "The tom-tom beating for the dance!"

Everything he had read, from Herman Melville up to O'Brien, ran through Jasper's head. He wondered if beautiful girls would welcome him, if an old chief wearing a plug hat would waddle down to greet the boat. When he stepped on the shore and his feet felt the sand he was one of the happiest men in the world. His dream was about to come true.

The girls weren't there. Doubtless they were over by the tom-tom. Bewildered, Jasper looked around for there was no one in sight. Following the sailors he took a path which led to the center of the village and here his heart expanded. The whole tribe, men, women, and children were squatted on the ground. It was evident a big meeting, a pow-wow of some kind was on. He would see dancing and hear music, here in the last primitive island of Polynesia.

Silently Jasper waited for the festival to begin. Then from the doorway of the central structure came a whirring, grinding sound, which softened into a man's droning voice.

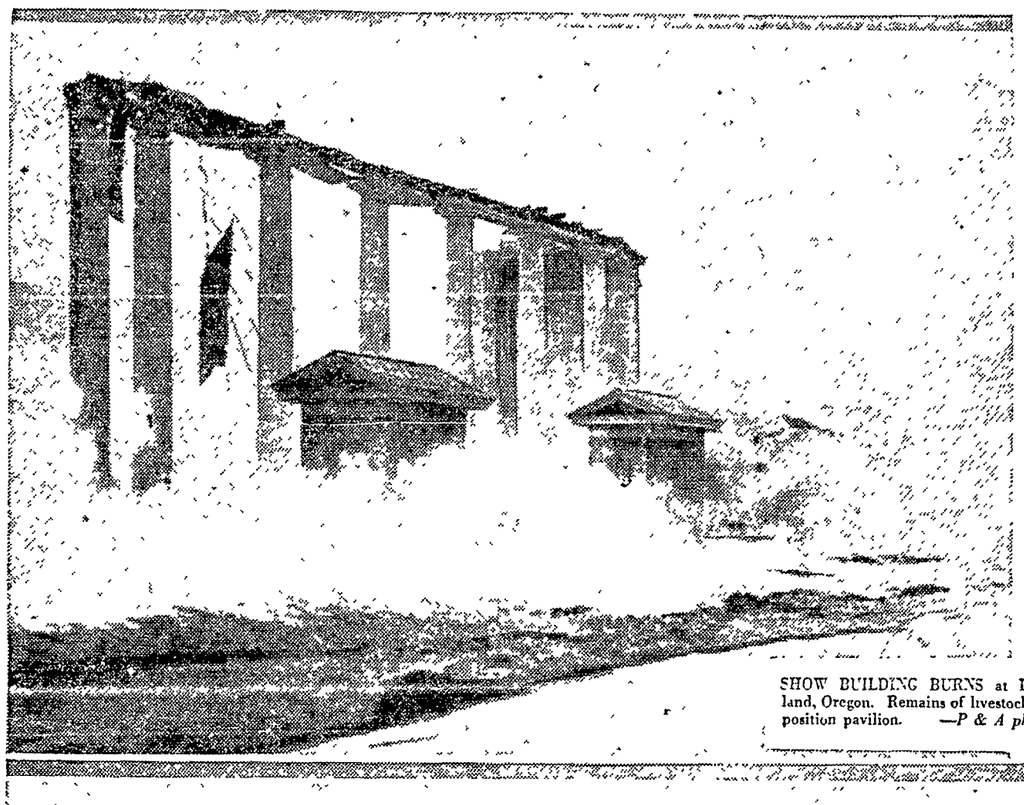

"This is Station KLX," it said, Oakland, California, and the next selection will be . . ."

Jasper Playne turned to face the ocean over which the stars glowed like burning brands.

"Phoebe," he murmured with a catch in his voice, "Phoebe, I'm coming back!"

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE
by Adele Garrison

TENACITY.

I FOLLOWED Katie out of the library quietly, but my heart was pounding with excitement at the summons. A stranger in the kitchen meant nothing at any ordinary time, but this afternoon—I caught my breath as I came within vision of the opened kitchen door, and saw standing by the table the flat-footed man whom Lillian had labeled as a detective when we saw him entering the postoffice.

"Here's the missus," Jim said, as I came in the door and looked with inquiry, which I tried to make casual, at the intruder.

He swept off his hat hastily and clumsily. "Good afternoon," he said. "I've just bought in with a little express business in the village, and I'm around trying to drum up a little trade. If you expect to have any moving, or trunks, or baggage, any time, I'm sure you'll find my prices very reasonable."

He had lost no time in beginning to trace the movements of the orphaned Harrison children, whom their father's family were so anxious to secure. That was my first apprehensive though, followed quickly, however, by a more reassuring one. The man was altogether too clumsy in his sleuthing. I felt that I could outwit him myself, even if Lillian were not close at hand, royal aid in any emergency.

"What business did you buy?" I asked as if interested. "Hall's?"

"No, that isn't the name." He fumbled in his memory. "Jim Jones , that's it."

I choked a laugh back with difficulty. The thing was too absurd. "Smiling Jim Jones" was the town's laughing stock, a poor-half-wit, with an old emaciated horse and a small wagon, who picked up an occasional odd job despised by the two up-to-date motor expresses which the village boasted.

"That ought to be very nice for Mr. Jones," I went on, with a sympathetic note in my voice. "I am afraid he doesn't get very many jobs—his outfit——"

"Oh! I'm going to change all that," he interpolated hastily. "I've a motor truck of my own, and I'm having it driven down here. You'll see we'll be just as up-to-date as any of the others—more so. I hope you'll give us a trial, Mrs. Harri—Mrs. Graham."

I pretended not to notice the slip but from beneath my half-lowered lashes—a trick Lillian taught me long ago—I saw his quick, furtive, apprehensive glance at me. The misplaced name drove home the last nail in my suspicion. He was a detective set by the family of William Harrison upon the trail of his children and his subconsciousness had been so full of the name that it had swum into his conscious utterance before he could repress it.

"Oh, yes, indeed, I'll send for you if we ever need anything in your line," I assured him largely. "I should like very much to help poor old Mr. Jones in any way I could. I do not know, however, when we shall have any expressing to do, not for weeks anyway. You see, the only traveling we do is when my husband and I go back and forth to the city, and then we only have light luggage, which goes in our own car."

He moistened his lips slyly with his tongue, but I saw him do it, and was prepared for the next question.

"But," he stammered—"I understood—someone told me—you see. I've been trying to pick up trade around for several days, and one person sends me to another—that you had a lot of people here on a visit, children and grown-ups, and they would be going away soon. I though — perhaps — children take so much baggage—you know."

It was most clumsily done, but underneath the man's awkwardness I recognized a tenacity which made me uneasy. I looked more closely at him and saw beneath the lips, which were babbling so aimlessly, a bulldog jaw which looked as if it would never let go anything upon which it once had clamped.

WORRY AS A HANDICAP IN THE HARD BATTLE

RISK OF GIVING ADVICE AS TO BOBBED HAIR

CHANCE TO FIND CHUMS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Here's an S. O. S. from a disheartened climber up the great greased pole of life.

If I were he I'd be delighted at my progress. He hasn't slid back an inch. That's something.—All I can see that's hindering his speed is the big, black bugaboo he's carrying on his back.

Nobody climbs as fast, of course, when carrying a weight; and this bugaboo, whose unchristian name is Worry, is one of the heaviest creatures that ever clung to the back of a climber.

Friend Jerry:

It seems to me that most people that write to you are affected with love trouble. But my case is not in that line, Jerry, but here's hoping you can help me out with a little advice.

First of all, Jerry, I am going to tell you a little about myself. I am only 22 years old, but I believe I've had more experience with the world and its ways than most people cram into themselves in a lifetime. I was only 14 years old when I heard adventure's call. Outside of three years in Uncle Sam's army, I've spent the rest of my life behind the gambling tables in Old Mexico. I played clean, Jerry, as far as the word clean can go in a gambling game. Maybe I'd still be behind the table. God! sometimes I can hardly resist the temptation to go back.

I had a pal, a kid I'd soldiered with in the army. I've never loved a woman (outside of my mother), but I loved that pal of mine, Jerry, and I know that the feeling was mutual. The last time I saw him was in a border town just across the river from El Paso, Tex. The town goes by the name of Jaurez. I left him there to take a trip up here to see my folks. After I got here I had an accident and I could not write to him for about three months. When I did write he had left there, address unknown.

After about six months of advertising in newspapers and magazines and by radio, I located him in the navy. When he wrote he told me that he thought that I had forgotten all about him when I did not write.

When I answered his letter I received a letter from the government (navigation department), telling me he had died and where he was buried. I also received a message he had written on the back of an old envelope which said: "Start all over again, Tommy, and play the game clean and straight and with God's will I'll meet you on the other side."

Jerry, that message has got me worried. I've never gone to church much, and I guess I have done more harm than good in this world. I want to start all over again, but there's something wrong somewhere. It's eight months ago since I received that letter or message. Since then I've tried to be good.

I've gone out of my way to help people. I've gone to church a few times, prayed a little, but just the same, Jerry, there's something missing somewhere. It just seems as if I lack confidence in myself. Every night when I go to bed it seems as if I can hear a voice inside my head saying, "Start over again, play it fair and square." I am sure trying, but it doesn't seem as if I am making any progress.

Maybe, Jerry, you can tell me what's wrong, because I guess you have gone to church a lot more than I have.

Anyway, Jerry, I thank you for reading this. It has helped some for me just to tell you this.

Well, Jerry, I'll close now wishing you adios and good luck. I'll just sign TWO-SPOT.

No, Tommy Two-Spot, you'll never go back to the life you've left with Buddie's message ringing in your ears and the brave, clean start you've made. For if you tried it, it wouldn't have the lure it used to have.

I'm afraid you're trying to imagine mountains in your road just for the sake of climbing over them. Why worry? You've made a good beginning; you're proffering help where help is needed; you're seeking, and he who seeks light is likely to find it if he doesn't fret too much in the search.

Yes, I've gone to churches and to many other places in quest for inspiration. Sometimes I've found it in full measure, and other times I've come away with disappointment as my reward. And why? Because I've sometimes gone with empty hands folded idly in my lap—expecting all the peace and goodness, the happiness and inspiration I would ever know to be lurking in the corner of my pew, or playing peek-a-boo with me over the altar rail. And because one may wander all over the earth in a restless search for peace and return only to find it in his own heart.

MANNER AND MANNERS

Young people with a good manner find the way prepared for them. Life moves with a certain delightful smoothness and people say that these fortunate ones have charm. "Charm," says Barrie, "is somthing that if you have it nothing else matters and if you haven't it, well, nothing else matters, either." But how does one get charm and how does one bestow it upon those who have it not?

I don't quite know. Perhaps charm is something that the fairy godmother gives her favorites and none else need wish for, but I'm inclined to the belief that charm and manner have something in common and if you have a feeling for charm—that is, if you would really like to have people like you—you can manage to get enough of it to carry you through.

But it doesn't come in chunks like ambergris. Nothing like that. I don't know how it comes but I've seen it grow through a course of good maners. I've seen snubby-nosed freckled-faced boys take on the manner of Chesterfield after a thorough grounding in good manners.

You see charm and its first cousin, good-breeding, are a realization of the simple truth that there are many other people in the world beside ourselves, and that they like the same things we like and want the same things we want, at the very same time. By thinking of the others first, and trying to make them happy before ourselves, we come pretty close to the secret of charm.

Nothing so softens and enriches a person's manner as this unselfish sense of obligation to others. The quality of strength that self-denial infuses into our souls shines through our faces and our hands and our feet, and makes them gracious, lovely and charming. That's all.

You have to begin when you are little and practice the first exercises which are called manners. They are just exercises for the great movement which is to follow—the song of your spirit—but they must be faithfully studied and practiced or there will be no technique for the masterpiece. Here are a few simple ones for beginners:

Keep still when someone else wants to talk and hear their story through. Save your own story until you are asked for it.

Sit still and stand still and when you walk, carry your head on the top of your very straight spine easily. Nobody likes to be in the room with a child who cannot control his arms and legs.

Sit down only when you are sure all your elders have seats. If an elderly persons enters the room where you are sitting rise quietly and remain standing until he is seated.

Ask permission before handling anything that belongs to someone else whether that person is older or younger than yourself. Keep your hands to yourself strictly.

Thank anyone who does something for you even though it is but answering your question. Write the thanks when you cannot speak them.

I'll give you some more advanced ones another time. Prictice on these for a while until you begin to see how smooth they make everyday living and how happy they make you and other folk.

Goodness Not to Be Measured by Length of Hair

I've been asked to do everything under the sun but the following—persuade a mother to have her hair cut. I refuse to interfere with any woman's locks. They're hers.

How can you judge goodness or badness by the length of a girl's hair any more than by a man's whiskers?

Dear Jerry:

I have been a reader of your page for some time, but not being able to find enough satisfaction out of the people who wrote on the bobbed hair I have decided to write.

In the first place, what do you think of it? Do you think girls are considered flappers if their hair is cut? Is it appropriate for women to have their hair cut? I can't see any harm in it and would like to know if there is any.

Another thing, don't you think that in a short time it will look funny to see a woman or girl with long hair? I have my hair cut and I find it exceptionally comfortable. I'm trying to persuade mother to have hers cut. It is very long and beautiful, but is such a nuisance to do up. It gives her terrible headaches, too.

The only reason she gives for not cutting it is that she'd feel out of place with it cut. She doesn't look old and she isn't old, and I think it is woman's place to make the best of herself, don't you?

Please see if you can help me to persuade her, will you, Jerry? I'm sure your answer will decide the question.

Thanking you for your kindness, I remain. BOBBY.

There is no greater cross section of life than the public schools. Rich and poor, brilliant or "slow," they attend the free schools of America. If youngsters can't find chums in this group, which covers such a variety of humans, I can't help them. It would seem that there must be something wrong with the child who goes through all the grades of school lonely.

Dear Jerry:

I have intended to write to you for a long time, but I have put it off until just now.

My case is different from the others. I am looking for a chum. At this point you will tell me what you have told the others who have looked for pals—find someone in my own school. But, Jerry, I've looked and none of them are the kind of chums I would want. If they are, there is some barrier. Maybe by writing through your column it will be broken down. I have plenty of real good friends, both girls and boys, but I want a chum. The following are some of the things about me:

I am about 5 feet 7 inches tall, have dark hair and, according to my friends, I am not bad-looking. I like dancing, hiking, swimming, boating and games like tennis and basketball. I like books, music, both classical and jazz. I am in the low tenth. I am interested in interior decorating, architecture and landscape gardening. I would prefer some boy with congenial tastes. I am also interested in drama. I would like a boy who, when we were together, would do us both good.

Thanking you, Jerry, and wishing you more success, I remain.

Your sincere admirer, JACQUES.

Girl Who May Be Congratulated On Her Mother

What do you think about this? Teddy has a mother who will be the envy of many a little girl reader. I wouldn't have as many letters if all mothers were like hers.

Dear Jerry:

I'm not writing to cry on your shoulder, but to say that I admire you very much.

Jerry, do some of the letters that come in get you disgusted? I read your column every night and, honestly, some of the letters make me so disgusted with the writers. The girls that are always talking about their love affairs get on my nerves. Of course, I have my love affairs, too, but when my heart breaks again and again, as it seems to, there's no one that knows anything about it but my mother.

I always get over such heartbreaks, though, in a couple of hours. Jerry, I have the most wonderful mother. I could tell anything to her. Maybe that is why I have such good times always. She trusts me all the time and, believe me, it means everything to me to have my mother trust me. I go out all the time with one fellow, or with a bunch of boys and girls. You see, Jerry, work just in the afternoon and evening, and then when we get through work we go out, but I always manage to get home before the sun begins to rise. Forgot to say that I'm 18 years old.

Well, Jerry, if this is too long stick it in the basket. Good luck to you and the gang.

TEDDY.

No, I don't get disgusted with letters, Teddy. If I felt that way, I would be disgusted with life, for that is what the notes are.

The letters that you disapprove of are probably the ones that are pitiful to me. When youngsters are "in love," boy crazy, heart-broken, I try to help. They haven't the sort of mother you have, and they need a boost.

No, I'm not disgusted with 'em.

Opportunity to Be of Aid to Worried Wife

Maybe there is a job for this worried wife in our Oakland town.

Dear Geraldine:

I have been reading your interesting corner in The TRIBUNE for a long time. I remember when you first began your corner and I've missed it only a few times. I turn to your page as soon as I get my hands on the paper, so you see I'm rather strong for your stuff.

I've never wept on your shoulder yet—that is I've never had to, but now I am asking you for a little help through your page.

My husband has been out of work for a long time and all of a sudden his eyes have gone back on him. With one eye covered and dark glasses he can get around, but now he is unable to work, even if he COULD get a job. He is the sort that WORKS when he gets a position.

Now, I must have a position of some kind for myself, but everywhere I've asked it is the same old tune, "Don't need anyone."

I would love to learn a trade. I know a little of hairdressing and I love it. I wish I could get in a beauty shop, as I've had some experience, but I am anxious to learn more and cannot afford to pay for a course. I can attend to a doctor's telephone and can type some. A job like that would be appreciated.

I am 26, light brown hair and healthy, but am worried almost sick, now. I will thank you if you will print this and maybe some will have a job for me soon.

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

Turning Infernal Fires Loose

There is a saying—and one more or less justified by the trend of affairs in our nation—to the effect that these days, the ambition of the average man who was raised on a farm is to leave the country and go to live in the city in order to save up enough money to be able to leave the city and go to live in the country. Here is a story about a youth who did not wait until he was grown.

As a youth he quit the ancestral acres and hiked for the metropolis. After various ups and downs, he prospered. Before so very long he held a responsible position and had a home of his own. After considerable persuasion he induced his aged father to pay him a visit. The old gentleman had a distrust for cities and for city ways. He was wedded to the soil and all his life had been faithful to the union.

Eventually, though, he steamed into New York, was met and greeted by his boy, and escorted to the latter's bachelor apartment.

The son thought the occasion called for a special celebration. He burrowed in his treasured pre-war stock and produced a quart of one of the most precious vintages of France.

"What's that?" inquired the old man as his son began the operation leading to the removal of the stopper.

"That's champagne, dad," said the son.

"Well, I don't mind a nip of hard cider once't in awhile ez you know," said the visitor; "but I ain't so sho e about that there stuff. Lemme have a look at her fust."

He took the bottle in his horny hands and subjected the cork to a close scrutiny. Then, as he handed it back, he shook his aged head and said:

"No, son, I reckon not. If it takes five wires to hold it in now, what's it goin' to do when it starts runnin' wild inside of me?"

CLARICE PATTERNS

A Frock in An Hour! (No. 2035)

One doesn't mind sewing even on the hottest day, if a pretty new frock can be run up in an hour. That's why you're going to like No. 2035. It cuts, as you will see by glancing at the accompanying diagram, entirely in one piece. Pleats are laid at the sides of the skirt both for beauty and comfort, for while the dress preserves so cleverly the perfectly straight silhouette, the pleats give ample width to the otherwise narrow skirt.

Voile, georgette, silk crepe, gingham and dotted Swiss are suggested from which to make your material selection. The pattern for No. 2035 can be had in sizes 16 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards 36 or 40-inch material. Price 15c, in stamps or coin.

How to Obtain Clarice Patterns

Write your name and address plainly, including city, giving the number and size of such patterns as you want. Uncle Wiggily Stories by HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S FORGET.

One day, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping past the eleven and twelve cent store, Mr. Cheese, the little mouse gentleman who wrapped up groceries and other things behind the counter, crept to the door and called:

"Uncle Wiggily, I wish you'd come in here just a moment."

"What's the matter?" asked the bunny gentleman, who was hopping along to seek an adventure. "Are there a lot of ant ladies in your sugar, or are Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow playing tag behind the molasses barrel?"

"Neither one!" laughed Mr. Cheese, the mouse gentleman grocer. "But Baby Bunty is in here and she has her forget with her."

Was it sugar? asked Mr. Cheese.

"Her what?" cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise.

"Her FORGET!" chuckled Mr. Cheese. "She says her memory is the thing she forgets with. Mrs. Wibblewobble, the lady duck, sent Baby Bunty to the store to get something, but instead of getting it Bunty is forgetting it. She can't remember what it was Mrs. Wibblewobble sent her for. I thought perhaps you could help."

"I'll try," offered Uncle Wiggily. He found Baby Bunty, the cute little rabbit girl, sitting on the counter, looking sad.

"Can't you remember what Mrs. Wibblewobble told you to get, Bunty?" asked the bunny.

"No, Uncle Wiggily," replied Bunty, serious like, and sad. "I can't."

"Was it sugar?" asked Mr. Cheese.

"No," said Bunty, shaking her head. "If it had been sugar I would have thought of lollypops and then I would have remembered. It isn't sugar."

"Is it salt you want?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No," replied Bunty. "If it had been salt I would have thought of peanuts, and then I would have remembered."

"Was it butter?" asked the mouse gentleman.

"No," sighed Bunty. "If it had been butter I would have thought of bread and I would have remembered."

"Perhaps it is bread you should get, and you may have forgotten to remember butter," ventured Uncle Wiggily.

"No," said Bunty, with a long breath, "it wasn't either bread or butter." Just then, down the street, a hand organ monkey began playing "Hey diddle-diddle, the cat and the fiddle, the cow jumped over the moon. The little little dog laughed to see such sport and the dish ran away with the spoon."

"Oh, now I remember! Now I remember!" joyfully cried Baby Bunty. "Moon — spoon — spoon moon—that's it! Now I remember!"

"But I don't sell moons or spoons!" laughed Mr. Cheese.

"No, but when I think of moon I remember spoon. And when I think of a spoon I remember oatmeal, 'cause you eat oatmeal with a spoon!" laughed Baby Bunty. "That's what I want for Mrs. Wibblewobble—ten cents worth of oatmeal. Oh, now I remember! I'm so glad!"

"Well Well!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he twinkled his pink nose. "That's a queer way to remember oatmeal, to think of the dish jumping over the spoon. However, I'm glad you did remember, Bunty."

"So am I, said Mr. Cheese. Then he wrapped up the oatmeal for the little rabbit girl, who tripped home with Uncle Wiggily. And they both had a fine time, for Mr. Longears bought Bunty a gumdrop that was flavored with rose leaves.

And if the lollypop doesn't forget to take its stick along when it goes to the party which the rocking horse is going to give for the rag doll's sister, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the lemonade straws.

ALMOST A GONER.

As I was walking through the woods I suddenly heard a noise. I looked around and saw a bear. I started to run but only ran a little ways when I began going down. When I came to I found myself in a big pit and I heard a sniffing noise and I knew who it was. Pretty soon the bear caught sight of me and was climbing down after me, but just then I heard a bang and the bear dropped in front of me. Then a farmer came up to the pit and was very much surprised to see me. He threw down a rope and pulled me up, and after thanking him very much, I went home.

HOW THE MOUSE ESCAPED.
(Prize Winner)

Once upon a time there was a large white angora cat that lived with its Mistress in a large house. In the basement of this house lived a family of mice.

Tabby, the cat, decided one day, to rid the place of these pesky mice. He started down the back steps, he saw the mouse run across the yard. Now the cat was more afraid of the mouse than the mouse was afraid of the cat.

The cat was sneaking up on the mouse but it sensed that someone was near. As he glanced out of the corner of his eye he saw the cat. Then started a rough and tumble, the cat chased the mouse till he was panting. The cat sat down to rest by an old apple barrel and the mouse crept over and got into the barrel through a knot hole that was just big enough for him to squeeze through.

When he saw the cat leaving he crept out of the barrel, pulled the cat's tail and got back into the barrel. The cat turned in time to see the tail of the mouse go through the hole. He stuck his paw into the barrel but he could not reach the mouse. He tried several times but he did not succeed in reaching the mouse. Finally the mouse came out of the barrel, made believe that he didn't see the cat.

In the middle of the floor there was a hole which led to his apartments below and so he lay over them ready to drop through should his life be in danger. He had fooled many cats this way and had always succeeded in going through. In his thoughts of how he had fooled so many cats he swelled up with conceit. The cat had reached the mouse and before he knew it he was caught in the clutches of the cat.

The mouse was so frightened that he didn't know what to do. If he hadn't been so conceited and never would have happened. This was the first time that he had been caught.

Just as the cat was ready to break the mouse's back a flea bit him and as he turned to scratch it the mouse escaped through the hole.

A REDWOOD TREE
Prize Winner

To me:
There's nothing so wondrous to see
As a tall, full-grown redwood tree;
The red of its bark, its green in the blue.
Brings songs to the lark; to me and to you.

Its limbs, so mighty and so strong,
So big and graceful and so long;
It stands in cold and summers warm,
It stands undaunted through the storm.

These trees are California's pride,
There not alone, but side by side;
No other earthly place has these Tall fullgrown redwood trees.

The most deadly of its enemies
Is the fire that burns these beautiful trees;
So let's try not to build a fire
Where it can burn the tree we admire.

A TRIP TO SATURN
Prize Winner

CHAPTER I.

I and my pals, Bob and Jack, decided we wanted to take a trip to Saturn. We decided to build an aeroplane in the shape of a fish as that would have the least resistance to the air.

CHAPTER II.

Four months later our aeroplane was finished.

It was made of an alloy that had more strength than steel. It had folding wings so as to lessen the shock of landing and a four-bladed propeller. Inside there were eight compartments. In one was the engine room, another the rocket room, which was full of nitroglycerin, and the other six rooms we lived in and stored our provisions.

CHAPTER III.

We were scheduled to start our trip on the morning of May 1, 1920. We climbed aboard and Jack, who was to be the engineer, pulled the starting lever and away we sailed, or rather shot, for the speed was four hundred and forty-four thousand miles per hour.

We suddenly entered the beautiful rings which enveloped the planet Saturn.

We discovered that the rings were composed of a deadly gas.

We discovered after landing that the gas being so terrible had eaten into the steel binding enclosing the rudder.

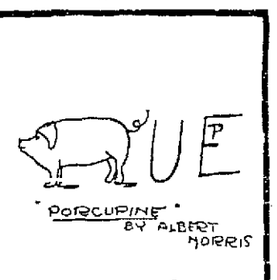

CHAPTER IV.

The day afterwards we discovered that we had landed at the mouth of a large cave. We entered the cave and walked mile after mile. After we had been in the cave for about three hours we saw a flickering light far ahead and heard some voices, which strangely enough, spoke English. They came from strange beings which looked like lions, monkeys and eagles combined. They were saying that tonight after earth down (which you must know is their sun), we will steal the tripot from the Lorendoes. The tripot seemed to be an ounce of the most precious metal on Saturn owned by the Lorendo tribe.

CHAPTER V.

That night at the time when the robbery was to be performed, we saw the two strange beings which were Clacks, steal the tripot. The Clacks ran as fast as they could but they could not escape Bob, who was a star right tackle on our home football team, and myself, who tripped the other one.

We searched them and took the tripod away from them and gave it to the Lorendoes, who soon came running up.

CHAPTER VI.

The Lorendoes were very grateful to use for having saved their tripod and gave us half of it.

They were also kind enough to give us a cargo of the highest explosive known. Its chemical name is NZ3T.

We did not stay to see what the Lorendoes did to the Clacks, but got ready to leave.

CHAPTER VII.

We started for the earth or home sweet home as we called it, the next morning.

We made the trip in a day. We sold the tripod for seven million dollars because it was so rare.

But this is all that I can tell you now as Aunt Elsie will be running out of space.

Peggy True...Her Story

CHAPTER 27

(All Rights Reserved)

But he moved! His drawn lips parted. He murmured something. He lived! Death had not yet won the race Should not win, now that I was there by my husband's side. Had I not defied war to take him from me? Had not my prayers been heard and answered then? Had I not brought back life to love when it lay beaten and dying? He was speaking, so low that I could not catch the words. I turned to the nurse, a young man with shiny, happy face. What right had any one to be smiling at such a time? Was every one in the world happy except I? What right had he to stand there like a grinning intruder during this sacred moment? If his presence was necessary why did he not attend my husband? It was a time for action. Death was beating his black wings against the door of the room.

"Do something," I commanded impatiently.

"He is comfortable now," he remarked quietly—then added, "but he had a very bad night."

"And he will live?" My own life seemed to hang on his answer.

"Of course. Why not? The crisis has passed."

Then I buried my face on the pillow beside David and sobbed.

He stirred again Reached for me,—found my wet cheek, his cold, damp hand rested on it heavily, like something of lead. He opened his eyes. Deep in their depth were the ravages of pain—but the fires that had long burned there had cooled.

"You here, Peg?" he murmured, low, tired like a weak, sick child.

"Yes, I am here with you, My David."

"You will stay?"

"Stay!" what a funny question. He should know that no power on earth could drive me from his side when he needed me. He smiled faintly at this. He did know. He should not have asked.

"But you were long in coming—"

"It was the train. It crept. It crawled. There were so many, many mail bags."

There was a long pause. I turned again to the nurse. Why DIDN'T he go? But there he stood as motionless as a statue—as authoritatively as a sentinel.

"I though that perhaps they had told you," David was saying again. "And you had turned from me—would not come——"

"I have been told nothing. There was only the telegram saying that you were dying."

"I guess I did almost last night." He shivered. The nurse stooped and drew the bed clothing up about him." I am glad that you were not here to see It must have been horrible"

"What is it?" I asked the nurse "Tuberculosis? Typhoid? Fever? He is so terribly wasted."

David answered.

"I want to be alone with my wife." He spoke fretfully—like a sick child asking for something it knows will not be given it.

The nurse moved away, toward the door, but did not pass through it. Just stood there beyond ear shot where he could watch our every move. He angered me. I resented his watchful, authoritative manner.

"Why do you not go?" I asked sharply.

He smiled. Glanced toward a window. Then I saw that it was barred! Merciful heavens, what did it mean? Was David a prisoner in this little white sanitarium hid away in the hills? Had he committed some crime that he should be brought here when illness overtook him?

I turned again to David to catch what he was saying. He was speaking in jerky, disjointed sentences, and I fancied, incoherently at times.

"Peg," he was saying, "Many times you have asked me why I wanted to divorce you and now I am going to tell you. No, honey, there was never any other woman in the accepted sense of the phrase. Your rival was something more powerful than a sordid love affair. And I was wedded to it. It was easier to divorce you than IT, this white mistress that had claimed me. So I was just going out of your life and down into oblivion on that world of white faced, living dead men, that little city of lost souls that you do not even know exists, and where you could not follow; I would not take you with me." He is delirious," I murmured, but touched his cold, damp hand murmuring, "Go on, my darling, tell me all—all."

"I wanted to make you hate me," he resumed. "I did not want you to live out your life in hopeless yearning for me—I just wanted to take myself out of your clean, beautiful life forever—efface myself from your thoughts and your memory, so I told you about the other woman——"

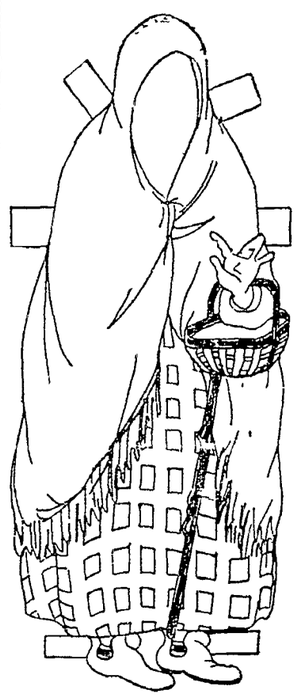

"And there was none?"

"Oh yes, a beautiful lady. I always called her the White Lady. She was cruel like Kipling's Vampire. She passes her deathlike hand across your cheek and the color is gone. She talks to you in low seductive tones, and your moral stamina is gone. She embraces you too often and your life is gone——" His eyes were bright with memories but he was trembling——

"Who is she?" I whispered fearfully, "the White Lady?"

"Yes, the White Lady."

Our Cheery Chum

Once more Betty and Billy Cut-out found themselves passing the mysterious looking cottage in which the cross old woman and the pale little girl lived. As they came near, the old woman was just going out of the house. She locked the gate carefully behind her and hobbled off toward town with her market basket.

Betty and Billy walked slowly past the place But as they came to the house the door opened and the little girl they had seen the day before came running out. At sight of Billy and Betty she stopped shyly. "Hello," said Betty in a friendly manner, and she and Billy stopped by the gate.

The little girl came up slowly, looking about as though she expected to see the old woman come pouncing on her any minute.

His manner changed. His eyes met mine—beseeching, seeking tolerance, sympathy, understanding. And I looked once more at the barred windows and the nurse on guard at the doors and a sick faintness stole over my body. I understood. Ah, dear God, how blind I had been My arms shot out over him, encircled him, drew the poor wasted body close. My hands trailed through his damp hair. I covered his lips with my own.

"Oh my poor David!" I sobbed, "You should have told me long, long ago. How much misery might have been spared us both—and now——"

He made an effort to sit up; taxed all his feeble strength in an effort to convince me that the fight was not lost, was just beginning.

"And now," he cried, "I am going to cheat the White Lady. With you at my side, Peg, what are her wiles? Here in this little haven of peace in the hills, I am going to win in the biggest fight I ever tackled—and how can I fail with you fighting the good fight with me? There will be terrible struggles at times. Oh, the White Lady does not relinquish her victims without struggle, but you are going to be big and patient and understanding, and we will win, eh?"

He turned to me with just a wee ghost of the old whimsical smile. It was such a pitiful caricature of the smile that once was, so pathetic, so half shamed, like that of a bad, lovable little boy.

"We will win, eh?" he repeated, hanging on my answer.

I took his poor wasted hand in mine, brushed it gently with my lips.

"We will win, my dear one," I whispered, "We WILL win."

CHRISTINE of the HUNGRY HEART

by KATHLEEN NORRIS

The story thus far:

Christine Knight, rich, young, beautiful, full of vitality and affection, finds, after a few years of marriage, that her husband, Stuart Knight, has tired of her. When he invites friends to dinner and then sends word he cannot come home that evening, Christine telephones her half-brother, Dan Madison, to take his place. Her friend, Ethel Moore, tries to draw her out about Stuart. But Christine will not talk about her troubles. Next her at a concert sets Dr. Alan Monteagle, who had operated on her father-in-law. They are immediaely interested in each other. Christian asks him to dinner. The friendship between Christine and Dr. Monteagle increases as the breach between her and her husband widens.

Magic

CHAPTER X

"I met Dr. Monteagle coming out of the Shoreham today," Christine said to Stuart as they dressed for dinner at his mother's house.

"Is that so?" Stuart responded indifferently. He had been on his good behavior for almost three weeks now, and the keen eyes of his wife began to notice that he was restless and nervous. A day or two ago the silence between them had been broken, or rather altered, into the admission of mere civilities. But there had been no cleansing reconciliation. "Like him?" Stuart added presently.

"Like—?"

"Monteagle."

"Oh, very much." Her face flamed and her heart swam with a dizzy sort of happiness. "He's a delightful man," Christine said, looking at her reflection in her mirror.

"They're all crazy about him in New York," Stuart said, Christine was glad—and then sorry. She didn't want other people to like him, for some obscure reason.

The dinner was a happy blur; all those recollections of hers, that carefully guarded stream of memories, were washed away now in this glorious new freshet. She had a flood of them—to last a long, long time.

And at nine o'clock—"The telephone, Mrs. Stuart," said old Minnie.

She knew who it was! Quietly she got to her feet, laid her crumpled napkin beside her plate. During the trip to the telephone she thought her heart would suffocate her.

"Hello—"

"Mrs Knight—this is Monteagle. I've forgotten the name of the book you mentioned today—"

"Oh, I'll send you the book itself, doctor! Where are you?"

"Just now? At the hospital. They're getting my man ready for me."

"And is he very sick?"

"Is he—? I think that is very charming of you—to care! Only, if you could see him, you mightn't waste that deliciously sympathetic tone on him. Yes, he's rather badly off. But it's going to be interesting—for me."

"I trust you'll never have to chop me up—in that impersonal sort of way!"

"I hope to God I never will, my dear. I doubt if I could! You mustn't strain friendship too far, you know! What are you doing?"

"We're having a family dinner—six of us."

"It doesn't sound exciting!"

Chrissie laughed in the gloom of the big, quiet hall.

"It isn't!"

"I telephoned your house, and they said you were dining with your husband's family. I wish I were there!"

"I'm glad you're not."

"But why?"

"Because I'm behaving so nicely!"

"But I haven't had any dinner," complained the doctor, "I have only a memory—of tea."

"Then I hope it's a nice memory!"

"Look here—I thought this wasn't in the contract!"

"Did we include telephone conversations, too? But go cut up your man," Chrissie interrupted herself hurriedly, "They're calling me. Good-night! You may telephone in the morning—you said?"

"May?"

"You mean you surely will?"

"Good God—"

Her laugher echoed through the instrument deliciously, she hung up, and sat thrilling and glowing for a moment, hating to take her exquisite mood into the commonplace dining-room atmosphere again.

When she went slowly in she could not, for all her effort, quite banish the magic from her looks "Ethel?" asked Stuart.

Christine nodded, slipping into her chair. Instantly she had beguiled her mother-in-law into a burning discussion of the moving of the Red Cross rooms. Stuart was not interested, but Cousin Tom and Aunt Mary, and the old Knights took it up with vigor.

Later there was bridge. Cousin Tom went to sleep in a chair; he was close upon ninety, and not concerned with cards. Chrissie looked through the new "Atlantic" and dreamed in her chair. The others shuffled, bid, doubled.

If she crept into the hall again no one would know. She could call the hospital, simply ask how Dr. Monteagle's patient was. Her senses were suddenly on fire—she wanted to do it—what harm?

However, she held herself rigidly in check. Anyway, he was to telephone in the morning—she would not die before the morning.

Ethel telephoned next day, at twenty minutes past nine. And the "Boston Store" telephoned to appraise her of a hat sale, at ten By this time she was shaking—she could hardly breathe.

Eleven. Oh, but she would be cool when this cavalier gentleman designed to speak to her! The telephone rang, she began to shake again.

He was just awake. Christine asked for his patient.

"Oh, he'll do," the doctor said. "He's had a hard fight, but he'll make it. I was with him until five, poor fellow!"

In a hospital room until five—and she had been wondering why he did not telephone! Christine felt ashamed, and happy again.

"Get my flowers?" the man asked.

"Oh, not yet—but I'm so glad they're coming!"

"I was wondering—I shall have to be here. Could you and your good husband dine with me tonight?"

"Why—I think we'd love it. Could I let you know later? I can telephone Stuart—"

"Of course. And could you—I'm going to the hospital now. Could you meet me, say at that little tea-room, at twelve, and we'll run into Baltimore for lunch. It's a God-given day."

It took her breath away.

"Just—just we two?"

"No, I thought I'd ask the House and the Senate"

Her laugh rippled out.

"There's a picture show there," the man said. "While you're telephoning your husband, you might say that I would like to take you to lunch, and to see the pict They're really unusual."

So presented, it sounded reasonable.

"I'll get hold of him," promised. And she turned the telephone with brain and and senses all whirling blindl

Stuart was not at the office Christine, making herself ra ingly pretty in a plain little c frock and a wide hat lined blue, reflected that she could phone again from the tea- She positively would not go if art knew nothing of it; not t was wrong, but the mere feeli doing something underhand her feel uncomfortable.

How to Write 'Local Lafs'

By the Local Laf Editor

One must have a very keen sense the ludicrous to make the following application of a colloquial pression to a subject so remotely associated with it:

She: The old cat had six lovely ittens, but we gave one away.

Her: It was too bad to break e set.

Or by connecting and contrasting o disassociated facts as follows

When little Helen was told that was electricity that made her other's hair crackle when it was ing combed, she remarked "My, e have a wonderful family amma has electricity on her head d grandma has gas on her stomch.

In reading a story we come upon e expression widow's weeds The average man passes it by, but the humorist is transfixed by the possibilities of a double meaning joke If he is an experienced wit he will remark to himself that widow's weeds are the only kind that do not grow in gardens Widow's weeds thrive best in death and not in life Yet they are easy to kill A man need only to say, "Wilt thou?" and they "wilt"

Figurative remarks are easy prey. Someone says to an author "That dress your wife has on is a poem" The author immediately conjures up the idea that it was considerably more than a poem to him and he says: "No, it's two poems and a short story"

We would suggest that the reder communicate with the Bolivian consulate in the Russ building, San Francisco for the above information.

CALIFORNIA AIDS NEVADA GET WATER

Old Litigation Forgotten in Emergency and Irrigationists Are Permitted to Pump From Lake Tahoe

SPECIAL BY WIRE TO THE TRIBUNE

TAHOE CITY, July 31.—Water to save Nevada crops and preserve the health of Reno residents will flow from Lake Tahoe into the Truckee river tomorrow.

Emergency conditions resulting from the lack of water for irrigation and sanitary purposes have brought about a temporary settlement of the many-sided controversy which has involved the Tahoe land owners, the Nevada farmers, the States of California and Nevada and the Federal government for many years.

Representatives of the United States government have procured contracts for the installation of an emergency pumping plant, and two of the four giant pumps which will send the water into Nevada from the California outlet of the lake will start work tomorrow.

Two months ago Truckee basin farmers appealed to Lake Tahoe land owners for permission to cut the rim of the interstate reservoir to obtain water to save their crops.

The United States Department of the Interior conducted negotiations between the farmers, land owners, power companies along the Truckee river, and the Bliss interests on Lake Tahoe.

According to the terms of the contracts, four 175 h. p. pumps are to be installed, and the first unit will be ready for operation tomorrow. Natural conditions at the outlet of the lake shall not be interfered with or changed by the pumping plant, and not more than 50,000 acre feet of water shall be drawn off, it is agreed.

Pumping will be continued until October 1 for irrigation purposes, or after that date if necessary for proper sanitary conditions in the cities along the Truckee river.

The Truckee land owners have entered into agreements with California and with the Bliss companies to the effect that all present legal rights shall remain unchanged.

Nance O'Neill Reaches Heights as 'Magdalene'

By WOOD SOANES.

Fully to appreciate the significance of what transpired at the Greek theater last night you who read this should first listen to a little tale.

In a cubby-hole office in the basement of the Columbia theater in San Francisco has sat for many years a chubby little man, a genial fellow who has had a vision.

Usually he is to be found heckled by actors making demands, for he is the house manager; pursued by seekers of advertising copy, for he is ex-officio press agent; and beleaguered by architects and contractors, for this is no Cinderella story and the person toward whom our attention is directed has plenty of the world's goods.

CHERISHES A DREAM.

But while he has been transacting his business he has been obsessed with a dream, a two-fold dream. He wanted to find time to pay his first visit to the mecca of theatricalism and he wanted to be the sponsor for a spectacle worthy of the history and atmosphere of the Greek theater on the campus of the University he had no chance to attend.

And so last night when some seven or eight thousand of us trekked up the glades to the famous theater to pay homage at the throne of an Oaklander, the distinguished Nance O'Neill, in Maeterlinck's glorious spectacle drama "Mary Magdalene," we unconsciously attended the ceremonies attendant upon the realization of a hope of Ralph Pincus, the chubby little man who had the dream.

For he had seen New York, imbued Miss O'Neill with a portion at least of his enthusiasm and arranged for the presentation of a series of productions that not only do him and her prime honor but add to the glory of a civic institution that has made the name of California and the university of the state famous wherever there are gathered artists and thinkers and common folk.

SELECTION IDEAL.

What determined Pincus to select the Maeterlinck masterpiece must be told some other time. Suffice it that the selection was ideal, the conditions equally so and the production one that will be remembered with pleasure and satisfaction for many a day by those who foregathered in multitudes last evening to witness the presentation.

From the moment that the classic stage and foreground was bathed in reflected light and that superbly directed mob came crashing across the vision of the spectators screaming in anguish "Where is He?" the success of the venture was assured. That alone was worth the admission price, that alone contained sufficient thrill to overcome any other short-coming.

But that was just the beginning. Directly the spectators were to have their senses treated to another vision, the arrival of the star garbed in raiment that fairly dazzled and in her rarest theatric form. Miss O'Neill has rewarded her admirers with many magnificent performances in her day but she had yet to reach the histrionic heights she achieved as the Magdalen.

MISTRESS OF EMOTION.

Her first act climax in which she forsakes her Roman friends to follow the Savior was outdistanced only by her second in which she chose to obey the Master's order issued through the recently dead lips of Lazarus, and this in turn lived only until she began her impassioned appeal for the life of the man she worshipped in a third act that simply overwhelmed with its emotional appeal.

She was the complete mistress of every situation, of every scene. Constantly she dominated the picture, continually the strength of her reading, the depth of her understanding made possible the physical and spiritual picture of the woman against whom no stone was thrown because no one was without sin. Too much cannot be said and yet words seem futile in an effort to express the emotional response.

It mattered little that her support came more from the admirably trained mobs than from the principals who should have aided her. Players of any degree of excellence would have seemed puny in the face of her emotional force. Even a more finished actor would have seemed inadequate perhaps as W. Yawson Butt, her leading man, but might have been more a master of the lines.

ANKRUM SHARES HONOR.

This inadequacy obtained with the single exception of Morris Ankrum. In the case of Ankrum he not only achieved a startling makeup as the corpse of Lazarus but at no time did he step out of the character. Next to Miss O'Neill, Ankrum is the one who will be remembered longest.

And of course Reginald Travers, who was responsible for the staging. Here was display of craftsmanship that does not deserve to go unmentioned. His manipulation of the mob was delightful, his color schemes, or those of Livingston Platt, were exquisite, and what his actors lacked in perfection of diction and accuracy of timing they overbalanced with groupings.

In support of the star was a big cast headed by Butt, Alfred Hickman and William E. Rainey and out of the assemblage, besides those heretofore mentioned, stood Rodney Hildebrand for his clear cut reading of Joseph of Arimathea. All in all it was an evening to be marked with a red letter in the date book of notable theatrical events.

WOMAN HURT SERIOUSLY IN AUTO CRASH

Man Held in Police Quiz of Accident Places the Blame on 'Hit and Run' Driver Who Fled, Leaving Victim

Struck by an automobile while crossing Telegraph avenue between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets Mrs. M. Davis, 1633 Sixty-fifth avenue, received serious injuries. She was taken to the Emergency hospital, where it was stated she had received a fractured skull, internal injuries and cuts and bruises. Mrs. Davis was removed this morning to the Berkeley general hospital. It is believed she will recover.

According to a statement made by the injured woman, who is the mother of Miss Evelyn Davis, matron of the Alameda County hospital, she believes she was struck by the car of Fred J. Alma, 1086 D street, Hayward. Alma claims, however, that Mrs. Davis was hit by a large touring car bound toward Berkeley that fled after hitting her. He says the other car knocked the woman to the car tracks and beneath his wheels, his car passing over her body after she had been knocked down.

Alma is being held for investigation by the Oakland police.

Autoists Kill 9 In Year, 888 Drivers Nabbed

BERKELEY, July 31.—Nine persons were killed in automobile accidents in Berkeley during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, against 15 of the year previous, according to the annual report of Acting Police Chief Clarence Lee, filed today.

In his report, Lee attacked citizens who are seeking changes in traffic laws and the traffic division, saying these changes were advocated purely for personal convenience and not for safety. During the year there were a total of 888 arrests in the city, 248 of these being for traffic violations.

The report lauded the work of Patrolman Frank Waterbury who has charge of the juvenile department, stating that 396 cases were handled by the officer during the period, 45 of which were girls.
